Congress Convenes in Session Important to Eisenhower Policy

Dewey Asks Social Program

Promises State Budget Balance, No Tax Boost

Also Asks Legislation to Prevent Lawmakers From Using Posts for Personal Gain

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gov. Dewey, whose administration has been struck by scandal, today demanded drastic legislation to prevent public officials and party officers from using their positions for personal gain.

The Governor in his annual message opening the 1954 Legislature called also for a broad social program running into hundreds of millions of dollars and indicated he would balance the budget without increasing taxes.

In pressing for early impositions of curbs on greedy politicians, the governor insisted that "the public is entitled to expect from its servants a set of standards far above the morals of the market place.

"The people," he said, expect not only "personal honesty but the absence of any reasonable suspicion of dishonesty or even impropriety." He declared it was an issue that transcended partisan politics.

Middle-of-Road Program

In an outline of a "middle-of-the-road" program that could be used in the gubernatorial campaign next fall, Dewey proposed:

1. A 350-million bond issue for expanding mental hospitals.

2. A huge bond issue for more low-rent public housing. The tentative figure is 265 million dollars.

3. A broadening of health services with special stress on aid to children.

4. A study of the state-aid-to-schools formula, with a view toward revamping it.

5. A code of fair play in state investigations in order to protect witnesses from being "smeared."

Thruway Extensions

6. A "sound and equitable" method of financing, at this session, of the four planned extensions of the state thruway, known as the Erie, Niagara, New England and Berkshire sections.

7. Full support of state development of hydro-electric power at Niagara Falls.

8. A uniform jury system, permanent personal registration on

Situation Chiefly One Of Politics

President Will Deliver State of Union Talk Thursday Before Joint Assemblage

Washington, Jan. 6 (AP)—Congress convened today for a momentous session which will write the record the Eisenhower Administration must lay, before the people next fall in the mid-term election.

Fresh from five months among the home folks, the legislators assembled in an atmosphere charged with politics.

There was a general sense that the accomplishments of the next six months will go far toward determining whether President Eisenhower will have his own Republican Party or the Democrats in control in the last two years of his term.

The GOP has command by only a razor edge in this make-or-break campaign year session. In the House, the count is 219 Republicans, 215 Democrats, 1 independent. A year ago it was 221 Republicans, 213 Democrats and 1 independent. The Democrats picked up their two seats in special elections in New Jersey and Wisconsin.

Senate Constituency

In the Senate, the division is 47 Republicans, 48 Democrats and 1 independent. Continued nominal GOP control hinges on the avowed willingness of the independent, Sen. Morse of Oregon, to vote with the Republicans on Senate organization and on the fact Republican Vice President Nixon can break a tie in favor of the GOP.

A year ago, the division was 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and 1 independent. The death of Republican leader Taft of Ohio and appointment of a Democrat, Thomas A. Burke, as his successor effected the change.

The two Houses, meeting at noon, scheduled only routine formalities, including the swearing in of six members to fill vacancies caused by deaths and resignations.

There was the possibility they would adjourn quickly out of respect to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, who died Sept. 8 when Congress was not in session.

The first session of this 83rd Congress adjourned the night of Aug. 3.

To Outline Program

Tomorrow President Eisenhower goes before a joint session with the State of the Union message outlining his 1954 program. Republicans predict he will emphasize that his administration is taking the initiative in far-flung activities for national security.

The President will be speaking to a closely divided Congress, in which Democrats have one more senator than the Republicans and only four fewer House members than the GOP.

Behind that mere numerical division lies a growing Democratic unity heightened by GOP attacks and the approach of the November congressional elections. Such unity could spell trouble for some Eisenhower domestic proposals but seems unlikely to produce any major challenge to his foreign policies, which may face more opposition within GOP ranks.

No Indication Produced

One Democratic senator, who didn't want to be quoted by name, said a White House briefing of congressional leaders yesterday produced no indication of any "fundamental change" in foreign policies.

Eisenhower was said to be preparing to pledge further strengthening of the free world's defenses, coupled with attempts to get Russia to agree to drop its aggressive tactics and to join in peaceful development of atomic energy.

On the home front, the President apparently intends to deal tomorrow only in broad objectives, getting down to cases later in messages on specific subjects.

In one of these, due Monday, congressional sources said the President will recommend a farm program combining flexible price supports with a move to freeze part of existing farm surpluses in a national defense stockpile.

Controversy Certain

Controversy is almost certain over a message on Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act changes, scheduled the same day.

Without revealing the nature of the program, Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) of the Senate Labor Committee said in an interview he expects the Presi-

Steel for Thruway Spans to Arrive

Work on Bridges to Go On During Winter—No Word on Routes

Steel for some of the New York State Thruway spans in Ulster county is expected to arrive this month, a state engineer said today.

Notice has been received that steel for the bridge over the Wallkill Valley railroad in the Whiteport area has been ordered and should arrive soon, and that for other spans in the area is expected to start coming along at about the same time or a short time later in the month.

Spans in the Hurley avenue and O. & W. railroad areas are ready for steel and the concrete work has been finished for some time for the bridging of the Esopus creek near Route 28. Concrete work has been progressing for the span which will bring Route 28 over the thruway just west of the city.

Steel work all along the route is expected to continue through the winter months, the engineer said.

Because they are expected to be presented formally here Jan. 15, state engineers, were unable to disclose details of the city's arterial route plan to connect with the expressway, but one source indicated last fall that the connecting spur would extend west of Broadway, probably somewhere near the intersection of Albany avenue.

All but $31,700 of Missing Cash Is Recovered in Search

Washington, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Secret Service today picked up a man they described as a fourth suspect in the $160,000 New Year's Eve theft of new $20 bills from the Bureau of Engraving.

The service earlier had reported recovery of all but $31,700 of the money.

Charles Howard Nelson, 27, was brought under custody to the field office of the Secret Service in the Treasury early today, the service said.

Questioning started immediately.

Other details were not immediately available.

The case broke open yesterday with the arrest of a bureau employe, his wife, and a soft-spoken little flagpole painter on a tip furnished — after all-night soul searching—by the father of the woman.

One After Other

The three were arrested one after the other in a day that began with a 5 a. m. phone call to Virginia state police by Irving Grant, father of Mrs. Mamie Landis, and ended with the recovery of $128,300, in three separate caches, of the loot apparently smuggled from the money printing plant in the tail of a suit jacket.

Bookstein Rules Senate Districts' Law Is Valid

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice held today that New York's new law reapportioning state Senate districts is constitutional.

Justice Isadore Bookstein denied a petition by David A. Fay, a retired police lieutenant from Bayside, Queens, seeking to have the law declared void.

Fay has said he would appeal to higher courts. The case is expected to go to the Court of Appeals.

In an opinion, Bookstein said:

"The formulae adopted by the Joint Legislative Committee on Reapportionment as carried out in the enactment of the law are identical with the formulae and method employed in the 1943 reapportionment. The constitutionality of that law was sustained by a unanimous determination by the Court of Appeals.

Bookstein said he regarded the decision in the 1943 case as governing the challenge to the 1953 law.

Fay contended that the reapportionment measure adopted last November at a special session of the Legislature should have been based on the counties that were in existence in 1894, when the constitutional rules for redistricting were written.

Solicitor General Wendell Brown, who argued the case for the state, maintained that the legislature could reshuffle the Senate districts only as the 1953 reapportionment law provides. He said any other method would have been unconstitutional.

Fay, now an attorney practicing in Jamaica, says he is contesting the 1953 law only "as a hobby."

He insists that he does not represent any political party and expects no personal gain from his action. Fay contended that the 1953 reapportionment should have provided five Senate seats for Bronx county, instead of four, and two seats for Nassau county, instead of three. Nassau and Bronx counties were established after 1894.

Fay argued that, under the 1953

Woodstock Resident Is Certain Miss Adams Acted for Browder With Roosevelts

Washington, Jan. 6 (AP)—Once more has Miss Josephine Truslow Adams been named by a government witness as a link between Communist party leader Earl Browder and the White House.

Miss Adams, who lives in Mahwah, N. J., where she gives private art lessons, was mentioned in testimony yesterday by Frank S. Meyer of Woodstock, N. Y., at a Subversive Activities Control Board hearing.

Meyer told the board he was well-acquainted with Miss Adams when both were instructors at the Jefferson School of Social Science in New York. He said he broke with the Communist party in 1945 after many years as a member.

The hearing yesterday dealt with whether the Jefferson School should be required to register as a Communist front.

In his testimony, Meyer said Miss Adams had a "rather unique relationship" with Browder, who headed the Communist party during World War 2.

Says She Got Release

Asked for an explanation, Meyer said Miss Adams was interested in Browder "on a Civil Liberties basis" when he was put in jail for passport fraud. He said she was able to obtain his release "through her personal connections" with the late President Roosevelt and his wife.

Miss Adams, at her Mahwah home today again denied that she was or is a Communist.

She said that she had gotten to know many Communists during the period of 1939 and 1940 while she served as chairman of the Civil Liberties Union in Philadelphia. Many of the cases handled in Pennsylvania by the union, Miss Adams said, involved known Communists. The cases, she said, chiefly involved election rights.

"It was very natural I should be with them" (Communists) while doing Civil Liberties Union work, Miss Adams added.

Previously, Miss Adams, a descendent of President John Adams and John Quincy Adams, denied being a member of the Communist party or that she was Browder's link with the White House.

At previous hearings, John Lautner, a former Communist party functionary, testified that he knew Miss Adams to be the link between the President's office and Browder.

Budenz Cites Messages

And another former Communist, Louis Budenz, told the hearing that Miss Adams took advantage of friendships in the White House to carry messages to and from Browder.

Miss Adams referred to the testimony by Lautner and Budenz as attempts to smear Roosevelt.

Meyer said yesterday that Miss Adams "conducted over a long period of time political discussions between Browder and Mr. Roosevelt."

Return From Questioning Gouzenko

Senators William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), left, and Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) pose in New York's Pennsylvania Station, Jan. 5, on return from Canada where they said they questioned Igor Gouzenko, who helped smash a Russian spy ring in Canada. The Senators said Gouzenko, former code clerk for the Russians in Canada, had given them names and information usable for the internal security of the United States. McCarran points to briefcase which he said contained the transcript of the meeting with Gouzenko. The senators declined to reveal where they had seen Gouzenko at what they described as a hearing.

Council Recesses to Jan. 12 After Parley on Proposals

Accord Man Gets Suspended Term

Norris H. Henderson, 41, of Accord, charged with making false statements for unemployment benefits, pleaded guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail with the provision that he will make restitution in the amount of $415.

Sidney Tennen, special agent with the Division of Placement and Unemployment, Albany, was the complainant, and Charles Coffin, assistant attorney general, represented the state. Henderson had no counsel.

It was alleged that Henderson, whose occupation was listed as bulldozer operators, made the statement in 1953. He was arrested by Special Investigator Arthur H. Brown of the sheriff's office, and turned over to the Kingston police.

Unemployment to Gain

Washington, Jan. 6 (AP)—Unemployment rolls—swelled by the discharge of temporary Christmas help—will grow to over two million this month, government officials forecast today. Just yesterday, the Census Bureau reported a 422,000 rise in jobless in December, attributing most of this to a seasonal winter drop in farm employment. There was little change in non-farm employment.

Carmel Man Drowns

Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 6 (AP)—Albert J. Dick, 51, of Carmel, N. Y., slipped from a ladder while boarding a military transport today and drowned in the Hudson river. He had been employed as a fire watcher aboard the Gen. Maurice Rose, which is operated by the Military Sea Transport Service. The accident happened as he was boarding the ship at about 3 a. m., police said.

Baby Born on Plane

Gander, Nfld., Jan. 6 (AP)—A Dutch police officer's wife today gave birth to a baby girl aboard a KLM airliner bound for Montreal. The baby delivered by Stewardess Suzanne Van Bortel, was born to Mrs. Elberta Ella Vangelderen 10 minutes before the Dutch airlines plane landed here. Dr. J. Peighton, who met the flight, described the delivery as "a good job."

Parents Held; Boy Dies

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—A Coney Island couple returned home early today, police said, after a visit to the movies and two bars, and found their two-year-old son dead and their three-year-old son unconscious from fumes from a portable kerosene heater. Coney Island police booked the parents as Frank Nolan, 32, an employed printer, and his wife, Mary, 25, on charges of endangering the lives of minors.

Budget for 1954 Left in Committee; Other Matters Await Final Action

A long conference of the Common Council finance committee ended last night without recommended action on several proposals, including the city budget, and the aldermen recessed until Tuesday, Jan. 12.

Left in committee was the 1954 budget, which as presented, fixes the tax rate at $53.76 and lists $1,708,789.06 as the amount to be raised by taxation.

Also left to await final action was City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell's request for the issuance of $100,000 in tax antcipation notes until funds are available from the collection of taxes, a bid for street construction bonds in the amount of $125,000 and another of $73,265.90 for machinery and equipment.

The committee also withheld report on a proposal to increase the salaries of the city clerk, city treasurer and assessor from $4,360 to $5,000.

Say Necessity Exists

Prior to the $4,360 noted in the 1954 budget, the salary of the three appointed officials was $4,120. The increase to $5,000 was recommended in a short letter to the aldermen from Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who held that the "necessity exists" for the salary change.

After introduction of the above and several other proposals Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly called the usual recess for committee conferences. The finance committee remained in conference for about an hour and a half.

Asks Lower Tax Rate

Kelly allowed Mrs. Adele Bregman, of 126 Broadway, the privilege of the floor when the committee recess ended, and when she finished making a bid for a lower tax rate, Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms moved to recess until Jan. 12 so that the budget might be given further consideration. The decision to recess had apparently been arrived at in committee.

Use of Streets Sought

The bid was made by Rusk & Rusk, Marlborough attorneys for the bus line. Their letter said the bus company already has the right over city streets to the Crown street terminal. They applied to use North Front street and Washington avenue to Route 28, and Henry street and Washington avenue "to get out to the

Six-Inch Snow Slows Traffic and Brings Out Sanders

Eastern New York Gets Most of Statewide Fall—No Roads Are Closed

Six or seven inches of snow fell in some parts of the county during the night but traffic was reported to be moving throughout the area.

Troopers at the Ellenville, Highland and Kingston Stations reported roads bad but traffic "moving slowly."

Approximately 50 plows and sanding trucks of the Ulster County Highway Department were working, it was reported. Crews were busy throughout the night, beginning about 10 p. m.

William Eselby, dispatcher, said six or seven inches of snow had been reported in the Pine Hill area.

Five and a half inches were recorded at Brown Station on the Ashokan Reservoir by the New York City Water Department. The department reported eight and a half inches at Prattsville on the Schoharie Reservoir.

From All Directions

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP) — Winter closed in on New York state from all directions today, piling up to eight inches of snow on some areas and putting an icy kink in highway traffic.

The storm—spawned by turbulent weather pushing in from the Great Lakes, the south and the Atlantic coast—hit hardest at eastern New York. Eight to 10 inches of snow carpeted the Albany area and westward through the Mohawk Valley to Utica, and more was in the wind.

Glens Falls reported a 5-6 inch layer. Massena, in northern St. Lawrence county, reported four inches, and four inches was predicted for Watertown.

Chenango county had four to five inches as did Delaware county. Sullivan county reported three to four inches on the ground becoming sloppy in a drizzle.

Most of the western counties got two inches or less.

Conditions Hazardous

State police reported road conditions hazardous throughout the state. In the metropolitan New York area and adjoining counties, rain intensified the bad driving conditions. No roads were reported closed, but it was slow going in many areas as skidding vehicles wormed along.

Sanding crews were called out

Bruyn Avenue Girl Hurt in Accident

Faye Davis, 17, of 158 Bruyn avenue, was reported in "good" condition at Benedictine Hospital this morning following a one-car accident on Route 28 about a quarter of a mile west of the Hilltop Inn.

Miss Davis, a passenger in a car driven by Eileen M. Townsend, 20, of 18 Belvedere street, was thrown from the vehicle when it skidded on the snow-covered road and struck a guard rail, according to a report in the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

Deputies Chester Wolven and Delbert Sapp reported that she received lacerations of the ear, leg injuries and bruises.

The car was proceeding toward Kingston at the time of the accident, it was reported.

The front end and right side of the car were reported heavily damaged.

Bobo Says 10-Million Story Of Settlement Is Nonsense

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Barbara Sears (Bobo) Rockefeller was quoted today as saying it is "real nonsense" to assert she wants a 10 million dollar settlement from her estranged oil millionaire husband.

Edwin Dunaway, attorney for Winthrop Rockefeller, said in Little Rock, Ark., yesterday that Mrs. Rockefeller had repudiated a financial agreement signed last Oct. 1 and is now asking 10 millions.

Dunaway said the agreement of last year called for Rockefeller to provide for his wife and their son, Winthrop Paul, 4, trusts totaling 5½ millions, $70,000 annually or an alternate trust of $500,000.

A spokesman for Mrs. Rockefeller early today issued a statement in which Mrs. Rockefeller said, "contrary to reports, a settlement has not been rejected."

The spokesman, a woman who identified herself only as a friend of Mrs. Rockefeller, quoted Mrs. Rockefeller as saying she is "surprised to read that negotiations have been broken off since my attorney is meeting with my husband's attorneys this morning." The spokesman said the meeting would be in New York in the office of one of Rockefeller's attorneys.

Reports from Little Rock did not say specifically that negotiations had been broken off.

Dunaway, while not saying how his client would respond to the purported 10 millions demand, asserted: "There is no apparent way of meeting Mrs. Rockefeller's insatiable demands."

The Little Rock attorney, who has acted as Rockefeller's spokes-

Young Says 'Feelers' Out On Stalled Peace Talks

Panmunjom, Jan. 6 (AP)—An American diplomat disclosed today that secret negotiations are underway to restart the stalled preliminary Korean peace talks.

There was no indication whether the negotiations will be successful. Kenneth Young of the U. S. State Department said in an interview he and the Communists "are still feeling around."

Young said the hush-hush exploratory moves are being made through an intermediary, he did not say who. It could be India, Switzerland or Sweden, each of which is represented here.

"From where I sit I can't say when it might be possible to resume the conference," Young said.

The talks broke down Dec. 12 when the Communists accused the United States of perfidy. U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean demanded a retraction and ended the six weeks of negotiations after the Reds refused.

Young said Russia's part in a peace conference remains the critical issue; the Reds demand that Russia be seated as a neutral and the United States has insisted she either line up with the Communists or attend as a third party bound by conference decisions.

One item on peace conference business was to be the dispisition of war prisoners—Red and allied—who refused to go home, but the prisoner issue is almost a certainty to be settled before a conference begins.

The Communists were expected to tell the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission Wednesday

At previous hearings, John Lautner, a former Communist party functionary, testified that he knew Miss Adams to be the link between the President's office and Browder.

Budenz Cites Messages

And another former Communist, Louis Budenz, told the hearing that Miss Adams took advantage of friendships in the White House to carry messages to and from Browder.

Miss Adams referred to the testimony by Lautner and Budenz as attempts to smear Roosevelt.

Meyer said yesterday that Miss Adams "conducted over a long period of time political discussions between Browder and Mr. Roosevelt."

Return From Questioning Gouzenko

Senators William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), left, and Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) pose in New York's Pennsylvania Station, Jan. 5, on return from Canada where they said they questioned Igor Gouzenko, who helped smash a Russian spy ring in Canada. The Senators said Gouzenko, former code clerk for the Russians in Canada, had given them names and information usable for the internal security of the United States. McCarran points to briefcase which he said contained the transcript of the meeting with Gouzenko. The senators declined to reveal where they had seen Gouznko at what they described as a hearing.

Council Recesses to Jan. 12 After Parley on Proposals

Accord Man Gets Suspended Term

Norris H. Henderson, 41, of Accord, charged with making false statements for unemployment benefits, pleaded guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail with the provision that he will make restitution in the amount of $415.

Sidney Tennen, special agent with the Division of Placement and Unemployment, Albany, was the complainant, and Charles Coffin, assistant attorney general, represented the state. Henderson had no counsel.

It was alleged that Henderson, whose occupation was listed as bulldozer operators, made the statement in 1953. He was arrested by Special Investigator Arthur H. Brown of the sheriff's office, and turned over to the Kingston police.

Unemployment to Gain

Washington, Jan. 6 (AP)—Unemployment rolls—swelled by the discharge of temporary Christmas help—will grow to over two million this month, government officials forecast today. Just yesterday, the Census Bureau reported a 422,000 rise in jobless in December, attributing most of this to a seasonal winter drop in farm employment. There was little change in non-farm employment.

Carmel Man Drowns

Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 6 (AP)—Albert J. Dick, 51, of Carmel, N. Y., slipped from a ladder while boarding a military transport today and drowned in the Hudson river. He had been employed as a fire watcher aboard the Gen. Maurice Rose, which is operated by the Military Sea Transport Service. The accident happened as he was boarding the ship at about 3 a. m., police said.

Baby Born on Plane

Gander, Nfld., Jan. 6 (AP)—A Dutch police officer's wife today gave birth to a baby girl aboard a KLM airliner bound for Montreal. The baby delivered by Stewardess Suzanne Van Bortel, was born to Mrs. Elberta Ella Vangelderen 10 minutes before the Dutch airlines plane landed here. Dr. J. Peighton, who met the flight, described the delivery as "a good job."

Parents Held; Boy Dies

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—A Coney Island couple returned home early today, police said, after a visit to the movies and two bars, and found their two-year-old son dead and their three-year-old son unconscious from fumes from a portable kerosene heater. Coney Island police booked the parents as Frank Nolan, 32, an employed printer, and his wife, Mary, 25, on charges of endangering the lives of minors.

Budget for 1954 Left in Committee; Other Matters Await Final Action

A long conference of the Common Council finance committee ended last night without recommended action on several proposals, including the city budget, and the aldermen recessed until Tuesday, Jan. 12.

Left in committee was the 1954 budget, which as presented, fixes the tax rate at $53.76 and lists $1,708,789.06 as the amount to be raised by taxation.

Also left to await final action was City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell's request for the issuance of $100,000 in tax antcipation notes until funds are available from the collection of taxes, a bid for street construction bonds in the amount of $125,000 and another of $73,265.90 for machinery and equipment.

The committee also withheld report on a proposal to increase the salaries of the city clerk, city treasurer and assessor from $4,360 to $5,000.

Say Necessity Exists

Prior to the $4,360 noted in the 1954 budget, the salary of the three appointed officials was $4,120. The increase to $5,000 was recommended in a short letter to the aldermen from Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who held that the "necessity exists" for the salary change.

After introduction of the above and several other proposals Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly called the usual recess for committee conferences. The finance committee remained in conference for about an hour and a half.

Asks Lower Tax Rate

Kelly allowed Mrs. Adele Bregman, of 126 Broadway, the privilege of the floor when the committee recess ended, and when she finished making a bid for a lower tax rate, Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms moved to recess until Jan. 12 so that the budget might be given further consideration. The decision to recess had apparently been arrived at in committee.

Use of Streets Sought

The bid was made by Rusk & Rusk, Marlborough attorneys for the bus line. Their letter said the bus company already has the right over city streets to the Crown street terminal. They applied, to use North Front street and Washington avenue to Route 28, and Henry street and Washington avenue "to get out to the

Six-Inch Snow Slows Traffic and Brings Out Sanders

Eastern New York Gets Most of Statewide Fall—No Roads Are Closed

Six or seven inches of snow fell in some parts of the county during the night but traffic was reported to be moving throughout the area.

Troopers at the Ellenville, Highland and Kingston Stations reported roads bad but traffic "moving slowly."

Approximately 50 plows and sanding trucks of the Ulster County Highway Department were working, it was reported. Crews were busy throughout the night, beginning about 10 p. m.

William Eselby, dispatcher, said six or seven inches of snow had been reported in the Pine Hill area.

Five and a half inches were recorded at Brown Station on the Ashokan Reservoir by the New York City Water Department. The department reported eight and a half inches at Prattsville on the Schoharie Reservoir.

From All Directions

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP) — Winter closed in on New York state from all directions today, piling up to eight inches of snow on some areas and putting an icy kink in highway traffic.

The storm—spawned by turbulent weather pushing in from the Great Lakes, the south and the Atlantic coast—hit hardest at eastern New York. Eight to 10 inches of snow carpeted the Albany area and westward through the Mohawk Valley to Utica, and more was in the wind.

Glens Falls reported a 5-6 inch layer. Massena, in northern St. Lawrence county, reported four inches, and four inches was predicted for Watertown.

Chenango county had four to five inches as did Delaware county. Sullivan county reported three to four inches on the ground becoming sloppy in a drizzle.

Most of the western counties got two inches or less.

Conditions Hazardous

State police reported road conditions hazardous throughout the state. In the metropolitan New York area and adjoining counties, rain intensified the bad driving conditions. No roads were reported closed, but it was slow going in many areas as skidding vehicles wormed along.

Sanding crews were called out

Bruyn Avenue Girl Hurt in Accident

Faye Davis, 17, of 158 Bruyn avenue, was reported in "good" condition at Benedictine Hospital this morning following a one-car accident on Route 28 about a quarter of a mile west of the Hilltop Inn.

Miss Davis, a passenger in a car driven by Eileen M. Townsend, 20, of 18 Belvedere street, was thrown from the vehicle when it skidded on the snow-covered road and struck a guard rail, according to a report in the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

Deputies Chester Wolven and Delbert Sapp reported that she received lacerations of the ear, leg injuries and bruises.

The car was proceeding toward Kingston at the time of the accident, it was reported.

Bookstein Rules Senate Districts' Law Is Valid

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice held today that New York's new law reapportioning state Senate districts is constitutional.

Justice Isadore Bookstein denied a petition by David A. Fay, a retired police lieutenant from Bayside, Queens, seeking to have the law declared void.

Fay has said he would appeal to higher courts. The case is expected to go to the Court of Appeals.

In an opinion, Bookstein said:

"The formulae adopted by the Joint Legislative Committee on Reapportionment as carried out in the enactment of the law are identical with the formulae and method employed in the 1943 reapportionment. The constitutionality of that law was sustained by a unanimous determination by the Court of Appeals.

Bookstein said he regarded the decision in the 1943 case as governing the challenge to the 1953 law.

Fay contended that the reapportionment measure adopted last November at a special session of the Legislature should have been based on the counties that were in existence in 1894, when the constitutional rules for redistricting were written.

Solicitor General Wendell Brown, who argued the case for the state, maintained that the legislature could reshuffle the Senate districts only as the 1953 reapportionment law provides. He said any other method would have been unconstitutional.

Fay, now an attorney practicing in Jamaica, says he is contesting the 1953 law only "as a hobby."

He insists that he does not represent any political party and expects no personal gain from his action. Fay contended that the 1953 reapportionment should have provided five Senate seats for Bronx county, instead of four, and two seats for Nassau county, instead of three. Nassau and Bronx counties were established after 1894.

Fay argued that, under the 1953

Bobo Says 10-Million Story Of Settlement Is Nonsense

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Barbara Sears (Bobo) Rockefeller was quoted today as saying it is "real nonsense" to assert she wants a 10 million dollar settlement from her estranged oil millionaire husband.

Edwin Dunaway, attorney for Winthrop Rockefeller, said in Little Rock, Ark., yesterday that Mrs. Rockefeller had repudiated a financial agreement signed last Oct. 1 and is now asking 10 millions.

Dunaway said the agreement of last year called for Rockefeller to provide for his wife and their son, Winthrop Paul, 4, trusts totaling 5½ millions, $70,000 annually or an alternate trust of $500,000.

A spokesman for Mrs. Rockefeller early today issued a statement in which Mrs. Rockefeller said, "contrary to reports, a settlement has not been rejected."

The spokesman, a woman who identified herself only as a friend of Mrs. Rockefeller, quoted Mrs. Rockefeller as saying she is "surprised to read that negotiations have been broken off since my attorney is meeting with my husband's attorneys this morning." The spokesman said the meeting would be in New York in the office of one of Rockefeller's attorneys.

Reports from Little Rock did not say specifically that negotiations had been broken off.

Dunaway, while not saying how his client would respond to the purported 10 millions demand, asserted: "There is no apparent way of meeting Mrs. Rockefeller's insatiable demands."

The Little Rock attorney, who has acted as Rockefeller's spokes-

Young Says 'Feelers' Out On Stalled Peace Talks

Panmunjom, Jan. 6 (AP)—An American diplomat disclosed today that secret negotiations are underway to restart the stalled preliminary Korean peace talks.

There was no indication whether the negotiations will be successful. Kenneth Young of the U. S. State Department said in an interview he and the Communists "are still feeling around."

Young said the hush-hush exploratory moves are being made through an intermediary, he did not say who. It could be India, Switzerland or Sweden, each of which is represented here.

"From where I sit I can't say when it might be possible to resume the conference," Young said.

The talks broke down Dec. 12 when the Communists accused the United States of perfidy. U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean demanded a retraction and ended the six weeks of negotiations after the Reds refused.

Young said Russia's part in a peace conference remains the critical issue; the Reds demand that Russia be seated as a neutral and the United States has insisted she either line up with the Communists or attend as a third party bound by conference decisions.

One item on peace conference business was to be the dispisition of war prisoners—Red and allied—who refused to go home, but the prisoner issue is almost a certainty to be settled before a conference begins.

The Communists were expected to tell the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission Wednesday

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Only free capital — not capital captured by Government via the tax route — can make possible our continued existence as a free nation.

Mr. Hutton

All of the thousands of persons who own General Motors Corporation; the 250,000 who own General Electric; and the million plus who own American Telephone and Telegraph Co. are exercising this free use of capital.

These people are share owners. So are the others who invest in mutual insurance companies, and savings and loan associations.

Unfortunately, only 6.4 per cent of our total population comprise the share owners of America. They are in the vanguard of the American people, who do not believe in watered-down Communism, which is Socialism—which is Government that "captures" too much of a nation's earnings.

Our economic rights to save and acquire, our political rights to express our opinions at the voting booths are in one package. Lose one and you lose the other.

Local Salesmen See Pre-showing Of New Oldsmobile

Personnel of Stuyvesant Motors Inc., Kingston, recently attended the factory presentation and preshowing of the 1954 Oldsmobiles in New York. The early part of the program was held at the Hellinger Theatre. At noon those in attendance went to the Hotel Astor for luncheon which was later followed by a full showing of all 1954 models.

Jack Wolfram, general manager, and Ray Jones, general sales manager, of Oldsmobile were the principal speakers. It was pointed out that the disastrous fire on August 12 at the General Motors Hydramatic plant necessitated a radical change in Oldsmobile plans for 1954. After the fire, it was decided to discard the models that had been planned for 1954 and instead bring out the car in 1954 that had originally been planned for 1955. This change in plans has caused the 1954 Oldsmobile to have many styling and engineering innovations presented to the public a year in advance.

Those attending from Kingston were Charles Kershaw, Robert Umpleby, William Schiff and William Dufur of the sales department and Harold Skellan, office manager.

Readings in Most of U.S. Above Seasonal Levels

(By The Associated Press)

Northerly winds blew another batch of Arctic air from Canada into the upper Mississippi valley today, and temperatures dropped below zero in North Dakota and Minnesota.

The cold air headed southeastward into northern sections of Illinois and Indiana. However, readings in most other parts of the country continued above seasonal levels. It was 8 degrees below early today in Grand Forks, N. D., -4 at Alexandria, Minn., and zero at Billings, Mont.

Light snow or snow flurries fell early today through most of Michigan southeastward through Ohio and West Virginia and eastward through New York state, Pennsylvania and southern New England. New falls generally were 1 to 2 inches.

The only other wet spot during the early morning was western Washington where rain continued. Falls during the past 24 hours measured nearly 2 inches at Astoria, Ore., and nearly 1½ inches at Seattle.

Skies were mostly cloudy over the northern half of the country and generally clear in the southern half.

Town Leaders Are Named for Polio Drive in Ulster

Addison Jones, campaign director for the 1954 March of Dimes in Ulster county, today released the names of the various chairmen who will conduct drives in their respective townships of the county.

Jones, speaking on behalf of the Ulster County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., again appealed to the chairmen to do their utmost in making the 1954 campaign a "real success."

Mothers' March Set

It was jointly announced today by Jones and William A. Kelly, county chairman, that the second annual Mother's March on Polio will be held Wednesday night, Jan. 27. Last year the march netter $4,200 under the capable direction of Mrs. Rose Hogan. "We hope to do even better this year," Jones and Kelly remarked.

"We need the cooperation of all chairmen this year," Jones said, "especially when you remember that Ulster county's quota for 1954 is $50,000. This is a real challenge to all of us in the county," the campaign director said.

The various town chairmen follow:

Denning—Mrs. H. George.
Esopus—Mrs. Donald Swan.
Gardiner—M. J. Wells.
Hurley—Ernest Myer.
Hardenburgh—G. Armstrong.
Kingston—Harry Hulsair.
Lloyd—U. P. Decker.
Marbletown—Ross Osterhoudt.
Marlborough—E. C. Carpenter, F. Kaley.
New Paltz—David Jewitt, Jr.
Olive—H. Wilkins.
Plattekill—Ruth Dawes.
Rochester—Mrs. B. Marshall.
Rosendale—Steve Huben, Kenneth Roosa, Charles Riley.
Saugerties—John Davis, Franklin Clum and Arthur Simmons.
Shandaken—H. Victor Greene.
Shawangunk—Lloyd Kniffin.
Ulster—Daniel Van Wagenen, J. Crespino and F. McCullough.
Wawarsing—Tuthill McDowell.
Kerhonkson—William Joyce.
Woodstock—William Hand.

Calls Ouster 'A Stupid Performance'

Judge William L. Clark holds his passport during Jan. 5 news conference aboard the liner Queen Mary in New York at which he called his ouster as chief justice of the U. S. Appeals Court in Germany "a stupid performance." Judge Clark, who arrived on the liner, accused the State Department of "lying in their teeth" in denying that his passport had been removed forcibly.

Modena

Modena, Jan. 6—The Wesleyan Service Guild of the Modena Methodist Church will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Marian Jensen. Study will be Africa.

The official board of the Clintondale Methodist Church will meet at the church Friday at 8 p. m.

The Rev. John E. Swords, pastor of the Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches, has chosen for the subject of his sermon Sunday, Christian Family Life.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches will meet at the parsonage Sunday at 6:30 p. m. for a study of their new organization. A film strip, We Have This Fellowship, will be shown.

The regular meeting of the official board of the Modena Methodist Church will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hasbrouck. Refreshments will be served.

Advance notice is given of the fourth quarterly conference of the Modena-Clintondale Methodist parish to be held at Modena Monday, Feb. 8. A pot-luck supper will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Vernard B. Wager, dog warden of the town of Plattekill, has commenced enumerating dogs in this section of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Hedges were recent supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ward.

Ralph Ellersen of Castle Creek, was a recent visitor of friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hyatt and son Harold, visited the former's sister, Mrs. Michael Mulvihill and family in Dutchess county.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Dorothy Meredith, RN, daughter of the late John and Evelyn Meredith of Wallkill, to Arthur J. Kasinski, son of Mrs. Rose Kasinski, Cochecton Turnpike, Newburgh. Miss Meredith is the public health nurse serving this area. A spring wedding is planned.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schultz of Rhinebeck was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Burton R. Ward during the holiday season.

Miss Geyle Wager of Plattekill visited Miss Genevieve Smith Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G Hedges, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ward and their guest, Mrs. Elizabeth Schultz of Rhinebeck, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dunn and son Chester at East Walden Friday.

The foundation of the new house of William Adams, north of Modena, has been started.

Vernard B. Wager of Plattekill visited his sister, Miss Glennie M. Wager, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Smith of Kingston spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Wager, Sr., and family.

Union Hose to Meet

The annual meeting of Union Hose Company 4 will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the engine house, Union street. Refreshments will be served after the business meeting.

Prevent Tragedy

An inexpensive fire extinguisher in your home can prevent a tragedy. Why wait for the arrival of the fire trucks when a small blaze can be stopped before spreading?

WHY a Vegetable Laxative is better for CONSTIPATION

Vegetable laxatives are much better for you than harsh, jolting ones. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a pure-vegetable formula. They give you a complete cleaning out yet are so gentle. Olive Tablets give more 'natural-like' bowel movements. No griping! No purging! No sudden inconvenience! Take one or two tonight to give complete satisfaction at the desired time in the morning.

Solution Told In Reuther Case

Detroit, Jan. 6 (AP)—Authorities, bringing criminal charges against four men, announced a "solution" early today to the attempted assassination of Walter Reuther in 1948.

"This is the solution, but it may go farther," Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said. He did not disclose details.

Two of the accused were identified as Carl Renda and his father-in-law, Santo (Sam) Perrone, both witnesses before the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee here.

Renda was in custody. Perrone was sought.

Also named were Peter Lombardo, described as an inmate of the penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind., and Clarence Jacobs, identified as a Tecumseh, Ont., television shop owner.

Jacobs was in custody in Windsor, Ont.

Warrants against the four men contained two counts. One charged assault with intent to murder, another conspiracy to assault with intent to murder.

STATEHOOD AND POLITICS

It is possible that Hawaii may become the forty-ninth state in the union at the next session of Congress. Hawaii's chances recently improved when Senator Russell B. Long of Louisiana indicated that he would vote for a bill already approved by the House of Representatives. His vote is believed enough to give the bill a majority although opposition from other southern senators may result in a filibuster to keep the bill from coming to a vote.

Hawaii is expected to be a Republican state when it is admitted to the union and for that reason some Democrats have opposed its admission. Southerners have been particularly wary of statehood for Hawaii for this would enlarge the Senate to the point where it might be easier to get enough votes to limit debate on civil rights legislation and thus put a crimp in the filibuster technique which has worked so well for protesting minority groups in the past.

While Hawaii may be admitted, chances for admission of Alaska do not seem so bright. Both territories have been promised statehood many times by the platforms of both political parties. Political expediency rather than platforms, however, usually guides a party's actions between elections.

It is unfortunate that party politics are allowed to dictate whether or not these two territories are to be admitted to statehood. Americans like to judge things on their merits and if Hawaii and Alaska deserve to be states they should be granted that privilege. Admission to full participation in the affairs of this Republic should not be a political football.

The record for morbidity must have been held by the woman who wanted to know if the execution of the Greenlease kidnapers would be televised.

THE PRESIDENT RESIGNS

President Eisenhower has resigned from a great many organizations to which he belonged before he became President. The announcement of the resignations said that he intends to retain membership in only those organizations in which he can take an active interest, such as the Red Cross.

The President's decision was a wise one and one which other prominent citizens might well consider making. Every organization has a list of prominent members, many of whom have no idea of what the organization stands for or what actions it is taking. They are members in name only.

There was no indication in the announcement that any of the groups in which the President held membership were unworthy. It was simply a precautionary measure. In the past celebrities have frequently been embarrassed and the public fooled by impressive lists. The prestige carried by an important name can be great and President Eisenhower has no intention of lending his name to any organization in which he cannot take part as an active member.

This is the season when the advertising writers set northerners spinning. Bathing suits are the merchandisers' product for the January resort season, and their blend with a snow shovel and aching back is hardly compatible.

CONTINUOUS CHRISTMAS

The Christmas season is over for another year and households can return to normal. Father's favorite chair can be moved back to the familiar corner from which it was moved to make room for the tree. While the excitement and the magic of Christmas is wonderful the calm that comes after is also pleasant to those who have spent weeks in preparation for the holidays.

There is no reason, however, why the affection and the goodwill which make Christmas such a warm and enjoyable season should be packed away to gather dust with the tree ornaments. The spirit of Christmas is more than the trappings by which we celebrate it. It is an expression of the continuation of the gift of Christ—peace on earth to men of good will. If we can retain that spirit throughout the year our lives will be richer and happier and the world we live in will be a better place.

'These Days'

WE HAVE TROUBLES ENOUGH

I have always assumed that those employed by the Government of the United States were only required to be American citizens. I can find no reference in the Constitution that any employe of the American Government also be a Catholic, a Protestant or a Jew. Nor can I find that any application form for such employment includes a line stipulating religious affiliation. I was therefore shocked to read this paragraph in an article by Joseph C. Harsch, in "The Christian Science Monitor":

"While the facts are not available in full, enough information has been gathered in Protestant circles to make it clear that the activities of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R) of Wisconsin have had the incidental effect, whether accidental or intentional, of increasing the proportion of Roman Catholics to Protestants employed in the public service."

How would Mr. Harsch or anyone else know what the religion is of the more than 2,400,000 employes of the government of the United States? Has he or anyone else sent a questionnaire to each and every man and woman who works for Uncle Sam inquiring as to religious affiliation? Surely there are no statistics on the subject nor can there be. Unless Mr. Harsch can produce statistical data, it must be accepted that his conclusion is reached on the basis of his private estimate.

Mr. Harsch further says:

"Inquiries by this reporter have failed to find a single Roman Catholic among officials dismissed from the State Department. . . ."

This is an indirect insult to the Protestants. Some of those dismissed were subversives; some were homosexuals; some were blabber-mouths. The Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, is an important Protestant churchman. Are we to believe that John Foster Dulles, whose father was a Protestant clergyman, and who, himself, headed the principal Protestant organization in this country, discriminates against Protestants? Or are we to say that no Catholic was a subversive, a homosexual or a blabber-mouth and that Dulles could find none to dismiss? Both assumptions are equally untenable without more factual data than appears in Mr. Harsch's article. Surely so broad a statement requires some spelling out in detail, giving names and affiliations.

We have troubles enough in our country without anybody permitting private bigotry to disturb the national unity of our people. Perhaps the most attractive factor of American life is the freedom to be different, to hold views that are not standard, to worship God according to each man's beliefs and traditions. Americans are of many faiths, including such as Buddhism, Confucianism, Bahaism, to say nothing about many forms of Christianity and Judaism.

And in a world that is embittered by bigotry and hatred, it is a source of pride to an American that he can enjoy the privilege of government employment without any confession of religious faith. He is only required to uphold and maintain the Constitution of the United States.

The statement that Protestants see ". . . a possibility that the open Roman Catholic attack on Communism spearheaded by Senator McCarthy actually is directed as much against Protestantism at home as it is against the Kremlin abroad; even that Roman Catholic fervor against Communism may turn out in the end to be primarily a vehicle for an assault on Protestantism," is unfortunate.

It is as unfortunate and as untruthful as saying that Jews are Communists and spies because a few scoundrels among us, such as Julius Rosenberg and Harry Dexter White, wandered from the morality of their ancestors. For every indecent Jew of that sort, I can name hundreds who serve their country well. It would be a stupid thing to do, however, because were it not true that most Americans, of whatever faith, are loyal to this country, we should have been captured by the Kremlin. To generalize from the particular is always illogical.

In the face of the frightful war that is being waged against our country, why do we have to divide on such an issue as religious beliefs? When our sons are killed in war, they die as Americans, whatever their creed or faith, or complexion. Only the Kremlin can benefit from bigotry in America; only America can lose by such divisions.

Being neither a Catholic nor a Protestant, I can be lovingly impartial in an appeal that they maintain a truce of God in the presence of Satan.

That Body of Yours

LIVING IN A DREAM STATE

Many of us in good physical and mental health may give little thought to those in poor mental health, perhaps thinking that our government takes good care of these unfortunates. It is true that our government spends more money and gives more accommodation to those in poor mental health than to all other types of illness and patients combined. However, there are private or national organizations of public spirited men and women who try to help them be more happy and contented. One of these organizations is the National Association for Mental Health Inc., 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y. In a recent news release we learn that the Supreme Council, 33rd degree Scottish Rite, Northern Masonic Jurisdiction, has recently issued a grant of $75,000 to the National Association for Mental Health for schizophrenic research during the coming year. This Scottish Rite has given more than a million dollars to this fund during the past 20 years.

In his book, "Office Psychiatry," Dr. L. G. Moench, Assistant Clinical Professor of Medicine, University of Utah School of Medicine, states that schizophrenia takes up more hospital beds than any other disease and is still one of the most baffling.

One of the first signs of this most common form of mental disease is the failure of the growing boy or girl to mix well with others. "Excessive moralism, erratic irritability, or certain obsessions or compulsions, marked drop in energy output (mental and physical), vague weakness, fatigue, lassitude, are early signs."

These patients make a break with reality, refuse to face duties and responsibilities of everyday life. "The major break with reality may come at a time of facing new sexual, economic, or social responsibility. The stresses may come from the outside, from within, or may even be the result of an illness such as a poisoning from goiter." There are millions of individuals who live so close to the normal line that they are unnoticed and live in society without friction. "They may be obscure persons holding down small jobs or they may be important prominent persons, especially in literature, drama, interpretive dancing or painting."

The schizophrenic dislikes influence, dominance, coercion. He needs independence but seems unable to achieve independence (become his real self) without retreating into fantasy. In fantasy he is the only one who is right, all others are wrong. This is called living in a "dream state."

Most cases of schizophrenia recover, but it may take a long time. Fortunately the newer forms of treatment bring about more rapid cures.

One Guess

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The great drouth of 1953 is over, with rains or snows in most areas, but its effects are far from gone. The hazard is that feed shortages still exist in the stricken states and will continue till 1954 crops are in.

Nobody has made any estimates of total losses from the year's dry spell. The federal government has poured between $200 million and $250 million into various relief projects, but this does not begin to cover farmers' losses through sacrifice sales of livestock.

The final count shows 691 U. S. counties in 18 states and Hawaii certified as drouth-disaster areas for feed-relief programs. This represents about a fourth of the U. S. counties. It accounts for about three fourths of the disaster relief that had to be given during the year to carry farmers over such acts of God as the floods in Florida, local storms and tornadoes in other states.

Fortunately, the drouth did not hit the grain-producing areas of the northern plains states. Some cotton lands in west Texas were dried up. But by far the greater part of the drouth damage was recorded in pasture areas. Nevada's winter grazing areas were hit hard. Southern Missouri was probably damaged the most.

Expected to Revive

With normal weather this winter, Department of Agriculture and state farm officials have every expectation that the drouth-struck areas will come back next year. If there is not good snow and rainfall, it may take some time for sub-soil water levels to be restored. But this is a continuing national farm problem due to overuse of the land and overdrainage.

Areas which had been given extensive soil conservation treatments showed greater resistance to the drouth than those areas where no work had been done to prevent excessive water runoff. The drouth proved out the benefits of good soil conservation practices as an investment. The improved pastures of Kentucky and Tennessee showed far less drouth damage than the unimproved areas of Texas, for example.

There was little wind erosion in this drouth, however, and no new dust bowls were created as in the 1930's.

In bringing relief to the 1953 drouth-stricken farmers, half a dozen government programs were put to work. They included three loan programs under which $85 million of federal funds were advanced. The government expects to get all of this money back.

Over 5500 straight disaster loans were made to farmers during the year, for a total of $8.7 million. These loans were made under permanent legislation and they included loans to cover storm damages in 14 states not in the drouth area.

Regular Farmers' Home Administration operating loans were also made for a total of nearly $56 million. These loans were given for feed purchases by farmers whose operations were considered on a sound financial basis.

Money for Assistance

For livestock raisers, Congress supplemented these loans by a special authorization to help them carry over their foundation herds. None of this money could be used for feed. But 2100 livestock men took advantage of this program to borrow nearly $22 million. Another $50 million in drouth relief went for an emergency-feed program in which surpluses of cottonseed meal, corn, wheat and oats were sold at bargain rates.

County Drouth Emergency committees approved the shipments of over 1,270,000 tons of feed to hard-hit farmers. All of the government's surplus cottonseed meal and all of its oats were disposed of in this program. Farmers are now being offered corn and wheat mixes. Remaining grain surpluses are good insurance, in case of another drouth next year.

The government paid out $19 million in freight costs on these shipments. The other $31 million went to the Commodity Credit Corporation to pay for its losses.

Railroads have been cooperating on this program by giving a 50 per cent cut on rates for feed shipments into disaster areas, but the last of these reduced tariffs were scheduled to expire Dec. 31. The federal government has been paying half of the freight costs up to $10 a ton. This double reduction has given farmers emergency feed at one fourth of normal transportation costs. The drouth states have made other contributions for feed and transportation on varying scales.

To help livestock men dispose of their herds in the drouth states, the federal government has purchased nearly 250 million pounds of low-grade beef. This is the equivalent of 865,000 head of cattle. About $84 million of this beef has gone into U. S. school-lunch programs, and nearly $10 million into foreign relief.

Washington Mess May Take Years to Clean Up Is Frank Disclosure About Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 6—It isn't the task of Washington correspondents to elect or defeat Presidents or help members of Congress win reelection. It is their duty to report the story of Washington happenings without regard to where the chips may fall. It's their obligation to forget personal likes or dislikes or their own party affiliations and tell the public what's going on, even though, for example, it may not be pleasant reading for the friends or supporters of the man in the White House.

For the "State of the Union," governmentally speaking, isn't good, and there isn't much logic in glossing over the tragic plight of Dwight Eisenhower today. He needs every bit of sympathy he can get, and he deserves the benefit of a frank disclosure of the truth.

The facts show that "the Washington mess" is worse than the public ever knew and that the present administration has made very little progress in cleaning it up. It may take years to get that job done.

This isn't the time for the administration to be talking of "accomplishments" of its own—to be issuing defensive essays on its aims and purposes because the fact is that the new administration hasn't been able to get a good grip on the government during the nearly twelve months that have elapsed since it took office. It hasn't cleaned out the inefficient or rooted out the bad policies. The boom or so-called "prosperity" of recent years was made by the business of war orders, and the two Democratic administrations were able to provide prosperous conditions primarily because of war or publicized threats of war. Readjustment from a war prosperity is a painful necessity—not a political weakness.

A favorite quip heard in Washington is: "When will the Republican administration be inaugurated?" Up to now, the government has been ruled in large part by Truman holdovers in many departments or by persons imbued with the philosophy of the preceding administrations, though they call themselves Republicans. While some of the recent appointees think they are making new policies, several of them find themselves struggling to keep the old, deep-seated policies from spilling over into worse "messes."

Thus the truth about the Korean "mess" has never been told. The facts as to the unpreparedness of the military services, and particularly of the joint chiefs of staff, for the sudden decision to intervene in Korea have never been revealed, though the blunder is almost as catastrophic as what happened to Pearl Harbor. There is still a tendency, moreover, to cover up and be secretive about the circumstances surrounding the forced entry of the United States into World War 2.

The same kind of cover-up has occurred with reference to the loss to the free world of China. Incidentally, some of the individuals who participated in that fiasco have been defended, and in certain cases promoted, by the Eisenhower administration to other posts, notwithstanding their faulty judgment.

Throughout the government departments the effort to uproot New Deal and Fair Deal policies that spell waste and "creeping Socialism" has met with frustration. Many of the Eisenhower appointees have chosen to be silent on the obstacles they find, when the need of the hour is for intensive exposure.

Naturally the old crowd of Trumanites want to squelch all investigating committees in Congress. But what is amazing is that some of the Eisenhower men seem to be willing to let bygones be bygones. Each administration should be held accountable for its acts to the American people. The present administration has never fully recognized its obligation to tell the voters what has happened behind the scenes—the truth all the way from tax frauds to coddling of Communists.

Mr. Eisenhower is a tragic prisoner of circumstances beyond his control. He wants to be nice to everybody—including his predecessors. But the truth has a way of forcing itself into the open, and Mr. Eisenhower's chances to extricate the country from the many "messes" his administration inherited lies in telling the whole revolting story, piece by piece.

The waste of American money abroad has been a scandal. The waste of money in the military services has been another scandal. The failure to provide ammunition to American boys in Korea is still another scandal. And the refusal—due to foreign dictation—to back up American troops on the firing line by giving them maximum power to fight the enemy is a story that has never been told in its entirety, though the public does know General MacArthur was summarily fired for daring to suggest that American boys be defended to the utmost in Korea.

The budget can't be balanced because the inherited commitments are beyond belief. The President is battling with critics who say he hasn't kept his campaign promises about balancing the budget, but Mr. Eisenhower has never revealed the true nature of the costly commitments made by the preceding administrations which make a balanced budget almost impossible for a long time to come.

Secrecy and diversion of attention to new legislative proposals will not eradicate the basic cancer—a personnel dedicated to spending, a personnel dedicated to policies that mean surrender of American interests all over the world, and a personnel that wants to give money to allies while getting little cooperation in return.

Foreign policy and domestic policy are interwoven, and any cold-blooded analysis of the facts—without wishful thinking—will reveal that the Eisenhower administration is up against a set of barriers that only an informed public opinion can help the President to break down. This is not a happy picture, but little good can come out of a glossing over of the facts.

Costa Rican President Newest Controversy in Latin America

By PAUL SANDERS

San Jose, Costa Rica, Jan. 6 (AP) — President Jose Figueres, a bantamweight with deceptively mild-looking light blue eyes, is Latin America's newest center of controversy.

Standing only 5 feet 3, Don Pepe (Joe), as he is usually called, has been president of tiny Costa Rica only a few weeks. His country, about half the size of Pennsylvania, has only 800,000 inhabitants. Its total armed force consists of about 800 men—600 police and 200 in an elite group called military police.

At 47 Figueres already has taken on the giant United Fruit Co. In negotiations to revise the firm's concession in Costa Rica. Don Pepe wants a 50-50 split in the Costa Rican profits. But, he says, talks are being handled in a way to demonstrate his country's "sense of responsibility" to the west.

"We don't want to give the Russians any propaganda weapons," Don Pepe said in an interview. He declined to discuss expropriation of United Fruit Co. land by the Communist-controlled government of Guatemala, but made clear he didn't believe expropriation was any way to settle problems.

Kicked Out Communism

Leader of a revoluion in 1948 which kicked organized Communism out of Costa Rica, Figueres has been blasted by the Reds from one side, and Latin American conservatives from the other.

Depending on where you sit, Figueres is a "New Deal" reformer or an impractical Socialist. Ask him just what he is politically, and he replies, "I'm a Democrat." He says he has studied Socialism a good deal, but "I don't believe in socialization."

Seeks U. S. Support

Figueres has bid for U. S. support in bringing what he calls "social justice" an an international scale tb the southern republics. He doesn't think that foreign capital, permanently settled, is good for underprivileged naions. Often it is a drain on a small nation, he believes.

Aid can come by loans and temporary investments, he contends, but the loans should be repaid, the temporary investments liquidated on equitable terms, and the "permanent" type of investments repatriated under agreements satisfactor to both sides.

He believes technical assistance should be continued and expanded because Latin America can make the most of her resources only through technical knowledge.

No Grave Problems

Costa Rica itself has no grave political problems. Figueres estimates the per capita income of his people is from 150 to 200 dollars a year. That looks good in some areas of Latin America, but to Figueres the national income is appallingly low.

The program of U. S-educated Figueres—he attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology — has a wide appeal in Costa Rica, which elected him to the presidency by a big majority and gave him the biggest margin in Congress any chief executive has had in this country.

STATEHOOD AND POLITICS

It is possible that Hawaii may become the forty-ninth state in the union at the next session of Congress. Hawaii's chances recently improved when Senator Russell B. Long of Louisiana indicated that he would vote for a bill already approved by the House of Representatives. His vote is believed enough to give the bill a majority although opposition from other southern senators may result in a filibuster to keep the bill from coming to a vote.

Hawaii is expected to be a Republican state when it is admitted to the union and for that reason some Democrats have opposed its admission. Southerners have been particularly wary of statehood for Hawaii for this would enlarge the Senate to the point where it might be easier to get enough votes to limit debate on civil rights legislation and thus put a crimp in the filibuster technique which has worked so well for protesting minority groups in the past.

While Hawaii may be admitted, chances for admission of Alaska do not seem so bright. Both territories have been promised statehood many times by the platforms of both political parties. Political expediency rather than platforms, however, usually guides a party's actions between elections.

It is unfortunate that party politics are allowed to dictate whether or not these two territories are to be admitted to statehood. Americans like to judge things on their merits and if Hawaii and Alaska deserve to be states they should be granted that privilege. Admission to full participation in the affairs of this Republic should not be a political football.

The record for morbidity must have been held by the woman who wanted to know if the execution of the Greenlease kidnapers would be televised.

THE PRESIDENT RESIGNS

President Eisenhower has resigned from a great many organizations to which he belonged before he became President. The announcement of the resignations said that he intends to retain membership in only those organizations in which he can take an active interest, such as the Red Cross.

The President's decision was a wise one and one which other prominent citizens might well consider making. Every organization has a list of prominent members, many of whom have no idea of what the organization stands for or what actions it is taking. They are members in name only.

There was no indication in the announcement that any of the groups in which the President held membership were unworthy. It was simply a precautionary measure. In the past celebrities have frequently been embarrassed and the public fooled by impressive lists. The prestige carried by an important name can be great and President Eisenhower has no intention of lending his name to any organization in which he cannot take part as an active member.

This is the season when the advertising writers set northerners spinning. Bathing suits are the merchandisers' product for the January resort season, and their blend with a snow shovel and aching back is hardly compatible.

CONTINUOUS CHRISTMAS

The Christmas season is over for another year and households can return to normal. Father's favorite chair can be moved back to the familiar corner from which it was moved to make room for the tree. While the excitement and the magic of Christmas is wonderful the calm that comes after is also pleasant to those who have spent weeks in preparation for the holidays.

There is no reason, however, why the affection and the goodwill which make Christmas such a warm and enjoyable season should be packed away to gather dust with the tree ornaments. The spirit of Christmas is more than the trappings by which we celebrate it. It is an expression of the continuation of the gift of Christ—peace on earth to men of good will. If we can retain that spirit throughout the year our lives will be richer and happier and the world we live in will be a better place.

"The major break with reality may come at a time of facing new sexual, economic, or social responsibility. The stresses may come from the outside, from within, or may even be the result of an illness such as a poisoning from goiter." There are millions of individuals who live so close to the normal line that they are unnoticed and live in society without friction. "They may be obscure persons holding down small jobs or they may be important prominent persons, especially in literature, drama, interpretive dancing or painting."

The schizophrenic dislikes influence, dominance, coercion. He needs independence but seems unable to achieve independence (become his real self) without retreating into fantasy. In fantasy he is the only one who is right, all others are wrong. This is called living in a "dream state."

Most cases of schizophrenia recover, but it may take a long time. Fortunately the newer forms of treatment bring about more rapid cures.

One Guess

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The great drouth of 1953 is over, with rains or snows in most areas, but its effects are far from gone. The hazard is that feed shortages still exist in the stricken states and will continue till 1954 crops are in.

Nobody has made any estimates of total losses from the year's dry spell. The federal government has poured between $200 million and $250 million into various relief projects, but this does not begin to cover farmers' losses through sacrifice sales of livestock.

The final count shows 691 U. S. counties in 18 states and Hawaii certified as drouth-disaster areas for feed-relief programs. This represents about a fourth of the U. S. counties. It accounts for about three fourths of the disaster relief that had to be given during the year to carry farmers over such acts of God as the floods in Florida, local storms and tornadoes in other states.

Fortunately, the drouth did not hit the grain-producing areas of the northern plains states. Some cotton lands in west Texas were dried up. But by far the greater part of the drouth damage was recorded in pasture areas. Nevada's winter grazing areas were hit hard. Southern Missouri was probably damaged the most.

Expected to Revive

With normal weather this winter, Department of Agriculture and state farm officials have every expectation that the drouth-struck areas will come back next year. If there is not good snow and rainfall, it may take some time for sub-soil water levels to be restored. But this is a continuing national farm problem due to overuse of the land and overdrainage.

Areas which had been given extensive soil conservation treatments showed greater resistance to the drouth than those areas where no work had been done to prevent excessive water runoff. The drouth proved out the benefits of good soil conservation practices as an investment. The improved pastures of Kentucky and Tennessee showed far less drouth damage than the unimproved areas of Texas, for example.

There was little wind erosion in this drouth, however, and no new dust bowls were created as in the 1930's.

In bringing relief to the 1953 drouth-stricken farmers, half a dozen government programs were put to work. They included three loan programs under which $85 million of federal funds were advanced. The government expects to get all of this money back.

Over 5500 straight disaster loans were made to farmers during the year, for a total of $8.7 million. These loans were made under permanent legislation and they included loans to cover storm damages in 14 states not in the drouth area.

Regular Farmers' Home Administration operating loans were also made for a total of nearly $56 million. These loans were given for feed purchases by farmers whose operations were considered on a sound financial basis.

Money for Assistance

For livestock raisers, Congress supplemented these loans by a special authorization to help them carry over their foundation herds. None of this money could be used for feed. But 2100 livestock men took advantage of this program to borrow nearly $22 million. Another $50 million in drouth relief went for an emergency-feed program in which surpluses of cottonseed meal, corn, wheat and oats were sold at bargain rates.

County Drouth Emergency committees approved the shipments of over 1,270,000 tons of feed to hard-hit farmers. All of the government's surplus cottonseed meal and all of its oats were disposed of in this program. Farmers are now being offered corn and wheat mixes. Remaining grain surpluses are good insurance, in case of another drouth next year.

The government paid out $19 million in freight costs on these shipments. The other $31 million went to the Commodity Credit Corporation to pay for its losses.

Railroads have been cooperating on this program by giving a 50 per cent cut on rates for feed shipments into disaster areas, but the last of these reduced tariffs were scheduled to expire Dec. 31. The federal government has been paying half of the freight costs up to $10 a ton. This double reduction has given farmers emergency feed at one fourth of normal transportation costs. The drouth states have made other contributions for feed and transportation on varying scales.

To help livestock men dispose of their herds in the drouth states, the federal government has purchased nearly 250 million pounds of low-grade beef. This is the equivalent of 865,000 head of cattle. About $84 million of this beef has gone into U. S. school-lunch programs, and nearly $10 million into foreign relief.

Washington Mess May Take Years to Clean Up Is Frank Disclosure About Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 6—It isn't the task of Washington correspondents to elect or defeat Presidents or help members of Congress win reelection. It is their duty to report the story of Washington happenings without regard to where the chips may fall. It's their obligation to forget personal likes or dislikes or their own party affiliations and tell the public what's going on, even though, for example, it may not be pleasant reading for the friends or supporters of the man in the White House.

For the "State of the Union," governmentally speaking, isn't good, and there isn't much logic in glossing over the tragic plight of Dwight Eisenhower today. He needs every bit of sympathy he can get, and he deserves the benefit of a frank disclosure of the truth.

The facts show that "the Washington mess" is worse than the public ever knew and that the present administration has made very little progress in cleaning it up. It may take years to get that job done.

This isn't the time for the administration to be talking of "accomplishments" of its own—to be issuing defensive essays on its aims and purposes- because the fact is that the new administration hasn't been able to get a good grip on the government during the nearly twelve months that have elapsed since it took office. It hasn't cleaned out the inefficient or rooted out the bad policies. The boom or so-called "prosperity" of recent years was made by the business of war orders, and the two Democratic administrations were able to provide prosperous conditions primarily because of war or publicized threats of war. Readjustment from a war prosperity is a painful necessity—not a political weakness.

A favorite quip heard in Washington is: "When will the Republican administration be inaugurated?" Up to now, the government has been ruled in large part by Truman holdovers in many departments or by persons imbued with the philosophy of the preceding administrations, though they call themselves Republicans. While some of the recent appointees think they are making new policies, several of them find themselves struggling to keep the old, deep-seated policies from spilling over into worse "messes."

Thus the truth about the Korean "mess" has never been told. The facts as to the unpreparedness of the military services, and particularly of the joint chiefs of staff, for the sudden decision to intervene in Korea have never been revealed, though the blunder is almost as catastrophic as what happened to Pearl Harbor. There is still a tendency, moreover, to cover up and be secretive about the circumstances surrounding the forced entry of the United States into World War 2.

The same kind of cover-up has occurred with reference to the loss to the free world of China. Incidentally, some of the individuals who participated in that fiasco have been defended, and in certain cases promoted, by the Eisenhower administration to other posts, notwithstanding their faulty judgment.

Throughout the government departments the effort to uproot New Deal and Fair Deal policies that spell waste and "creeping Socialism" has met with frustration. Many of the Eisenhower appointees have chosen to be silent on the obstacles they find, when the need of the hour is for intensive exposure.

Naturally the old crowd of Trumanites want to squelch all investigating committees in Congress. But what is amazing is that some of the Eisenhower men seem to be willing to let bygones be bygones. Each administration should be held accountable for its acts to the American people. The present administration has never fully recognized its obligation to tell the voters what has happened behind the scenes—the truth all the way from tax frauds to coddling of Communists.

Mr. Eisenhower is a tragic prisoner of circumstances beyond his control. He wants to be nice to everybody—including his predecessors. But the truth has a way of forcing itself into the open, and Mr. Eisenhower's chances to extricate the country from the many "messes" his administration inherited lies in telling the whole revolting story, piece by piece.

The waste of American money abroad has been a scandal. The waste of money in the military services has been another scandal. The failure to provide ammunition to American boys in Korea is still another scandal. And the refusal—due to foreign dictation—to back up American troops on the firing line by giving them maximum power to fight the enemy is a story that has never been told in its entirety, though the public does know General MacArthur was summarily fired for daring to suggest that American boys be defended to the utmost in Korea.

The budget can't be balanced because the inherited commitments are beyond belief. The President is battling with critics who say he hasn't kept his campaign promises about balancing the budget, but Mr. Eisenhower has never revealed the true nature of the costly commitments made by the preceding administrations which make a balanced budget almost impossible for a long time to come.

Secrecy and diversion of attention to new legislative proposals will not eradicate the basic cancer—a personnel dedicated to spending, a personnel dedicated to policies that mean surrender of American interests all over the world, and a personnel that wants to give money to allies while getting little cooperation in return.

Foreign policy and domestic policy are interwoven, and any cold-blooded analysis of the facts—without wishful thinking—will reveal that the Eisenhower administration is up against a set of barriers that only an informed public opinion can help the President to break down. This is not a happy picture, but little good can come out of a glossing over of the facts.

Costa Rican President Newest Controversy in Latin America

By PAUL SANDERS

San Jose, Costa Rica, Jan. 6 (AP) — President Jose Figueres, a bantamweight with deceptively mild-looking light blue eyes, is Latin America's newest center of controversy.

Standing only 5 feet 3, Don Pepe (Joe), as he is usually called, has been president of tiny Costa Rica only a few weeks. His country, about half the size of Pennsylvania, has only 800,000 inhabitants. Its total armed force consists of about 800 men—600 police and 200 in an elite group called military police.

At 47 Figueres already has taken on the giant United Fruit Co. In negotiations to revise the firm's concession in Costa Rica. Don Pepe wants a 50-50 split in the Costa Rican profits. But, he says, talks are being handled in a way to demonstrate his country's "sense of responsibility" to the west.

"We don't want to give the Russians any propaganda weapons," Don Pepe said in an interview. He declined to discuss expropriation of United Fruit Co. land by the Communist-controlled government of Guatemala, but made clear he didn't believe expropriation was any way to settle problems.

Kicked Out Communism

Leader of a revoluion in 1948 which kicked organized Communism out of Costa Rica, Figueres has been blasted by the Reds from one side, and Latin American conservatives from the other.

Depending on where you sit, Figueres is a "New Deal" reformer or an impractical Socialist. Ask him just what he is politically, and he replies, "I'm a Democrat." He says he has studied Socialism a good deal, but "I don't believe in socialization."

Seeks U. S. Support

Figueres has bid for U. S. support in bringing what he calls "social justice" an an international scale tb the southern republics. He doesn't think that foreign capital, permanently settled, is good for underprivileged naions. Often it is a drain on a small nation, he believes.

Aid can come by loans and temporary investments, he contends, but the loans should be repaid, the temporary investments liquidated on equitable terms, and the "permanent" type of investments repatriated under agreements satisfactor to both sides.

He believes technical assistance should be continued and expanded because Latin America can make the most of her resources only through technical knowledge.

No Grave Problems

Costa Rica itself has no grave political problems. Figueres estimates the per capita income of his people is from 150 to 200 dollars a year. That looks good in some areas of Latin America, but to Figueres the national income is appallingly low.

The program of U. S-educated Figueres—he attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology — has a wide appeal in Costa Rica, which elected him to the presidency by a big majority and gave him the biggest margin in Congress any chief executive has had in this country.

Seven Schools Are Entered in Annual TB Press Project

Student journalists from seven schools in Ulster county have submitted entries to the annual School Press Project which is being directed in the County by the Ulster County TB and Health Association. The participating school papers featured in their December issues news and feature stories, editorials and cartoons on the following subjects: How Our County Fights TB and What Do We Know About TB.

The purpose of the project, which is co-sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press, is to cooperate with the schools in developing responsible citizens through stimulation of interest of students in what is being done and what can and should be done in their communities to solve an important public health problem—the control of tuberculosis. The project also provides students with an opportunity to promote good journalism.

Trip Is Conducted

This year, so that journalists could see at first hand what is being done in the county in tuberculosis control, a field trip to the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, the City Laboratory and the TB Association was sponsored by the Ulster County TB and Health Association. Through these visits students became better acquainted with the work of both the official and voluntary agencies.

Entries include school papers from the Myron J. Michael School and the George Washington School, Kingston, and from the high schools of Ellenville, Kerhonkson, New Paltz, Wallkill and Kingtson.

The following judges will meet at the County Building, 74 John street, Jan. 12 to select the outstanding entry from Ulster county: Miss Marianne Davis, society editor, Kingston Daily Freeman; Mrs. Joseph H. Hill, Christmas Seals chairman, town of Rosendale; Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County TB Hospital. The winning paper will be forwarded to the state association which will select nine entries to be sent to the National Tuberculosis Association for final judging. Evaluation will be based on evidence of understanding, originality, evidence of research, clear presentation and journalistic style.

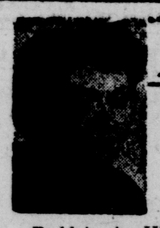
May Have Last Word

Santa Monica, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP)—Actor George Sanders beat Zsa Zsa Gabor to the punch when he sued her for divorce Nov. 2, but the Hungarian actress may have the last word, at that. Zsa Zsa filed a cross-complaint for divorce yesterday. She denied Sanders' charges of mental cruelty and in her complaint alleged that he caused her grievous mental distress and anguish. The actress' complaint said a property settlement had been agreed upon and would be executed before the divorce hearing. The couple separated last Oct. 20.



The Mature Parent

Child Needs Our Support Against Destructive Critics

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Buddy's six. His sister's three years younger. At home they get along fairly well; but take them to visit Grandma—and a demon takes Buddy over.

You can't leave him with Sister for a second. Spank him for pushing her off the piano bench — and five minutes later, he's back with new torments.

His mother dreads visits to her family, for Grandma and Aunt Clare are very critical. She writes, "They say I've made Buddy into a sneaky bully and that I've failed to train him properly."

So then we have two people in disgrace with the family. They don't approve Buddy, the bully, nor his mother, the weakling. So what about these two fellow victims of destructive criticism getting together, instead of one spanking the other?"

Who gets the approval in Grandma's house? Sister?

Not that this is important. What's important is that just as we don't take a stroll among cobras without a tube of anti-venom in our pocket, we don't go visiting destructive criticism without making some protective arrangements.

Just because Aunt Clare admires our new hat, we don't forget what we're up against.

Instead of being fascinated by her compliment, we ask Buddy to help us remove Sister's galoshes. Instead of entering into gossipy chitchat, we make chances for Buddy to demonstrate his helpfulness to us.

We don't allow our attenion to be lured away from the protective job in hand through talk that excludes him. So when Aunt Clare wants to engage us in some discussion of some new movie, we say, "I must see it. How about a game of Chinese checkers with me and Buddy?"

If by the end of our visit, we have shown consistent loyalty to our small ally against destructive criticism, we will not only have disproved it for him, but proved strength and wisdom for ourselves as well.

The trouble in these situations is our dream of perfect love from our relatives. Like Aunt Clare, they do not always give us perfect love, but sometimes enjoy watching us flounder in confusion and embarrassment.

When we meet this kind of joy in them, we have to be as firm with it as we would with anyone else's need to inflate themselves at our expense.

Just because we grew up with Aunt Clare, we don't have to trust the hatefulness behind her destructive criticism. If she were really interested in helping us, she'd find another technique than calling us "sneaks" and "failures."

So let's see that Buddy's battle is ours, too. Instead of spanking our fellow victim of hateful expectations, let's support him in the work of rejecting them for us both.

If we're in trouble, it's because we've let destructive criticism separate us from him.

Ignore Pickets for Bingo

Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 6 (AP)—Members of Local 801, International Union of Electric, Radio and Machine Workers, crossed a picket line in front of their own headquarters yesterday. While pickets slushed through the snow protesting the firing of two part-time bartenders at the union's recreation hall, fellow union members filed into the hall for their weekly bingo game. Pickets complained the bartenders were fired so the new local administration could hire personal friends for the jobs. Eugene Johnson, president of the local, said the men can appeal their firings.

Gekakis & Sabo File Bankruptcy Petition

New York, Jan. 6 (Special)—John J. Sabo, of Route 9W, Marlborough, and Gus Gekakis of RD 1, Newburgh, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court here Tuesday.

The petition was filed for themselves and for their firm, Gekakis & Sabo, a building and contracting business which they operated in Marlborough until December, 1951.

They listed joint liabilities totaling $17,607, of which $14,607 represents unsecured debts. They claim no assets.

Among their chief creditors are George J. Manuche of New Windsor, owed $2,669, and the Storm King Supply Company of Newburgh, with an unsecured debt of $1,800. In addition, Gekakis and Sabo owes about $3,000 in taxes.

The Mature Parent

Child Needs Our Support Against Destructive Critics

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Buddy's six. His sister's three years younger. At home they get along fairly well; but take them to visit Grandma—and a demon takes Buddy over.

You can't leave him with Sister for a second. Spank him for pushing her off the piano bench — and five minutes later, he's back with new torments.

His mother dreads visits to her family, for Grandma and Aunt Clare are very critical. She writes, "They say I've made Buddy into a sneaky bully and that I've failed to train him properly."

So then we have two people in disgrace with the family. They don't approve Buddy, the bully, nor his mother, the weakling. So what about these two fellow victims of destructive criticism getting together, instead of one spanking the other?"

Who gets the approval in Grandma's house? Sister?

Not that this is important. What's important is that just as we don't take a stroll among cobras without a tube of anti-venom in our pocket, we don't go visiting destructive criticism without making some protective arrangements.

Just because Aunt Clare admires our new hat, we don't forget what we're up against.

Instead of being fascinated by her compliment, we ask Buddy to help us remove Sister's galoshes. Instead of entering into gossipy chitchat, we make chances for Buddy to demonstrate his helpfulness to us.

We don't allow our attenion to be lured away from the protective job in hand through talk that excludes him. So when Aunt Clare wants to engage us in some discussion of some new movie, we say, "I must see it. How about a game of Chinese checkers with me and Buddy?"

If by the end of our visit, we have shown consistent loyalty to our small ally against destructive criticism, we will not only have disproved it for him, but proved strength and wisdom for ourselves as well.

The trouble in these situations is our dream of perfect love from our relatives. Like Aunt Clare, they do not always give us perfect love, but sometimes enjoy watching us flounder in confusion and embarrassment.

When we meet this kind of joy in them, we have to be as firm with it as we would with anyone else's need to inflate themselves at our expense.

Just because we grew up with Aunt Clare, we don't have to trust the hatefulness behind her destructive criticism. If she were really interested in helping us, she'd find another technique than calling us "sneaks" and "failures."

So let's see that Buddy's battle is ours, too. Instead of spanking our fellow victim of hateful expectations, let's support him in the work of rejecting them for us both.

If we're in trouble, it's because we've let destructive criticism separate us from him.

Ignore Pickets for Bingo

Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 6 (AP)—Members of Local 801, International Union of Electric, Radio and Machine Workers, crossed a picket line in front of their own headquarters yesterday. While pickets slushed through the snow protesting the firing of two part-time bartenders at the union's recreation hall, fellow union members filed into the hall for their weekly bingo game. Pickets complained the bartenders were fired so the new local administration could hire personal friends for the jobs. Eugene Johnson, president of the local, said the men can appeal their firings.

Gekakis & Sabo File Bankruptcy Petition

New York, Jan. 6 (Special)—John J. Sabo, of Route 9W, Marlborough, and Gus Gekakis of RD 1, Newburgh, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court here Tuesday.

The petition was filed for themselves and for their firm, Gekakis & Sabo, a building and contracting business which they operated in Marlborough until December, 1951.

They listed joint liabilities totaling $17,607, of which $14,607 represents unsecured debts. They claim no assets.

Among their chief creditors are George J. Manuche of New Windsor, owed $2,669, and the Storm King Supply Company of Newburgh, with an unsecured debt of $1,800. In addition, Gekakis and Sabo owes about $3,000 in taxes.

Death Valley Scotty Dies; Most Famous U. S. Prospector

WALTER SCOTT

Stovepipe Wells, Calif., Jan 6 (AP)—Death Valley Scotty died last night in his beloved castle, a three-million-dollar showplace in the desert wilderness.

Scotty, 81, was California's most famous prospector since the gold rush, and the adventuresome and mysterious tales of his gold strikes were legion.

Yet the only treasure he is is known to have come by was the wealth of his late friend and benefactor, Albert Mussey Johnson, Chicago insurance executive. Johnson kept him in style.

Dr. E. Vasse Wallace, of Las Vegas, Nev., said Scotty died of a gastro-intestinal hemorrhage. Wallace said he had been treating Scotty—whose true name was Walter Scott—for the past five years. Three years ago Scotty suffered a similar hemorrhage but recovered, Wallace said.

Health Was Good

Between seizures Scotty's health was good, the physician said He was able to greet visitors to the castle the day before his death.

Wallace said he was summoned yesterday afternoon and found Scotty in grave condition at the castle, 173 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

"I tried to get him into condition to be moved to a hospital in Las Vegas, but he did not rally," said the doctor.

Wallace said the colorful old desert rat was conscious until the end, and died quietly. At his bedside was Mary Liddecoat, president of the Gospel Foundation of California, who had been Scotty's constant companion during the last two years.

Johnson, actual owner of the castle, conveyed the property to the Gospel Foundation upon his death about six years ago. He provided, however, that Scotty was to live there the remainder of his life, if he desired, and a suite was maintained for him, said Walter Webb, business representative of the foundation.

Has Survivors

Scotty leaves a widow, Josephine Scott, 77, who has been living in Long Beach, Calif., for the last 18 years. A son, Navy Lt. Walter P. Scott, 39, who is stationed at the Naval Air Station, Oak Harbor, Wash., and two grandchildren, Walter P. Scott, Jr., 13, and Kathleen, 13.

Mrs. Scott told a reporter that she and Scotty had lived apart during most of their marriage. "We weren't estranged," she said. "We just lived apart. I haven't seen Walter for eight or nine years. I have high blood pressure and a bad heart and I can't take trips."

She said they were married in Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 5, 1900.

Ski Areas Get Snow

Boston, Jan. 6 (AP)—Ski areas of Vermont and New Hampshire which have been virtually without snow all season, got a break today. Snow fell on most of the New England states but only in those winter sports areas was any appreciable accumulation expected by the Weather Bureau. Elsewhere it turned to rain and sleet. The forecasters expected 2 to 4 inches in southern Vermont, 4 to 8 in northern Vermont and from 6 to 12 inches in the higher areas of New Hampshire.

Council Recesses

west of the city line for through buses which will not stop at Crown street."

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan's plan to improve the grading of Park street was referred to the Board of Public Works.

A bid by Fred J. Davi, of Glasco, for use of the municipal stadium for the 1954 season "to promote semi-pro baseball with the possibility of operating league baseball, was referred to the building committee.

Davi said he would like to meet with the committee as soon as possible to discuss rental, concession rights and other details.

An application by John L. MacKinnon for a business zone designation on the property at 2 Pearl street, was referred to the laws and rules committee.

Basten Is Appointed

Mayor Stang's letter announcing the reappointment of E. Van Dyck Basten, of 103 Emerson street, as city sealer of weights and measures, was read and filed.

The mayor in forwarding the request for the bond issues for street reconstruction, machinery and equipment, noted that the "majority of main arteries of travel have been placed in excellent condition and the BPW is in a position to concentrate its major efforts throughout residential areas."

Mrs. Bregman, in her appeal for a lower tax rate asked: "How come the city raises salaries, when we haven't got that much coming in." She asked the aldermen "to consider the taxpayers." She said she had tenants who were hard pressed because the brickyards were shut down, and she said of city employes, "if they can't work for that money why don't they go where they can get more."

Mrs. Bregman said it was not that she did not want to see the employes get more money, but she argued, "We can't pay it."

The "high (salaried) man," she felt, "should not receive any more than he is getting." She said it was her opinion that the salary raises were being allowed "without consent of the taxpayers. We can't stand any more than we have been," and she asked the council "to see that this should be adjusted."

Two Hurt as Cars Crash Tuesday

Two persons were injured in a three-car mishap at East Chester and Lincoln streets yesterday.

A police report at 2:01 p. m., said Henry Fischang, Jr., 29, of 55 Boulevard, was driving a pickup truck, owned by Len Sickler, of 133 Downs street, west on Lincoln street, at the time of the accident.

Rhoda Shaw, 65, of 70 Pine Grove avenue, was driving her sedan south on East Chester street, and the other car involved was the parked sedan of Louis Barone, 31, of PO Box 44, Glasco. The car was parked in front of Norm's diner, the report said.

Rhoda Shaw suffered an injury of the left side and Anna Hornbeck, 65, suffered a back injury, police said.

To Give Arterial Plans in Morning

Mayor Frederick H. Stang announced today that tentative arterial route plans for the city will be presented by the New York State Thruway Authority in the Common Council chamber, city hall, Friday, Jan. 15 at 10:30 a. m., instead of 2 p. m., as was previously announced.

These will be the first concrete plans offered by the state, the mayor said, and the city may accept, modify or reject them. Members of the Common Council, city and county officials and interested persons are expected to attend.

Severe Storms Lash Adriatic

London, Jan. 6 (AP)—Winter gales lashed the Adriatic sea into a boiling torrent that burst through dikes in the Po river delta of northern Italy today. Freezing temperatures put a thick coating of ice over most of the rest of western Europe.

In pre-dawn darkness, the Adriatic water poured inland, 3 feet deep, inundating five villages near Rovigo, scene of disastrous floods in November 1951.

The waters gushed over hundreds of acres of rich farm land and marooned shivering villagers on their rooftops. Hundreds were moved to higher ground.

In London, Berlin, Frankfurt, Brussels and Paris workers went cautiously to work along the ice-bound roads and streets, and huddled shivering in their warmest winter furs and woolens as temperatures slumped to the lowest mark for over a year.

The Po delta floods followed hard on the heels of northern Italy's worst snowstorm in 15 years. It blocked hundreds of miles of mountain roads and left scores of villages isolated.

Rail traffic was virtually paralyzed throughout northern Italy. Only 10 out of 70 trains bound for Venice ran yesterday.

Check Is Made

Newburgh, Jan. 5 (AP)—The air force was checking today whether any of its jet planes were responsible for the mysterious blast that startled residents for 15 miles around Middletown and Port Jervis yesterday. Some persons who called in to radio stations and to police said they heard two separate blasts and saw a flash of light. Others said they heard the sound of airplane engines and a single blast. State police said there was no blasting on construction projects in the area and were unable to locate the cause of the noise.

To Renovate Offices

Dr. Murray H. Greene has taken title to the duplex residence at 237-39 Wall street, it was announced today. Extensive renovations for modern offices are planned, it was said.

James A. Brice Is 'Critical' After Auto Accident

James A. Brice of Connelly, a railroad engineer at the Selkirk Yards near Albany, is still in "critical" condition at Albany General Hospital as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident just south of Albany in the early morning hours of January 1, The Freeman learned today.

The hospital reported early this afternoon that he was on the "critical list" but that his listing in that category was "fair."

James T. Brice, a junior at Kingston High School, told The Freeman his father broke both legs, both arms, both hips and seven ribs and had 49 stitches in his head.

Still in Coma

He said his father was a passenger in a car operated by Leonard Fross of Ravena who is still in a coma at the hospital with a broken hip, leg and arm and a blood clot on his brain.

Brice was on his way from the Selkirk Yards to the Selkirk YMCA at the time of the accident. Young Brice said cause of the accident, which is believed to have occurred about 1 a. m., is unknown, but that they "may have hit a tree." They are believed to have lain in the wreckage for a "couple of hours" before they were discovered, he said.

Petition for O. & W Filed

Middletown, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gov. Dewey was called on today to place the resources of the state behind a move to industrialize the countryside served by the bankrupt Ontario and Western Railroad. The 350-mile freight line runs from Weehawken, N. J., to Oswego, and has a branch off into Scranton, Pa. It is in danger of having to close down entirely. The Middletown Chamber of Commerce and other group along the right-of-way today filed a petition in Albany asking the road's economic potential be studied with a view of attracting new industry and capital.

Area Man Talks

Adams said she never saw Roosevelt in the White House, and that the only time she was there was in 1939 to lobby for a liberal cause.

Tells About Incident

She said that during World War 2 she relayed a message from Roosevelt to the then New York city mayor, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, that Browder would be released from prison on his birthday if a scheduled rally in his behalf was canceled.

A man, whom she described as a White House contact with minority groups, gave her this message. Roosevelt commuted Browder's four-year term on May 16, 1942, after he served 14 months.

Martin Makes a Point

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—The stock market maintained a steady base today with trading quiet after a brisk start.

Changes either way were in the small fractions—usually an eighth—with the plus signs slightly ahead.

Trading started fast and then tapered off to a quiet pace. American Telephone was on the tape with a block of 1,900 shares unchanged at 157, the biggest of the initial blocks traded.

Major divisions holding unchanged to higher were motors, rubbers, mail order issues, most railroads, oils, and motion pictures. Unchanged to lower were farm implements, aircrafts, tobaccos, utilities, and air lines. In the mixed category were steels, radio-televisions, coppers, and chemicals.

Serving Cube Steaks

When you are serving cube steaks, allow about a quarter pound for each person. The best way to cook the steaks is to brown them quickly in a little fat in a heavy skillet, then cook slowly for a minute or two. Sprinkle the steaks with salt and pepper after they are cooked.

Delicious Salad

Here's a delicious salad to serve with baked ham. Dice celery and add to diced canned pineapple; moisten the mayonnaise, spoon into lettuce cups and sprinkle with minced parsley. Or instead of the parsley garnish, sprinkle with chopped pecan nutmeats.

Yerry Is Elected Housing Chairman To Succeed Davis

At the annual meeting of the Kingston Housing Authority, Tuesday night, in the project office at Colonial Gardens, George E. Yerry, Jr., 133 Highland avenue, was elected chairman to replace Attorney Arthur A. Davis, who resigned after five years.

Yerry has served on the Authority since its institution in 1948.

In assuming the post vacated by Davis, Yerry said he was proud to have served with him, and added that Davis gave immeasurably of time, thought and effort to the housing project.

Davis was guest at a dinner given by the Authority at Leherb's.

It was stressed that Davis, an appointee of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, when the Authority was organized, would have continued as chairman if it were not for his assignment as county attorney, which he accepted from the board of supervisors.

To Name 5th Member

Davis' resignation handed in at the meeting was dated as of December 31. A successor has not been appointed, but Mayor Frederick H. Stang is expected to announce the name of a fifth member on the Housing Authority in the near future.

Other members of the Authority to serve under Yerry are Max Mones, vice chairman; George Chilson, treasurer; John DeGasperis, secretary and assistant treasurer. Attorney Harry Gold continues as counsel. All have served for five years.

All members of the Authority attended the Davis dinner as did Mayor Stang and former Mayor Newkirk, and Alex Yosman, project manager.

Yerry said he would continue to carry on the policies established through the direction of former chairman Davis.

Mahoney Elected Majority Leader Of State Senate

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—Walter J. Mahoney, 45-year-old Buffalo lawyer, today was formally elected Republican majority leader and temporary president of the Senate. In the latter capacity he will serve as acting lieutenant governor until a new one is elected and takes office next Jan. 1.

Mahoney succeeded Sen. Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, who resigned last November as an aftermath of a row with Gov. Dewey over Wicks' visits to labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay in Sing Sing Prison.

Wicks took his seat today as senator from the 35th District.

Choice Is Unanimous

After the special session of the Legislature in November, Mahoney was designated majority leader by his GOP Senate colleagues.

Today it was formalized with his unanimous election as president pro tem.

The Senate and Assembly convened separately shortly after 12 o'clock noon.

Walter Mahoney designated Sen. Frank S. McCullough of Rye to preside over the Senate for the initial session. Mahoney plans to remain in the well as floor leader.

Speaker Oswald D. Heck, despite an ulcerated heel, presided over the Assembly.

Rail Employes Honor Lewis

Harry W. Lewis of 15 Linwood Place, foreman at the West Shore Railroad freight house, was tendered a farewell party by the freight house employes on December 31, prior to his retirement from active service with the railroad.

Lewis entered the employ of the railroad as a freight checker on August 12, 1918, and later attained the position of foreman. At the present time he is "on vacation for a month," following which he will be retired.

Herbert Frost, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, of which Lewis is a member, presented the retiring railroader with a purse of money from his fellow employes, and Freight Agent J. Ebelheiser congratulated Lewis on his excellent record with the railroad.

Rapids to Elect Officers Thursday

Officers will be elected and plans made for the supper on Jan. 19 at the annual meeting of Rapid Hose Company in the firehouse on Hone street at 8 p. m., tomorrow. The place where the banquet is to he held will be decided on at the session.

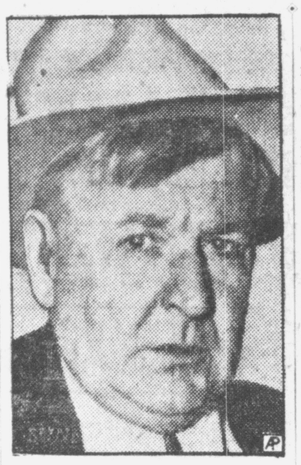
Death Valley Scotty Dies; Most Famous U. S. Prospector



WALTER SCOTT

Stovepipe Wells, Calif., Jan 6 (AP)—Death Valley Scotty died last night in his beloved castle, a three-million-dollar showplace in the desert wilderness.

Scotty, 81, was California's most famous prospector since the gold rush, and the adventuresome and mysterious tales of his gold strikes were legion.

Yet the only treasure he is is known to have come by was the wealth of his late friend and benefactor, Albert Mussey Johnson, Chicago insurance executive. Johnson kept him in style.

Dr. E. Vasse Wallace, of Las Vegas, Nev., said Scotty died of a gastro-intestinal hemorrhage. Wallace said he had been treating Scotty—whose true name was Walter Scott—for the past five years. Three years ago Scotty suffered a similar hemorrhage but recovered, Wallace said.

Health Was Good

Between seizures Scotty's health was good, the physician said He was able to greet visitors to the castle the day before his death.

Wallace said he was summoned yesterday afternoon and found Scotty in grave condition at the castle, 173 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

"I tried to get him into condition to be moved to a hospital in Las Vegas, but he did not rally," said the doctor.

Wallace said the colorful old desert rat was conscious until the end, and died quietly. At his bedside was Mary Liddecoat, president of the Gospel Foundation of California, who had been Scotty's constant companion during the last two years.

Johnson, actual owner of the castle, conveyed the property to the Gospel Foundation upon his death about six years ago. He provided, however, that Scotty was to live there the remainder of his life, if he desired, and a suite was maintained for him, said Walter Webb, business representative of the foundation.

Has Survivors

Scotty leaves a widow, Josephine Scott, 77, who has been living in Long Beach, Calif., for the last 18 years. A son, Navy Lt. Walter P. Scott, 39, who is stationed at the Naval Air Station, Oak Harbor, Wash., and two grandchildren, Walter P. Scott, Jr., 13, and Kathleen, 13.

Mrs. Scott told a reporter that she and Scotty had lived apart during most of their marriage. "We weren't estranged," she said. "We just lived apart. I haven't seen Walter for eight or nine years. I have high blood pressure and a bad heart and I can't take trips."

She said they were married in Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 5, 1900.

Ski Areas Get Snow

Boston, Jan. 6 (AP)—Ski areas of Vermont and New Hampshire which have been virtually without snow all season, got a break today. Snow fell on most of the New England states but only in those winter sports areas was any appreciable accumulation expected by the Weather Bureau. Elsewhere it turned to rain and sleet. The forecasters expected 2 to 4 inches in southern Vermont, 4 to 8 in northern Vermont and from 6 to 12 inches in the higher areas of New Hampshire.

Council Recesses

west of the city line for through buses which will not stop at Crown street."

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan's plan to improve the grading of Park street was referred to the Board of Public Works.

A bid by Fred J. Davi, of Glasco, for use of the municipal stadium for the 1954 season "to promote semi-pro baseball with the possibility of operating league baseball, was referred to the building committee.

Davi said he would like to meet with the committee as soon as possible to discuss rental, concession rights and other details.

An application by John L. MacKinnon for a business zone designation on the property at 2 Pearl street, was referred to the laws and rules committee.

Basten Is Appointed

Mayor Stang's letter announcing the reappointment of E. Van Dyck Basten, of 103 Emerson street, as city sealer of weights and measures, was read and filed.

The mayor in forwarding the request for the bond issues for street reconstruction, machinery and equipment, noted that the "majority of main arteries of travel have been placed in excellent condition and the BPW is in a position to concentrate its major efforts throughout residential areas."

Mrs. Bregman, in her appeal for a lower tax rate asked: "How come the city raises salaries, when we haven't got that much coming in." She asked the aldermen "to consider the taxpayers." She said she had tenants who were hard pressed because the brickyards were shut down, and she said of city employes, "if they can't work for that money why don't they go where they can get more."

Mrs. Bregman said it was not that she did not want to see the employes get more money, but she argued, "We can't pay it."

The "high (salaried) man," she felt, "should not receive any more than he is getting." She said it was her opinion that the salary raises were being allowed "without consent of the taxpayers. We can't stand any more than we have been," and she asked the council "to see that this should be adjusted."

Two Hurt as Cars Crash Tuesday

Two persons were injured in a three-car mishap at East Chester and Lincoln streets yesterday.

A police report at 2:01 p. m., said Henry Fischang, Jr., 29, of 55 Boulevard, was driving a pickup truck, owned by Len Sickler, of 133 Downs street, west on Lincoln street, at the time of the accident.

Rhoda Shaw, 65, of 70 Pine Grove avenue, was driving her sedan south on East Chester street, and the other car involved was the parked sedan of Louis Barone, 31, of PO Box 44, Glasco. The car was parked in front of Norm's diner, the report said.

Rhoda Shaw suffered an injury of the left side and Anna Hornbeck, 65, suffered a back injury, police said.

To Give Arterial Plans in Morning

Mayor Frederick H. Stang announced today that tentative arterial route plans for the city will be presented by the New York State Thruway Authority in the Common Council chamber, city hall, Friday, Jan. 15 at 10:30 a. m., instead of 2 p. m., as was previously announced.

These will be the first concrete plans offered by the state, the mayor said, and the city may accept, modify or reject them. Members of the Common Council, city and county officials and interested persons are expected to attend.

Severe Storms Lash Adriatic

London, Jan. 6 (AP)—Winter gales lashed the Adriatic sea into a boiling torrent that burst through dikes in the Po river delta of northern Italy today. Freezing temperatures put a thick coating of ice over most of the rest of western Europe.

In pre-dawn darkness, the Adriatic water poured inland, 3 feet deep, inundating five villages near Rovigo, scene of disastrous floods in November 1951.

The waters gushed over hundreds of acres of rich farm land and marooned shivering villagers on their rooftops. Hundreds were moved to higher ground.

In London, Berlin, Frankfurt, Brussels and Paris workers went cautiously to work along the icebound roads and streets, and huddled shivering in their warmest winter furs and woolens as temperatures slumped to the lowest mark for over a year.

The Po delta floods followed hard on the heels of northern Italy's worst snowstorm in 15 years. It blocked hundreds of miles of mountain roads and left scores of villages isolated.

Rail traffic was virtually paralyzed throughout northern Italy. Only 10 out of 70 trains bound for Venice ran yesterday.

Check Is Made

Newburgh, Jan. 5 (AP)—The air force was checking today whether any of its jet planes were responsible for the mysterious blast that startled residents for 15 miles around Middletown and Port Jervis yesterday. Some persons who called in to radio stations and to police said they heard two separate blasts and saw a flash of light. Others said they heard the sound of airplane engines and a single blast. State police said there was no blasting on construction projects in the area and were unable to locate the cause of the noise.

To Renovate Offices

Dr. Murray H. Greene has taken title to the duplex residence at 237-39 Wall street, it was announced today. Extensive renovations for modern offices are planned, it was said.

James A. Brice Is 'Critical' After Auto Accident

James A. Brice of Connelly, a railroad engineer at the Selkirk Yards near Albany, is still in "critical" condition at Albany General Hospital as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident just south of Albany in the early morning hours of January 1, The Freeman learned today.

The hospital reported early this afternoon that he was on the "critical list" but that his listing in that category was "fair."

James T. Brice, a junior at Kingston High School, told The Freeman his father broke both legs, both arms, both hips and seven ribs and had 49 stitches in his head.

Still in Coma

He said his father was a passenger in a car operated by Leonard Fross of Ravena who is still in a coma at the hospital with a broken hip, leg and arm and a blood clot on his brain.

Brice was on his way from the Selkirk Yards to the Selkirk YMCA at the time of the accident. Young Brice said cause of the accident, which is believed to have occurred about 1 a. m., is unknown, but that they "may have hit a tree." They are believed to have lain in the wreckage for a "couple of hours" before they were discovered, he said.

Petition for O. & W Filed

Middletown, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gov. Dewey was called on today to place the resources of the state behind a move to industrialize the countryside served by the bankrupt Ontario and Western Railroad. The 350-mile freight line runs from Weehawken, N. J., to Oswego, and has a branch off into Scranton, Pa. It is in danger of having to close down entirely. The Middletown Chamber of Commerce and other group along the right-of-way today filed a petition in Albany asking the road's economic potential be studied with a view of attracting new industry and capital.

Area Man Talks

Adams said she never saw Roosevelt in the White House, and that the only time she was there was in 1939 to lobby for a liberal cause.

Tells About Incident

She said that during World War 2 she relayed a message from Roosevelt to the then New York city mayor, Fiorello H. LaGuardia,, that Browder would be released from prison on his birthday if a scheduled rally in his behalf was canceled.

A man, whom she described as a White House contact with minority groups, gave her this message. Roosevelt commuted Browder's four-year term on May 16, 1942, after he served 14 months.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—The stock market maintained a steady base today with trading quiet after a brisk start.

Changes either way were in the small fractions—usually an eighth—with the plus signs slightly ahead.

Trading started fast and then tapered off to a quiet pace. American Telephone was on the tape with a block of 1,900 shares unchanged at 157, the biggest of the initial blocks traded.

Major divisions holding unchanged to higher were motors, rubbers, mail order issues, most railroads, oils, and motion pictures. Unchanged to lower were farm implements, aircrafts, tobaccos, utilities, and air lines. In the mixed category were steels, radio-televisions, coppers, and chemicals.

Serving Cube Steaks

When you are serving cube steaks, allow about a quarter pound for each person. The best way to cook the steaks is to brown them quickly in a little fat in a heavy skillet, then cook slowly for a minute or two. Sprinkle the steaks with salt and pepper after they are cooked.

Delicious Salad

Here's a delicious salad to serve with baked ham. Dice celery and add to diced canned pineapple; moisten the mayonnaise, spoon into lettuce cups and sprinkle with minced parsley. Or instead of the parsley garnish, sprinkle with chopped pecan nutmeats.

Yerry Is Elected Housing Chairman To Succeed Davis

At the annual meeting of the Kingston Housing Authority, Tuesday night, in the project office at Colonial Gardens, George E. Yerry, Jr., 133 Highland avenue, was elected chairman to replace Attorney Arthur A. Davis, who resigned after five years.

Yerry has served on the Authority since its institution in 1948.

In assuming the post vacated by Davis, Yerry said he was proud to have served with him, and added that Davis gave immeasurably of time, thought and effort to the housing project.

Davis was guest at a dinner given by the Authority at Leherb's.

It was stressed that Davis, an appointee of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, when the Authority was organized, would have continued as chairman if it were not for his assignment as county attorney, which he accepted from the board of supervisors.

To Name 5th Member

Davis' resignation handed in at the meeting was dated as of December 31. A successor has not been appointed, but Mayor Frederick H. Stang is expected to announce the name of a fifth member on the Housing Authority in the near future.

Other members of the Authority to serve under Yerry are Max Mones, vice chairman; George Chilson, treasurer; John DeGasperis, secretary and assistant treasurer. Attorney Harry Gold continues as counsel. All have served for five years.

All members of the Authority attended the Davis dinner as did Mayor Stang and former Mayor Newkirk, and Alex Yosman, project manager.

Yerry said he would continue to carry on the policies established through the direction of former chairman Davis.

Mahoney Elected Majority Leader Of State Senate

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—Walter J. Mahoney, 45-year-old Buffalo lawyer, today was formally elected Republican majority leader and temporary president of the Senate. In the latter capacity he will serve as acting lieutenant governor until a new one is elected and takes office next Jan. 1.

Mahoney succeeded Sen. Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, who resigned last November as an aftermath of a row with Gov. Dewey over Wicks' visits to labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay in Sing Sing Prison.

Wicks took his seat today as senator from the 35th District.

Choice Is Unanimous

After the special session of the Legislature in November, Mahoney was designated majority leader by his GOP Senate colleagues.

Today it was formalized with his unanimous election as president pro tem.

The Senate and Assembly convened separately shortly after 12 o'clock noon.

Walter Mahoney designated Sen. Frank S. McCullough of Rye to preside over the Senate for the initial session. Mahoney plans to remain in the well as floor leader.

Speaker Oswald D. Heck, despite an ulcerated heel, presided over the Assembly.

Rail Employes Honor Lewis

Harry W. Lewis of 15 Linwood Place, foreman at the West Shore Railroad freight house, was tendered a farewell party by the freight house employes on December 31, prior to his retirement from active service with the railroad.

Lewis entered the employ of the railroad as a freight checker on August 12, 1918, and later attained the position of foreman. At the present time he is "on vacation for a month," following which he will be retired.

Herbert Frost, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, of which Lewis is a member, presented the retiring railroader with a purse of money from his fellow employes, and Freight Agent J. Ebelheiser congratulated Lewis on his excellent record with the railroad.

Rapids to Elect Officers Thursday

Officers will be elected and plans made for the supper on Jan. 19 at the annual meeting of Rapid Hose Company in the firehouse on Hone street at 8 p. m., tomorrow. The place where the banquet is to he held will be decided on at the session.

Lions Hear About Teacher Problems

Problems confronting the teaching profession today were outlined by Harry Streifer, English teacher at Kingston High School, in a talk Tuesday noon at the regular meeting of the Lions Club in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Stressing the importance of the teacher in the educational system today, Streifer noted that the country as a whole is faced with a serious shortage of teachers due to low salaries offered.

Streifer also remarked on trends in education, noting that several decades ago many youngsters went to work at an early age, whereas today the majority stay in school until they are 16 or 17 years old.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Married in Hurry

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 6 (AP)—Theodore East and Miss Eldena street stopped in a cafe for a cup of coffee but got married there instead. Another coffee customer, R. K. Black, a practicing lawyer but also an ordained minister, said he heard them remark that they had the license but hadn't made arrangements for a wedding. He offered to marry them at once, without charge. With Black reciting the ceremony from memory, they were married behind the counter with coffee urns beside them instead of bridesmaid and best man. They left in a shower of rice hastily requisitioned from the kitchen.

Remove Fingerprints

Once a week wipe off finger marks from doors, woodwork and painted walls, if you want to keep your house looking shipshape. Use a damp cloth wrung out of water in which you've dissolved some sudsy detergent.

UNCLE EF

If you're sensitive about knock-knees, says Miss Sarah Trotter, never propose to a girl in the wintertime unless you remember what she looked like in last summer's bathing suit or shorts.

Lower Mail Expense

Washington, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Post Office Department said today the record volume of mail in the Christmas season was handled at a cost approximately $4,800,000 lower than during the 1952 holiday period. The department said a telegraphic poll of 100 of the nation's largest post offices confirmed last week's estimate that the 1953 volume ran about 4 per cent higher than the year before. Mailings between Oct. 1 and Dec. 27, 1953, were estimated at 9,200,000,000 pieces. Postmaster General Summerfield asserted in a statement that the time worked in the 100 largest offices, whose receipts normally account for about 60 per cent of the national total, was some 4½ million hours less than last year.

Our word "chocolate" comes from the Aztec "chocolatl."

Burroughs Society Helps Count Birds

The John Burroughs Natural History Society participated in the annual Christmas Bird Count sponsored by the National Audubon Society. This Christmas count has been made yearly for 54 years and each year more groups of bird watchers join it.

Last year 5,887 people covered 54,500 miles and took note of more than 12 million birds all over the country. A study of reports sent to the National Audubon Society supplies facts about the movement of bird populations and are considered of important because birds consume large quantities of insects, rodents and weed seeds.

Five Major Areas Covered

Five major areas were covered by members of the local group. Neil Croom, Ralph Johnson and Dr. Robert W. Pyle covered the New Paltz area; Daniel Smiley, Jr., and others, the Lake Mohonk area; Fred Hough, Kripplebush; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunbar and Thomas Morgan, Marbletown; A. H. VanValkenburgh, Dr. A. M. Cragin and Walter Chaskel, Kingston Point and Ponckhockie.

Last year the local society noted 34 different species, of which the highest count was 155 robins. Strangely enough, among the 44 species counted this year, not a single robin was reported. The starling was the most numerous.

Various Types of Birds

Birds seen this year were:

Birds normally with us summer and winter—cardinal, grouse, gull, black duck, long-eared owl, chickadee, white breasted nuthatch, pileated, downy and hairy woodpeckers, goldfinch, crow, English sparrow, starling, jay, purple finch, pheasant, tufted tifmouse, cedar waxwing, barn owl.

Those which normally only spend the winter with us—golden-crowned kinglet, scaup and goldeneye ducks, American merganser, horned grebe, pied-billed grebe, snow bunting, junco, tree sparrow, brown-creeper, winter wren.

Those which usually migrate, but a few may winter with us—sparrow and red-tailed hawks, bluebird, white-throated, song, swamp and Savannah, sparrows, meadowlark, mourning dove, grackle, and myrtle warbler.

Two unusual visitors seen were the dickcissel and migrant shrike.

A few days before the bird count was made, L. V. Bogert reported a snowy owl at Kingston Point. This owl was later seen also by Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar.

Celery Is What the Boss Pays You

As you may have noticed, I haven't mentioned my Aunt Frieda's cooking in several weeks.

Here's way . . .

On a Thursday night about a

On a Thursday night about a month ago, as per long custom, I went down to my aunt's flat on Rivington street for my weekly quota of rolled pot roast stuffed with mushrooms and onions. When my Uncle Charlie opened the door, however, his face was as long as a legal paper, and the aroma coming from the kitchen smelled like swamp water.

"What's cooking?" I said.

"What's cooking is for a moo-cow," said Charlie.

I walked into the kitchen.

"What goes?" I asked my aunt.

"As usual, dinner," said Frieda. "Tonight the menu is including spinach, soybean cutlet, and for dessert a helping blackstripe molasses."

"I thought Thursday was rolled beef," I said.

"Meat is for lepers and other types wild animals," said my aunt. "Nature is not intending for humans to eat meat."

"If nature is not intending for us to eat meat," said my uncle, "then how come she is inventing ketchup?"

"Stop making riddles and drink the carrot juice," said Frieda.

"In my opinion," said Charlie earnestly, "carrot juice is not good for Jewish people."

"Since when have you been serving health foods?" I asked my aunt.

"Since a week," said Frieda. "It happens I am reading a old book by a certain Gaylord Hauser, and it is for me a eye-opening. The book is 'Eat and Grow Beautiful,' and it is telling how people are digging graves with their own teeth.

"The book is also explaining," my aunt went on, "why, when Charlie is finished with the supper, he is snoozling on the couch and acting in general like a damp blanket."

"It is no secret why I am laying down," said Charlie. "It is because I am tired standing up."

"Button the lip," said Frieda, "and eat a cup wheat germs."

"For variety," said Charlie, "maybe you got a little fresh seaweed."

I started to put on my coat.

"Ain't you sticking for supper?" said my aunt.

"Can't," I said. "I have a business appointment . . ."

Three Thursdays later, my uncle telephoned. "Is happy days again," he said. "Frieda tonight is roasting a goose with brandy apples."

My appetite akimbo, I made a beeline for Rivington street, and I'd like to get it into the record that the noble bird, as roasted by Frieda that night, would have made buddies of Malenkov and McCarthy.

When the meal was over, Charlie waved his toothpick happily at me.

"Hence and forward, in this house," he said, "celery is what the boss pays you, and a calorie is a place where they hang pictures."

"Catch a small snooze," said Frieda to my uncle. "I will personally take off the shoes."

A quarter-hour later, Charlie was, as the saying goes, dead to the world.

"What made you decide to go back to regular cooking?" I asked my aunt.

"From experience," said Frieda, "I am finding that a husband with too much vim and vinegar is not good for a marriage."

"How do you figure that?"

"By what happened to Charlie," said my aunt. "After two weeks eating health foods, he is losing ten pounds and is no more snoozling on the couch when the supper is finished. In fact, he is feeling so peppy that for three nights running he is taking me to Sadie Banks' Old Roumania for dancing and kicking up the heels. When he is suggesting a number four, I am naturally saying no—a pair legs, you should pardon the expression, is not lasting indefinite.

"So, for a week I am staying in the flat and Charlie is going out, and soon I am realizing that a house without a husband is like a plate borscht without a boiled potato. Particularly when I am finding out—"

"You don't mean—" I said.

"I do mean," said Frieda. "A mutual acquaintance is informing that the skinny Charlie is every night tut-a-tutting with the widow Slifkin on Delancey street who is feeding him chicken breasts in white wine. So I am having to make up the mind quick—either I go see Greenspan, the lawyer, or Schlagel, the butcher. Well, I am deciding on the butcher."

"I think you made the right decision," I said.

"You live and get smart," said Frieda. "It's like this with marriage. A skinny husband is nice the first year, but when is over the honeymoon, it is better he should have a little flesh. In my opinion, the reason we got so much divorce and running around these days is that too many husbands is eating vitamins."

"I have slipped this hand into my duplicate games many times," writes my friend, Walter Bonyun, of Brooklyn, "and the result is usually quite tame. Occasionally, however, it produces fireworks.

"West always opens the jack of hearts against three no-trump, as he is intended to do. East always wins with the ace. If East then tamely returns a heart, South has all the time in the world to develop dummy's diamonds. Declarer makes five diamonds, two hearts, and the two black aces.

"In some cases East switches to a spade at the second trick. South must jump up with the ace of spades in order to begin the diamonds before dummy's ace of clubs is removed. If South finesses the queen of spades, West can win and return a club. If South jumps up with the ace of spades, however, he makes his contract by developing the diamonds at once.

"Once in a great while we find an East player who is daring enough to return the king of clubs at the second trick. This forces out dummy's ace before declarer has been able to establish the diamonds. East then refuses to take the first diamond trick. South is apparently limited to three club tricks, two diamonds, two hearts, and one spade.

"Once, and only once, we had an exchange of brilliancies when both South and East were very fine players. East won the first trick with the ace of hearts and duly returned the king of clubs.

"This put South on his mettle. He won the second trick with dummy's ace of clubs, got to his hand with the queen of clubs and led the queen of diamonds for a finesse. East naturally held off, but South was well aware of what was going on. He knew that East wouldn't have led the king of clubs without a sure stopper in the threatening diamond suit.

"So South continued with a diamond to the ace, after which he took the top hearts and the jack of clubs. His final step was to exit with the nine of clubs, allowing West to win with the ten. West could cash his last heart but then had to lead spades up to declarer's ace-queen, and these two spade tricks were enough to give South his contract."

Draperies and Curtain to Match

Draperies and glass curtains used together at a window should be similar in feeling. Chintz draperies, for instance, look attractive with glass curtain of marquisette or organdy. Draperies of a heavy material such as denim combine well with glass curtains of theatrical gauze or fish net.

Celery Is What the Boss Pays You

As you may have noticed, I haven't mentioned my Aunt Frieda's cooking in several weeks.

Here's way . . .

On a Thursday night about a

On a Thursday night about a month ago, as per long custom, I went down to my aunt's flat on Rivington street for my weekly quota of rolled pot roast stuffed with mushrooms and onions. When my Uncle Charlie opened the door, however, his face was as long as a legal paper, and the aroma coming from the kitchen smelled like swamp water.

"What's cooking?" I said.

"What's cooking is for a moo-cow," said Charlie.

I walked into the kitchen.

"What goes?" I asked my aunt.

"As usual, dinner," said Frieda. "Tonight the menu is including spinach, soybean cutlet, and for dessert a helping blackstripe molasses."

"I thought Thursday was rolled beef," I said.

"Meat is for lepers and other types wild animals," said my aunt. "Nature is not intending for humans to eat meat."

"If nature is not intending for us to eat meat," said my uncle, "then how come she is inventing ketchup?"

"Stop making riddles and drink the carrot juice," said Frieda.

"In my opinion," said Charlie earnestly, "carrot juice is not good for Jewish people."

"Since when have you been serving health foods?" I asked my aunt.

"Since a week," said Frieda. "It happens I am reading a old book by a certain Gaylord Hauser, and it is for me a eye-opening. The book is 'Eat and Grow Beautiful,' and it is telling how people are digging graves with their own teeth.

"The book is also explaining," my aunt went on, "why, when Charlie is finished with the supper, he is snoozling on the couch and acting in general like a damp blanket."

"It is no secret why I am laying down," said Charlie. "It is because I am tired standing up."

"Button the lip," said Frieda, "and eat a cup wheat germs."

"For variety," said Charlie, "maybe you got a little fresh seaweed."

I started to put on my coat.

"Ain't you sticking for supper?" said my aunt.

"Can't," I said. "I have a business appointment . . ."

Three Thursdays later, my uncle telephoned. "Is happy days again," he said. "Frieda tonight is roasting a goose with brandy apples."

My appetite akimbo, I made a beeline for Rivington street, and I'd like to get it into the record that the noble bird, as roasted by Frieda that night, would have made buddies of Malenkov and McCarthy.

When the meal was over, Charlie waved his toothpick happily at me.

"Hence and forward, in this house," he said, "celery is what the boss pays you, and a calorie is a place where they hang pictures."

"Catch a small snooze," said Frieda to my uncle. "I will personally take off the shoes."

A quarter-hour later, Charlie was, as the saying goes, dead to the world.

"What made you decide to go back to regular cooking?" I asked my aunt.

"From experience," said Frieda, "I am finding that a husband with too much vim and vinegar is not good for a marriage."

"How do you figure that?"

"By what happened to Charlie," said my aunt. "After two weeks eating health foods, he is losing ten pounds and is no more snoozling on the couch when the supper is finished. In fact, he is feeling so peppy that for three nights running he is taking me to Sadie Banks' Old Roumania for dancing and kicking up the heels. When he is suggesting a number four, I am naturally saying no—a pair legs, you should pardon the expression, is not lasting indefinite.

"So, for a week I am staying in the flat and Charlie is going out, and soon I am realizing that a house without a husband is like a plate borscht without a boiled potato. Particularly when I am finding out—"

"You don't mean—" I said.

"I do mean," said Frieda. "A mutual acquaintance is informing that the skinny Charlie is every night tut-a-tutting with the widow Slifkin on Delancey street who is feeding him chicken breasts in white wine. So I am having to make up the mind quick—either I go see Greenspan, the lawyer, or Schlagel, the butcher. Well, I am deciding on the butcher."

"I think you made the right decision," I said.

"You live and get smart," said Frieda. "It's like this with marriage. A skinny husband is nice the first year, but when is over the honeymoon, it is better he should have a little flesh. In my opinion, the reason we got so much divorce and running around these days is that too many husbands is eating vitamins."

"I have slipped this hand into my duplicate games many times," writes my friend, Walter Bonyun, of Brooklyn, "and the result is usually quite tame. Occasionally, however, it produces fireworks.

"West always opens the jack of hearts against three no-trump, as he is intended to do. East always wins with the ace. If East then tamely returns a heart, South has all the time in the world to develop dummy's diamonds. Declarer makes five diamonds, two hearts, and the two black aces.

"In some cases East switches to a spade at the second trick. South must jump up with the ace of spades in order to begin the diamonds before dummy's ace of clubs is removed. If South finesses the queen of spades, West can win and return a club. If South jumps up with the ace of spades, however, he makes his contract by developing the diamonds at once.

"Once in a great while we find an East player who is daring enough to return the king of clubs at the second trick. This forces out dummy's ace before declarer has been able to establish the diamonds. East then refuses to take the first diamond trick. South is apparently limited to three club tricks, two diamonds, two hearts, and one spade.

"Once, and only once, we had an exchange of brilliancies when both South and East were very fine players. East won the first trick with the ace of hearts and duly returned the king of clubs.

"This put South on his mettle. He won the second trick with dummy's ace of clubs, got to his hand with the queen of clubs and led the queen of diamonds for a finesse. East naturally held off, but South was well aware of what was going on. He knew that East wouldn't have led the king of clubs without a sure stopper in the threatening diamond suit.

"So South continued with a diamond to the ace, after which he took the top hearts and the jack of clubs. His final step was to exit with the nine of clubs, allowing West to win with the ten. West could cash his last heart but then had to lead spades up to declarer's ace-queen, and these two spade tricks were enough to give South his contract."

Draperies and Curtain to Match

Draperies and glass curtains used together at a window should be similar in feeling. Chintz draperies, for instance, look attractive with glass curtain of marquisette or organdy. Draperies of a heavy material such as denim combine well with glass curtains of theatrical gauze or fish net.

Million Promised ILA if Strike Is Called on Docks

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers was reported today to have promised a strike fund of one million dollars to the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) if it calls a dock walkout in a move to win bargaining recognition.

The ILA, locked in a struggle with the new ILA-AFL for control of waterfront labor, has hinted at a strike if the National Labor Relations Board sets aside a representation election in which the ILA is leading.

Reports of the promise of funds were carried by the New York Herald Tribune and the Daily News.

The Herald Tribune said Lewis guaranteed a million-dollar strike fund to the ILA "if it carries out its threat to strike for bargaining certification by the National Labor Relations Board."

The promise of funds was made at a recent Washington meeting of Lewis and a high ILA official, the story added.

Gave $50,000 Once

Lewis gave the ILA $50,000 for its campaign against the ILA-AFL for the dock representation election Dec. 22 and 23.

The Herald Tribune said "the one million dollar backing will enable the orphaned ILA to call an immediate strike should the labor board invalidate last month's bargaining election."

"Invalidation of the election would probably lead to an immediate strike as well as quick affiliation of the old ILA with Mr. Lewis' union," the story added.

No comment on the newspaper reports was immediately available from any official of the unions involved who would be quoted by name.

Bradley for Hook-up

ILA President William V. Bradley has said he favors affiliation of the ILA with the United Mine Workers, an independent union, if the ILA wins the bargaining election. He emphasized recently that no commitment had been made on this point.

The 60-year-old ILA was ousted from the AFL last September for failure to clean out criminal and racketeering elements. The AFL then set up the ILA-AFL to challenge the old ILA for control of waterfront labor.

The ILA-AFL—backed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey—has demanded that the NLRB set aside the representation election on the grounds that it was marked by violence, coercion and intimidation. Dewey has called the ILA a "ruthless mob."

The election among dock workers in the Port of New York gave the ILA 9,060 votes to 7,568 for the ILA-AFL—a lead of 1,492. There are 4,397 challenged ballots holding up the final results. The ILA-AFL wants the election set aside before decision is made on the challenges, saying that tactics of waterfront racketeers prevented a free expression of the workers' will.

Outlives Policy

Salt Lake City, Jan. 6 (AP)—A 96-year-old Salt Lake City man yesterday became the beneficiary of his own life insurance policy. The man, Sereno B. Tuttle, took out the policy in 1884. His premium payments ended in 1899. The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York said Tuttle had outlived the life span covered by mortality tables. The insurance firm said Tuttle named himself as beneficiary of the $1,500 policy when he took it out 69 years ago.

Floods Strike German Coast

Flood water from storm-whipped Kiel harbor roll over waterfront area of the North German city in winter's worst onslaught. A yacht club landing in background, normally well above water, is threatened by the rising tide. Kiel and other cities along German Baltic coast, as well as part of Scandinavia, England and Holland were battered by the wind-driven blizzards and floods which caused considerable damage. (AP Photo by radio from Frankfurt)

GOP to Celebrate

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—New York state Republicans will hold a special 100th anniversary celebration in conjunction with their state convention next fall. Rep. Dean P. Taylor, GOP state chairman, said yesterday the affair would be one of two celebrations of the party's anniversary. The other will be the annual state committee dinner May 6 at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York city. The Legislature sets the date for the Republican state convention.

Gets Cavalier Award

Chicago, Jan. 6 (AP)—W. E. S. Griswold, Jr., of New York was awarded the home furnishing industry's annual Cavalier Award Tuesday. Griswold is president of W. & J. Sloane and a former president of the National Furniture Assn. The award has been presented annually for 18 years to the merchant who "through the conduct of his business best served his industry, his community and his country in the year."

Mrs. Van Nuys Dies at 90

Atascabero, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Ida Turner Van Nuys, 90, member of the pioneer family after which the San Fernando valley city of Van Nuys was named, died yesterday at the home of her son after a long illness. The Van Nuys family came to California from Philadelphia in 1904 and still owns considerable property here.

Why We Say--

When something comes to a slow end, it is said to "peter out". The expression started with early gold mining where saltpetre was used in blasting. When the gold supply was exhausted, there was no need for further blasting.

Fire on Elevated

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Southbound elevated service on the IRT White Plains line was halted above 149th street for 15 minutes last night when power was shut off to enable firemen to fight a blaze. The fire occurred beneath the tracks, which slope downward to enter the subway at that point, in the rear of the Charles Leinhop wholesale meat market, 454 Westchester avenue, the Bronx. Power was off from 7:29 p. m. to 7:44 p. m.

Should Close Tight

The door of your refrigerator should close tightly on a piece of paper. If the paper slips out easily, have the door strip replaced. Otherwise, you will waste fuel.

Dusting a ceiling requires care if streaks are to be avoided.

Returns on Seals Sale Are Needed

It is not too late to send in the money for Christmas Seals, James L. Rowe, Christmas Seals sale chairman said today. He reported that returns in the tuberculosis and health campaign for funds to fight TB and build health in Ulster county are now beginning to lag. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Association on Tuesday, Chairman Rowe reported that $24,145.48 has been received up to the close of the Seal sale on December 31, and late returns are still coming in.

Plans for an intensified program to find unknown cases of tuberculosis in Ulster county were made. A community chest X-ray survey will be held in cooperation with the Ulster county and state departments of health during September of 1954.

The rehabilitation program being demonstrated at the Ulster County TB Hospital with Mrs. Leila Hardie, counselor, will be continued. A report of the Mental Health Committee—Dr. Edward F. Shea, chairman, was also made. This committee plan to carry on a mental health institute for lay and professional people during the early spring, as well as other activities. A report of various community and school health education projects was given by the Misses Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary, and Mary Mossman, health education assistant. All of these projects will be financed by funds contributed by county residents through the Christmas Seals sale just concluded. Chairman Rowe urged that all delayed returns be sent in as soon as possible.

Youngster Gets $29,000

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Bronx Supreme Court Justice Thomas J. Brady awarded $29,000 in damages yesterday to 6-year-old Mario Ortiz, Jr., of 3780 Park avenue, the Bronx, for injuries suffered when the youngster was struck by an automobile at 171st street and Park avenue, in the Bronx last March 20. The driver of the automobile was James Wright, of 178-07 119th Road, St. Albans, Queens. The boy suffered a concussion and cerebral hemorhage in the accident.

Million Promised ILA if Strike Is Called on Docks

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers was reported today to have promised a strike fund of one million dollars to the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) if it calls a dock walkout in a move to win bargaining recognition.

The ILA, locked in a struggle with the new ILA-AFL for control of waterfront labor, has hinted at a strike if the National Labor Relations Board sets aside a representation election in which the ILA is leading.

Reports of the promise of funds were carried by the New York Herald Tribune and the Daily News.

The Herald Tribune said Lewis guaranteed a million-dollar strike fund to the ILA "if it carries out its threat to strike for bargaining certification by the National Labor Relations Board."

The promise of funds was made at a recent Washington meeting of Lewis and a high ILA official, the story added.

Gave $50,000 Once

Lewis gave the ILA $50,000 for its campaign against the ILA-AFL for the dock representation election Dec. 22 and 23.

The Herald Tribune said "the one million dollar backing will enable the orphaned ILA to call an immediate strike should the labor board invalidate last month's bargaining election."

"Invalidation of the election would probably lead to an immediate strike as well as quick affiliation of the old ILA with Mr. Lewis' union," the story added.

No comment on the newspaper reports was immediately available from any official of the unions involved who would be quoted by name.

Bradley for Hook-up

ILA President William V. Bradley has said he favors affiliation of the ILA with the United Mine Workers, an independent union, if the ILA wins the bargaining election. He emphasized recently that no commitment had been made on this point.

The 60-year-old ILA was ousted from the AFL last September for failure to clean out criminal and racketeering elements. The AFL then set up the ILA-AFL to challenge the old ILA for control of waterfront labor.

The ILA-AFL—backed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey—has demanded that the NLRB set aside the representation election on the grounds that it was marked by violence, coercion and intimidation. Dewey has called the ILA a "ruthless mob."

The election among dock workers in the Port of New York gave the ILA 9,060 votes to 7,568 for the ILA-AFL—a lead of 1,492. There are 4,397 challenged ballots holding up the final results. The ILA-AFL wants the election set aside before decision is made on the challenges, saying that tactics of waterfront racketeers prevented a free expression of the workers' will.

Outlives Policy

Salt Lake City, Jan. 6 (AP)—A 96-year-old Salt Lake City man yesterday became the beneficiary of his own life insurance policy. The man, Sereno B. Tuttle, took out the policy in 1884. His premium payments ended in 1899. The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York said Tuttle had outlived the life span covered by mortality tables. The insurance firm said Tuttle named himself as beneficiary of the $1,500 policy when he took it out 69 years ago.

Floods Strike German Coast

Flood water from storm-whipped Kiel harbor roll over waterfront area of the North German city in winter's worst onslaught. A yacht club landing in background, normally well above water, is threatened by the rising tide. Kiel and other cities along German Baltic coast, as well as part of Scandinavia, England and Holland were battered by the wind-driven blizzards and floods which caused considerable damage. (AP Photo by radio from Frankfurt)

GOP to Celebrate

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—New York state Republicans will hold a special 100th anniversary celebration in conjunction with their state convention next fall. Rep. Dean P. Taylor, GOP state chairman, said yesterday the affair would be one of two celebrations of the party's anniversary. The other will be the annual state committee dinner May 6 at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York city. The Legislature sets the date for the Republican state convention.

Gets Cavalier Award

Chicago, Jan. 6 (AP)—W. E. S. Griswold, Jr., of New York was awarded the home furnishing industry's annual Cavalier Award Tuesday. Griswold is president of W. & J. Sloane and a former president of the National Furniture Assn. The award has been presented annually for 18 years to the merchant who "through the conduct of his business best served his industry, his community and his country in the year."

Mrs. Van Nuys Dies at 90

Atascabero, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Ida Turner Van Nuys, 90, member of the pioneer family after which the San Fernando valley city of Van Nuys was named, died yesterday at the home of her son after a long illness. The Van Nuys family came to California from Philadelphia in 1904 and still owns considerable property here.

Why We Say--

When something comes to a slow end, it is said to "peter out". The expression started with early gold mining where saltpetre was used in blasting. When the gold supply was exhausted, there was no need for further blasting.

Fire on Elevated

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Southbound elevated service on the IRT White Plains line was halted above 149th street for 15 minutes last night when power was shut off to enable firemen to fight a blaze. The fire occurred beneath the tracks, which slope downward to enter the subway at that point, in the rear of the Charles Leinhop wholesale meat market, 454 Westchester avenue, the Bronx. Power was off from 7:29 p. m. to 7:44 p. m.

Should Close Tight

The door of your refrigerator should close tightly on a piece of paper. If the paper slips out easily, have the door strip replaced. Otherwise, you will waste fuel.

Dusting a ceiling requires care if streaks are to be avoided.

Returns on Seals Sale Are Needed

It is not too late to send in the money for Christmas Seals, James L. Rowe, Christmas Seals sale chairman said today. He reported that returns in the tuberculosis and health campaign for funds to fight TB and build health in Ulster county are now beginning to lag. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Association on Tuesday, Chairman Rowe reported that $24,145.48 has been received up to the close of the Seal sale on December 31, and late returns are still coming in.

Plans for an intensified program to find unknown cases of tuberculosis in Ulster county were made. A community chest X-ray survey will be held in cooperation with the Ulster county and state departments of health during September of 1954.

The rehabilitation program being demonstrated at the Ulster County TB Hospital with Mrs. Leila Hardie, counselor, will be continued. A report of the Mental Health Committee—Dr. Edward F. Shea, chairman, was also made. This committee plan to carry on a mental health institute for lay and professional people during the early spring, as well as other activities. A report of various community and school health education projects was given by the Misses Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary, and Mary Mossman, health education assistant. All of these projects will be financed by funds contributed by county residents through the Christmas Seals sale just concluded. Chairman Rowe urged that all delayed returns be sent in as soon as possible.

Youngster Gets $29,000

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Bronx Supreme Court Justice Thomas J. Brady awarded $29,000 in damages yesterday to 6-year-old Mario Ortiz, Jr., of 3780 Park avenue, the Bronx, for injuries suffered when the youngster was struck by an automobile at 171st street and Park avenue, in the Bronx last March 20. The driver of the automobile was James Wright, of 178-07 119th Road, St. Albans, Queens. The boy suffered a concussion and cerebral hemorhage in the accident.

Two Legion Groups Entertain Children At Annual Party

The annual Christmas party for children of the Mother Cabrini School, West Park, and those of the Children's Home, Kingston, was held jointly by Kingston Post 150, American Legion, and Ulster County Voiture, 40 & 8, Saturday morning at the Kingston Recreation Center on Broadway, downtown.

Approximately 225 youngsters were greeted at the center by committees from Kingston Post and 40 & 8, which is affiliated with the Legion and stresses the child welfare program of the veterans' organization. William McNamee was chairman, with members Ervin DeWitt, James Costello, Frank Bruno, Andrew Murphy 3d, Thomas Bohan, Paul Hyatt, Alton Feistel, and Legion Commander Thomas Saccoman.

The recreation program consisted of two movies, a songfest, with popular music and Christmas songs led by Thomas Mahoney and Helen Murphy on the accordion, and the arrival of Santa Claus who brought each child a gift and a box of candy.

Refreshments were served to the youngsters by a committee composed of the Mmes. William McNamee, Myrtle Carey, Andrew Murphy 3d, Edward Snyder, Augustus Winters, Henry Schmidt, Jules Albertini, Ira Maurer and Alton Feistel.

The 40 and 8 locomotive which escorted the buses was driven by Anthony Alecca with Chef de Gare Charles Atkins as guide. The members of the 40 and 8 assisted at the party.

This party, an annual affair begun several years ago, is a part of the Child Welfare program of the two organizations. In addition, the Legion services local veterans in hospitals during the Christmas season, joins with other posts in helping the Albany Veterans Hospital throughout the holidays, and gives assistance to needy families in the city and county throughout the year.

YMCA Youth Center To Have Tournaments And Dances Weekly

The YMCA Youth Center dances are now in full swing for the 1954 season. The high school age group sessions are on Saturdays starting at 8 p. m. The junior high school age groups meet every Friday night at 7 and continue to 10 o'clock.

Members of the high school freshman class that do not attend the Saturday night dances are invited to participate on Friday. Music for these dances are by latest recordings.

The YMCA Youth Center will hold special dances following all home games played in basketball by the high school varsity. Louis H. Schafer general secretary, Edward Brouck and W. L. Burnett are the three main supervisors for these dance groups. Assistance on door and recording machine is given by Louis Hornbeck, Roger Snyder along with members of the dance committee.

The youth center committee for both night's dance groups has decided to promote tournaments in the game room division while others are dancing. Tournaments will be held for both boys and girls in ping pong. Boys will also have a nightly pocket billiard tournament. Other tournament matches will be promoted as quickly as interest is shown.

Personal Notes

Married at St. Peter's Church

Miss G. M. Diamond, Donald J. Gallagher United in Marriage

Miss Gertrude Marie Diamond of 21 Hanratty street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Diamond, became the bride of Donald Joseph Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher of 140 Murray street, Saturday, Jan. 2, at 10 a. m. at St. Peter's Church. The Rev. Carroll, assistant pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony and was the celebrant of the nuptial Mass.

Miss Nan Goldrick was organist, and Miss C. Perry was soloist. The church was decorated with white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly type lace, styled with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a bateau neckline. Her full floor length skirt paneled in lace and tulle terminated in a sweep train. A bridal cap of matching lace secured her three quarter length French illusion veil.

Mrs. Ralph Garofalo was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Mary Diamond, sister of the bride, and Miss Rosemary, Terpening, both of Kingston, were the bridesmaids. Their gowns were of nylon net fashioned with molded bodices and bouffant handkerchief tiered skirts. Mrs. Garofalo's was of lavender, Miss Diamond's of rippled green, and Miss Terpening's of sun maize. Lace capes and matching half hats completed their ensembles.

William Reilly of Kingston was best man. Henry Diamond, brother of the bride, and John Turck were ushers.

A reception was held at the Alpine for 85 guests following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of St. Peter's School and Kingston High School, class of 1951. She is employed at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Mary's School and Kingston High School, class of 1951, and is employed at American Cleaners and Dyers.

RESTAURANT MANNERS

A reader explains: "My husband and I went out to a restaurant to dinner last evening. It was a rather small restaurant with no headwaiter to show us to a table. When we arrived, all the tables were taken and we had to wait. After waiting 20 minutes, I noticed that one couple had finished their dinner but were just sitting smoking and talking. I went over to the table and said that we had been waiting a long time for a table and that if they had finished eating, we would very much like their table. They left promptly. When we sat down, my husband told me in no uncertain tones that I had no right to speak as I did and that I had embarrassed him. Was I out of order in making such a request?"

It was unusal, but considering that there was no headwaiter to hint to the couple that they were keeping you waiting, and if you spoke in a quiet tone of voice, and briefly, as you report, I do not think you were very far "out of order."

Asking Return of Letters

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancee has recently broken our engagement. She has returned the engagement ring to me, but has not returned any of the letters I had written to her. As they are rather personal, I would like very much to have them returned. Would it be proper to write and ask her to return them?

Answer: Certainly, you may write and ask her for them if you want them very much—if you have returned any letters she had written to you.

Answering Cocktail Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just received an invitation to a cocktail party. It is written on one of those fold-over cards, which I believe are called "informals," and asks for a reply. Will you please tell me the proper way to reply to such an invitation?

Answer: Write on your own visiting card, "Accept with pleasure, or "Regret unable to accept" and the date.

What size should table napkins be, and how should they be folded? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but you will find the answer to the above question included in leaflet E-32, "Table Linen." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y.

The YMCA Youth Center dances are now in full swing for the 1954 season. The high school age group sessions are on Saturdays starting at 8 p. m. The junior high school age groups meet every Friday night at 7 and continue to 10 o'clock.

Members of the high school freshman class that do not attend the Saturday night dances are invited to participate on Friday. Music for these dances are by latest recordings.

The YMCA Youth Center will hold special dances following all home games played in basketball by the high school varsity. Louis H. Schafer general secretary, Edward Brouck and W. L. Burnett are the three main supervisors for these dance groups. Assistance on door and recording machine is given by Louis Hornbeck, Roger Snyder along with members of the dance committee.

The youth center committee for both night's dance groups has decided to promote tournaments in the game room division while others are dancing. Tournaments will be held for both boys and girls in ping pong. Boys will also have a nightly pocket billiard tournament. Other tournament matches will be promoted as quickly as interest is shown.

Married at St. Peter's Church

Miss G. M. Diamond, Donald J. Gallagher United in Marriage

Miss Gertrude Marie Diamond of 21 Hanratty street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Diamond, became the bride of Donald Joseph Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher of 140 Murray street, Saturday, Jan. 2, at 10 a. m. at St. Peter's Church. The Rev. Carroll, assistant pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony and was the celebrant of the nuptial Mass.

Miss Nan Goldrick was organist, and Miss C. Perry was soloist. The church was decorated with white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly type lace, styled with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a bateau neckline. Her full floor length skirt paneled in lace and tulle terminated in a sweep train. A bridal cap of matching lace secured her three quarter length French illusion veil.

Mrs. Ralph Garofalo was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Mary Diamond, sister of the bride, and Miss Rosemary, Terpening, both of Kingston, were the bridesmaids. Their gowns were of nylon net fashioned with molded bodices and bouffant handkerchief tiered skirts. Mrs. Garofalo's was of lavender, Miss Diamond's of rippled green, and Miss Terpening's of sun maize. Lace capes and matching half hats completed their ensembles.

William Reilly of Kingston was best man. Henry Diamond, brother of the bride, and John Turck were ushers.

A reception was held at the Alpine for 85 guests following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of St. Peter's School and Kingston High School, class of 1951. She is employed at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Mary's School and Kingston High School, class of 1951, and is employed at American Cleaners and Dyers.

RESTAURANT MANNERS

A reader explains: "My husband and I went out to a restaurant to dinner last evening. It was a rather small restaurant with no headwaiter to show us to a table. When we arrived, all the tables were taken and we had to wait. After waiting 20 minutes, I noticed that one couple had finished their dinner but were just sitting smoking and talking. I went over to the table and said that we had been waiting a long time for a table and that if they had finished eating, we would very much like their table. They left promptly. When we sat down, my husband told me in no uncertain tones that I had no right to speak as I did and that I had embarrassed him. Was I out of order in making such a request?"

It was unusal, but considering that there was no headwaiter to hint to the couple that they were keeping you waiting, and if you spoke in a quiet tone of voice, and briefly, as you report, I do not think you were very far "out of order."

Asking Return of Letters

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancee has recently broken our engagement. She has returned the engagement ring to me, but has not returned any of the letters I had written to her. As they are rather personal, I would like very much to have them returned. Would it be proper to write and ask her to return them?

Answer: Certainly, you may write and ask her for them if you want them very much—if you have returned any letters she had written to you.

Answering Cocktail Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just received an invitation to a cocktail party. It is written on one of those fold-over cards, which I believe are called "informals," and asks for a reply. Will you please tell me the proper way to reply to such an invitation?

Answer: Write on your own visiting card, "Accept with pleasure, or "Regret unable to accept" and the date.

What size should table napkins be, and how should they be folded? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but you will find the answer to the above question included in leaflet E-32, "Table Linen." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y.

Pains, distress of "those days" stopped or amazingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in doctors' tests!

• Here's wonderful news for women and girls who — each month — suffer the tortures of "bad days" of functionally-caused menstrual cramps and pain — headaches, backaches, and those "no-good," dragged-out feelings.

It's news about a medicine famous for relieving such suffering!

Here is the exciting news. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — gave complete or striking relief of such distress in an average of 3 out of 4 of the cases in doctors' tests!

Yes! Lydia Pinkham's has been proved to be scientifically modern in action!

This news will not surprise the thousands of women and girls who take Lydia Pinkham's regularly and know the relief it can bring.

And it should encourage you (if you're not taking Lydia Pinkham's) to see if your experience doesn't match theirs . . . to see if you, too, don't avoid the nervousness and tension, weakness, irritability — and pain—so often associated with "those days"!

How Lydia Pinkham's works
It has a "calming" and soothing effect on the uterus . . . quieting the contractions (see the chart) that so often cause menstrual pain, cramps, other distress.

Remember Pinkham's, too — if you're suffering the "hot flashes" and other functionally-caused distress of "change of life."

Get Lydia Pinkham's Compound or new, improved Tablets with added iron (trial size only 59¢). Start taking Pinkham's today!

Mrs. F. Holcomb, Sr. Announces Ball Funds To Promote Services

Mrs. Frederic Holcomb, Sr., chairman of the Kingston Hospital dance committee announced that plans for the annual ball to be held Saturday, Feb. 6 at the Governor Clinton Hotel are now being completed.

The dance, always a highlight of the winter season, is held annually by the Auxiliary to raise funds to promote various services towards the welfare of hospital patients.

Since 1894, when the Auxiliary was formed, it has given continual service to the community through the hospital. This year a new service is being organized. It is a volunteer service through which Auxiliary members will serve morning and afternoon five days a week in assisting in the reception room, delivering mail, arranging flowers, transporting patients to and from the X-ray department, relieving nurses and giving them more time to donate to the actual nursing care of patients.

Serving on the committee with Mrs. Holcomb are: Mrs. George C. Rifenbary, music; Mrs. James E. Norton, tickets; Mrs. John B. Wilkie, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur W. Hazenbush, door; Mrs. Peter D. Corsones, publicity.

Local News Analyst To End Forecasts Of Headlines to Come

FREDERIC SNYDER

Frederic Snyder of Kingston, lecturer and world traveler, has found his way to a writeup on the pages of the New Yorker magazine of January 2, with his "Keeping Ahead of the Headlines," or "The Lash in a Newsflash."

In a page devoted to the uncanny "oral prewritings," a Snyder coined term, the New Yorker said of Snyder:

"'Take 1953. A most successful year for my pre-index of the news. Last January, for the first time, I devised a little jingle as a sort of key to my pre-index. I said 'Mark the "V" and watch the sea in '53.' Groans on all sides! Universal embarrassment! The A.P. man in Kingston asked me how he could put anything so silly on the wire. Two weeks later, the ferry, Princess Victoria,'. . . and here Snyder made a "V" with his fingers—went down in the Irish Sea, and here he splashed vigorously and beamed. 'What a year it was for the sea!' . . ."

Clue To 1954

The New Yorker scored several more in the right pre-writing column for Mr. Snyder, then concluded with a request for a clue to 1954.

"Had Snyder a key to his pre-index? He had. '. . . I urge you to keep an eye out for two words.' What were they? 'Polar! Solar! Polar and Solar!'"

A more extensive and thorough report may be gained from reading the sketch in the magazine, but the widespread influence of Snyder prewritings is clearly indicated by the attention given his pronouncements.

He has given notice via the Perry Record, a newspaper in Perry, N. Y. that he intends to discontinue the forecasts of coming events" after three decades of conspicuous success in predicting things to come."

However, Mr. Snyder has every intention of continuing with his lectures and is, in fact, to give one tomorrow for the Wiltwyck Chapter of the DAR at 2:30 p. m. at the Chapter House. Further dates are taken by the YWCA and Kiwanis International, forecasting a busy season for Mr. Snyder in Kingston.

Walter Seaman Announces Meeting of Cancer Society

A meeting has been called by Walter Seaman of Highland, president of the Ulster County Branch of the American Cancer Society for Wednesday, Jan 13, at 12:15 p. m. at the Hotel Kirkland.

The purpose of the meeting will be to adopt a new set of by-laws and to conduct other pertinent business. Mr. Seaman is expected to conduct the meeting, which is also for the board of directors of the Society.

Marjorie Bateman Gives Training Course To Ulster Scout Heads

Girl Scout leaders in Ulster county are benefiting from an unusually fine leaders' training course during the month of January. Ulster County Council has arranged to have Miss Marjorie Bateman of the National Training Division give courses in both Kingston and Ellenville. The council feels very fortunate to have obtained Miss Bateman as she is considered the leading trainer in the country.

Miss Bateman was a member of the Camp Edith Macy staff for some time. She also headed the National Training Division of the National Organization. Miss Bateman has been a frequent contributor to the Leaders Magazine as well as the author of many of the leader guides and training aids. Prior to her visit here Miss Bateman has been in Bermuda where she has been giving training to girl guides.

The course opened in Kingston, for leaders in that area, at St. John's Church on January 5 and will be continued there on January 7 and 13. In Ellenville, the Wawarsing district and New Paltz area, will meet at the Methodist Church. The Ellenville course opened on January 6 and will be continued on the 12th and 14th. Those who attended the first sessions are most enthusiastic it was announced. Many new ideas and plans have been suggested and all leaders are looking forward to the remainder of the course under Miss Bateman's tutelage, the council said.

"'Take 1953. A most successful year for my pre-index of the news. Last January, for the first time, I devised a little jingle as a sort of key to my pre-index. I said 'Mark the "V" and watch the sea in '53.' Groans on all sides! Universal embarrassment! The A.P. man in Kingston asked me how he could put anything so silly on the wire. Two weeks later, the ferry, Princess Victoria,'...and here Snyder made a "V" with his fingers—went down in the Irish Sea, and here he splashed vigorously and beamed. 'What a year it was for the sea!' . . ."

Clue To 1954

The New Yorker scored several more in the right pre-writing column for Mr. Snyder, then concluded with a request for a clue to 1954.

"Had Snyder a key to his pre-index? He had. '. . .I urge you to keep an eye out for two words.' What were they? 'Polar! Solar! Polar and Solar!' "

A more extensive and thorough report may be gained from reading the sketch in the magazine, but the widespread influence of Snyder prewritings is clearly indicated by the attention given his pronouncements.

He has given notice via the Perry Record, a newspaper in Perry, N. Y. that he intends to discontinue the forecasts of coming events" after three decades of conspicuous success in predicting things to come."

However, Mr. Snyder has every intention of continuing with his lectures and is, in fact, to give one tomorrow for the Wiltwyck Chapter of the DAR at 2:30 p. m. at the Chapter House. Further dates are taken by the YWCA and Kiwanis International, forecasting a busy season for Mr. Snyder in Kingston.

Walter Seaman Announces Meeting of Cancer Society

A meeting has been called by Walter Seaman of Highland, president of the Ulster County Branch of the American Cancer Society for Wednesday, Jan 13, at 12:15 p. m. at the Hotel Kirkland.

The purpose of the meeting will be to adopt a new set of by-laws and to conduct other pertinent business. Mr. Seaman is expected to conduct the meeting, which is also for the board of directors of the Society.

Marjorie Bateman Gives Training Course To Ulster Scout Heads

Girl Scout leaders in Ulster county are benefiting from an unusually fine leaders' training course during the month of January. Ulster County Council has arranged to have Miss Marjorie Bateman of the National Training Division give courses in both Kingston and Ellenville. The council feels very fortunate to have obtained Miss Bateman as she is considered the leading trainer in the country.

Miss Bateman was a member of the Camp Edith Macy staff for some time. She also headed the National Training Division of the National Organization. Miss Bateman has been a frequent contributor to the Leaders Magazine as well as the author of many of the leader guides and training aids. Prior to her visit here Miss Bateman has been in Bermuda where she has been giving training to girl guides.

The course opened in Kingston, for leaders in that area, at St. John's Church on January 5 and will be continued there on January 7 and 13. In Ellenville, the Wawarsing district and New Paltz area, will meet at the Methodist Church. The Ellenville course opened on January 6 and will be continued on the 12th and 14th. Those who attended the first sessions are most enthusiastic it was announced. Many new ideas and plans have been suggested and all leaders are looking forward to the remainder of the course under Miss Bateman's tutelage, the council said.

The most unfortunate letter in the alphabet, some say, is the letter "e", because it's always out of "cash" forever in "debt", and never out of "danger".

That's all true. Still, it's never in "war", the commencement of "ease", and the end of "trouble".

Without it there would be no "life", no "heaven". It is the center of "honesty", and "endeavor" and the end of "failure".

Dewey Asks . . .

a local option basis, and other reforms in the election law.

Dewey made no recommendations for a pay increase for state employes but that is expected in a special message dealing with state workers which he said he would send to the Legislature.

As an indication of the importance he attached to the subject, Dewey led off his 11,000-word message with his plea for action to raise the standards of ethics of state and local office-holders and political leaders.

Race Scandals in Mind

He may have had in mind the recent harness-racing scandals at Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceways and the fact that several fellow Republicans, including two prominent party leaders, were shown to have held raceway stock.

Dewey also may have had in mind the case of Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston Republican, when he spoke of "impropriety." He forced the resignation of Wicks as Senate leader in November on the ground that Wicks' visits to labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay at Sing Sing prison made Wicks unfit to pilot the GOP majority and serve as acting lieutenant governor.

Moreover, Dewey probably was anticipating Democratic attacks in the Legislature and was trying to soften the political blows.

The governor recommended the establishment of a special committee of the Legislature to:

"Define by appropriate legislation those business and professional activities which are improper for government and party officers. This legislation should obviously include the areas of legislative and administrative control over the licensing or regulation of business and the sale of goods or services to government or its agencies.

On Private Practice

"Develop legislation dealing with the question of private practice before state agencies by public officers.

"Promulgate a code of ethics with respect to genuine conflicts of interest which may arise for public or party officers, between their business or professional interests and their public duties."

"A continuing problem of all free governments," Dewey told the Legislature, "is the maintenance in public affairs of moral and ethical standards which are worthy and warrant the confidence of the people."

He said the problem of ethical standards was "not the simple issue of bribery and corruption, on which there is no difference of opinion; it involves a whole range of borderline behavior, questions of propriety; and the question of conflict of interests."

"The people are entitled to know," the governor said, "that no genuine conflict of interest exists among their public servants. They are also entitled to know that no selfish motive is permissible which interferes with the high-minded and honorable conduct of public affairs."

Ideal Is Cited

"Ideally," he went on, "all government officers should be without personal interest in matters they may be called upon to decide. In a society as complex as ours, however, this is obviously impossible, since everyone has an interest in every action of government."

For example, he said, "every legislation is bound to be affected personally, to a greater or less degree, when he votes on a tax law, on a rent-control bill or even on motor vehicle regulation. These effects are unavoidable. . . ."

Moreover, "a long list of professions and occupations . . . are licensed and some are regulated. Many of those engaged in licensed occupations are members of our Legislature. They are frequently called upon to vote on matters affecting their own occupation.

"Many businesses, from banks and insurance companies to utilities and liquor enterprises, are similarly licensed and regulated by the state. Should all branches of government be deprived of the services of citizens who happen to be their stockholders, officers, agents or counsel?"

Dewey held that "government should not be deprived of the services of all but princes and paupers," but he said:

"The problem is to separate the unavoidable conflicts of interests from the venal and the doubtful; to chart the shadowlands of conduct where men of good will may have difficulty in deciding whether a course is proper or improper . . . we must regulate, on a practical basis, those conflicts . . ."

He said it was his "earnest hope" that establishment of a legislative committee "may be completed and acted upon at this session of the Legislature."

Committee Is Praised

Concern for the integrity of government "also calls for constant alertness and vigorous investigation if we are to correct evil situations not adequately dealt with by present law," Dewey said. He cited as "a good example" the work of a legislative committee in exposing charity rackets.

He cited also the Moreland Act Commission investigation of the harness racing scandals. The commission will propose legislation for action at this session.

To supplant the present three-man state harness racing commission, Dewey has appointed George P. Monaghan, former New York city police commissioner, as the "czar" of the sport. He told the lawmakers that "much more legislation will be necessary before we can consider the subject adequately covered."

Must Be Reconciled

The conduct of investigations "must be reconciled with the rights of individuals," Dewey said. He added:

"Few of us question the great public value of the public exposure of rascality and subversion. Yet many earnest citizens are concerned lest accused witnesses be denied the right of reply and other protections of the individual against his own government. Questions arise and answers are confused in an atmosphere of smear, counter-smear, headlines and fragmentary information.

The governor recommended enactment of legislation to establish "a code of fair procedure in our civil rights law governing the conduct of legislative and executive investigations."

In urging a 350-million-dollar bond issue for construction of additional mental hospital facilities over a period of years, Dewey said.

"The patient population is now increasing at a net rate of three thousand a year . . . the staggering needs for facilities can no longer be met out of current revenues, and the only course open . . . is a bond issue."

Payment Method Offered

Dewey proposed that the bond issue, which is subject to approval by the voters, be paid off from war bonus levies, consisting of 10 per cent of the full rate of income tax and a penny-a-pack levy on cigarettes. He said "these revenues are sufficient to retire the remaining veteran bonus bonds on schedule and finance the new mental hospital bond issue on a reasonably short-term basis," perhaps 10 years.

The governor told the Legislature that mounting costs had made balancing the budget extremely difficult. He said balancing the 1954-55 budget without increasing tax rates would "require the greatest restraint," but "it is my hope that this can be done."

One of his problems is where to find a mandated 13-million-dollar increase in state aid for education, the governor said.

Inflationary pressures and larger enrollments in school "require our reconsideration of state aid to education," Dewey declared.

He proposed establishment of a temporary state commission on educational finances to study the problem, which includes widely varying real estate assessment procedures throughout the state. The commission would report next year.

Meanwhile, Dewey announced, he is having a study made that will lead to early emergency relief for hard-hit school districts.

In urging a public-housing bond issue, Dewey said there was real need, despite considerable accomplishment in this field, to "raise our goals still higher."

On Health Front

On the health front, Dewey recommended establishment of a permanent local mental-health service, "with necessary state aid," and an appropriation of about 2 million dollars for the state cancer hospital in Buffalo. Stress will be on research aimed at determining whether cigarette-smoking can cause lung cancer.

Chief Talks to Man Held in Theft

Fourth Suspect

$1.42-an-hour checker in the heavily guarded plant which makes the government's currency. The 6-foot-1 Landis was held in $50,000 bail on a currency theft charge.

Landis' pretty, 26-year-old wife, Mamie, whom he married when she was 14, was held in $10,000 bail in spite of her firm denial of any knowledge about the theft.

William Giles, 27, the flagpole painter, who freely admitted driving with the Landises to the Fauquier county, Va., tenant cabin of Irving Grant in an effort to hide $95,000 of the "hot" currency.

All three were charged with violating a law which prohibits taking money from the federal government.

Admits Theft

Officials said Landis admitted stealing 8,000 new $20 bills from their paper coverings and stuffing plain paper in their place. The dummy packages weren't discovered until the New Year weekend was over.

"I did it for the future of my family," said Giles, whose arraignment was scheduled today (time uncertain). "I can't give them all the things I want to give them."

Virginia state police said Mrs. Landis' father agreed—when one of his visitors produced a gun—to hide the money after his daughter and her companions dropped in on him Sunday night.

Then, till dawn, he wrestled with his conscience and fear of the law. He told his wife what had happened. She had a heart attack. Finally Grant went to a telephone. He had, he told the police, "a big pile of treasury money"—and was "scared to death."

The hunt was on. Landis — who'd been one of five major suspects all along, the Secret Service said—was picked up at work. And resignedly led agents to a dark corner of the building where another $32,000 was found.

$1,300 in Apartment

His wife was arrested in their apartment where agents said $1,300 was recovered.

Finally the diminutive Giles, who paints water colors as a hobby, dropped in at a tavern he favors. Agents were waiting.

What became of the still missing $31,700?

Chief U. E. Baughman of the Secret Service said he didn't think it all had been spent—though the Landises lived high between New Year's Eve and the time of their arrest five days later, buying among other things a 1953 Oldsmobile.

"It is possible," Baughman told reporters, "that a fourth person took part in the theft and received a good share of the remaining money."

Police and secret service men hunted two new suspects last night in nearby Maryland after getting a tip that two men had been seen flashing $20 bills there Monday night.

The Secret Service head expressed disbelief of Landis' story that he was only a pawn in the crime—that somebody who didn't work in the bureau planned it and actually removed most of the money past the armed guards who patrol every exit.

"We have other information," Baughman said, "that Landis owns a suit coat which has special pockets built inside the tails."

With the money packed neatly in these pockets, the Secret Service man said, Landis might have strolled past the guards without causing suspicion.

Heiress Is Firm On Marriage Plans

Edinburgh, Scotland, Jan. 6 (AP)—Maria Isabella Patino, runaway heiress to a Bolivian tin fortune, appealed today against a court order temporarily banning her marriage to the handsome son of a London hotel man.

The appeal will be heard tomorrow by Edinburgh's Court of Sessions. If it goes through there will be nothing to stop the young couple from marrying immediately.

Lawyers for the 18-year-old beauty and the man of her heart, James Goldsmith, 20, entered the appeal against an "interim injunction" which the Scottish Court of Sessions granted yesterday to her father, tin magnate Antenor Patino.

The raven-haired Isabelle and Goldsmith, 20, already have fulfilled Scottish residential requirements for marriage so all that would remain for them to do would be to pick up the marriage license withheld by the injunction.

The South American multi-millionaire claims his daughter is too young to marry. He has spent three weeks trying to find her and talk her out of the marriage.

To Call Upon McCarthy

Washington, Jan. 6 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said today he will invite Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to tell the Senate whether he uses "rehashed' plagiarized" information in his claimed exposure of Communists in government. McCarthy, without specifically mentioning Ellender's announced plan to urge that the Senate cut McCarthy's investigating funds "down to size," said that if Democrats win in such a move "it will be the most pyrrhic victory they ever won. . . . A victory in which you destroy yourself."

Governor Again Asks Compulsory Auto Insurance

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gov. Dewey, in his annual message to the Legislature today, again recommended compulsory automobile insurance.

He pressed the same proposal upon the Legislature last winter but it was shelved.

He did not propose compulsory periodical inspection of motor vehicles, as he had last year. The subject could be covered, however, in a special message.

Dewey said:

"Once again I urge action on the problem of the uninsured and financially irresponsible motorist. Well over 90 per cent of the drivers in New York state carry some form of liability insurance."

Insurance companies are reported to be opposed to Dewey's compulsory automobile liability insurance program, one insurance group has proposed issuance of low-cost insurance that would protect motorists involved in accidents with uninsured vehicles.

Horns Are Placed In 4 Fire Houses

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today that air horns have been installed to replace the old bells in four city firehouses.

The horns are now working at Wiltwyck station and at the Cordts, Rapid and Excelsior firehouses. Bells are still to be replaced at Cornell station. Union and Twaalfskill firehouses and an older type horn is to be replaced by a new one at the Wicks engine house.

The old bell system was more than a half century old and had been causing trouble at some of the fire houses.

Chief Murphy has suggested that some of the bells be set up as memorials to volunteers in the city, but no definite action has been taken on this, to date.

Port Jervis Soldier Now Listed as Dead

Cpl. Robert F. Reil, son of Mrs. Rosella Reil, 217 West Main street, who has been missing in action in Korea for more than one year, is now listed as dead, the army announced in Washington Tuesday.

Cpl. Reil's name was one of several on a list of army personnel who have been missing in action in Korea and in whose cases a presumptive finding of death now has been made, the Associated Press reported.

Dewey Asks . . .

a local option basis, and other reforms in the election law.

Dewey made no recommendations for a pay increase for state employes but that is expected in a special message dealing with state workers which he said he would send to the Legislature.

As an indication of the importance he attached to the subject, Dewey led off his 11,000-word message with his plea for action to raise the standards of ethics of state and local office-holders and political leaders.

Race Scandals in Mind

He may have had in mind the recent harness-racing scandals at Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceways and the fact that several fellow Republicans, including two prominent party leaders, were shown to have held raceway stock.

Dewey also may have had in mind the case of Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston Republican, when he spoke of "impropriety." He forced the resignation of Wicks as Senate leader in November on the ground that Wicks' visits to labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay at Sing Sing prison made Wicks unfit to pilot the GOP majority and serve as acting lieutenant governor.

Moreover, Dewey probably was anticipating Democratic attacks in the Legislature and was trying to soften the political blows.

The governor recommended the establishment of a special committee of the Legislature to:

"Define by appropriate legislation those business and professional activities which are improper for government and party officers. This legislation should obviously include the areas of legislative and administrative control over the licensing or regulation of business and the sale of goods or services to government or its agencies.

On Private Practice

"Develop legislation dealing with the question of private practice before state agencies by public officers.

"Promulgate a code of ethics with respect to genuine conflicts of interest which may arise for public or party officers, between their business or professional interests and their public duties."

"A continuing problem of all free governments," Dewey told the Legislature, "is the maintenance in public affairs of moral and ethical standards which are worthy and warrant the confidence of the people."

He said the problem of ethical standards was "not the simple issue of bribery and corruption, on which there is no difference of opinion; it involves a whole range of borderline behavior, questions of propriety; and the question of conflict of interests."

"The people are entitled to know," the governor said, "that no genuine conflict of interest exists among their public servants. They are also entitled to know that no selfish motive is permissible which interferes with the high-minded and honorable conduct of public affairs."

Ideal Is Cited

"Ideally," he went on, "all government officers should be without personal interest in matters they may be called upon to decide. In a society as complex as ours, however, this is obviously impossible, since everyone has an interest in every action of government."

For example, he said, "every legislation is bound to be affected personally, to a greater or less degree, when he votes on a tax law, on a rent-control bill or even on motor vehicle regulation. These effects are unavoidable. . . ."

Moreover, "a long list of professions and occupations . . . are licensed and some are regulated. Many of those engaged in licensed occupations are members of our Legislature. They are frequently called upon to vote on matters affecting their own occupation.

"Many businesses, from banks and insurance companies to utilities and liquor enterprises, are similarly licensed and regulated by the state. Should all branches of government be deprived of the services of citizens who happen to be their stockholders, officers, agents or counsel?"

Dewey held that "government should not be deprived of the services of all but princes and paupers," but he said:

"The problem is to separate the unavoidable conflicts of interests from the venal and the doubtful; to chart the shadowlands of conduct where men of good will may have difficulty in deciding whether a course is proper or improper . . . we must regulate, on a practical basis, those conflicts . . ."

He said it was his "earnest hope" that establishment of a legislative committee "may be completed and acted upon at this session of the Legislature."

Committee Is Praised

Concern for the integrity of government "also calls for constant alertness and vigorous investigation if we are to correct evil situations not adequately dealt with by present law," Dewey said. He cited as "a good example" the work of a legislative committee in exposing charity rackets.

He cited also the Moreland Act Commission investigation of the harness racing scandals. The commission will propose legislation for action at this session.

To supplant the present three-man state harness racing commission, Dewey has appointed George P. Monaghan, former New York city police commissioner, as the "czar" of the sport. He told the lawmakers that "much more legislation will be necessary before we can consider the subject adequately covered."

Must Be Reconciled

The conduct of investigations "must be reconciled with the rights of individuals," Dewey said. He added:

"Few of us question the great public value of the public exposure of rascality and subversion. Yet many earnest citizens are concerned lest accused witnesses be denied the right of reply and other protections of the individual against his own government. Questions arise and answers are confused in an atmosphere of smear, counter-smear, headlines and fragmentary information.

The governor recommended enactment of legislation to establish "a code of fair procedure in our civil rights law governing the conduct of legislative and executive investigations."

In urging a 350-million-dollar bond issue for construction of additional mental hospital facilities over a period of years, Dewey said.

"The patient population is now increasing at a net rate of three thousand a year . . . the staggering needs for facilities can no longer be met out of current revenues, and the only course open . . . is a bond issue."

Payment Method Offered

Dewey proposed that the bond issue, which is subject to approval by the voters, be paid off from war bonus levies, consisting of 10 per cent of the full rate of income tax and a penny-a-pack levy on cigarettes. He said "these revenues are sufficient to retire the remaining veteran bonus bonds on schedule and finance the new mental hospital bond issue on a reasonably short-term basis," perhaps 10 years.

The governor told the Legislature that mounting costs had made balancing the budget extremely difficult. He said balancing the 1954-55 budget without increasing tax rates would "require the greatest restraint," but "it is my hope that this can be done."

One of his problems is where to find a mandated 13-million-dollar increase in state aid for education, the governor said.

Inflationary pressures and larger enrollments in school "require our reconsideration of state aid to education," Dewey declared.

He proposed establishment of a temporary state commission on educational finances to study the problem, which includes widely varying real estate assessment procedures throughout the state. The commission would report next year.

Meanwhile, Dewey announced, he is having a study made that will lead to early emergency relief for hard-hit school districts.

In urging a public-housing bond issue, Dewey said there was real need, despite considerable accomplishment in this field, to "raise our goals still higher."

On Health Front

On the health front, Dewey recommended establishment of a permanent local mental-health service, "with necessary state aid," and an appropriation of about 2 million dollars for the state cancer hospital in Buffalo. Stress will be on research aimed at determining whether cigarette-smoking can cause lung cancer.

Governor Again Asks Compulsory Auto Insurance

Albany, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gov. Dewey, in his annual message to the Legislature today, again recommended compulsory automobile insurance.

He pressed the same proposal upon the Legislature last winter but it was shelved.

He did not propose compulsory periodical inspection of motor vehicles, as he had last year. The subject could be covered, however, in a special message.

Dewey said:

"Once again I urge action on the problem of the uninsured and financially irresponsible motorist. Well over 90 per cent of the drivers in New York state carry some form of liability insurance."

Insurance companies are reported to be opposed to Dewey's compulsory automobile liability insurance program, one insurance group has proposed issuance of low-cost insurance that would protect motorists involved in accidents with uninsured vehicles.

Horns Are Placed In 4 Fire Houses

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today that air horns have been installed to replace the old bells in four city firehouses.

The horns are now working at Wiltwyck station and at the Cordts, Rapid and Excelsior firehouses. Bells are still to be replaced at Cornell station. Union and Twaalfskill firehouses and an older type horn is to be replaced by a new one at the Wicks engine house.

The old bell system was more than a half century old and had been causing trouble at some of the fire houses.

Chief Murphy has suggested that some of the bells be set up as memorials to volunteers in the city, but no definite action has been taken on this, to date.

Port Jervis Soldier Now Listed as Dead

Cpl. Robert F. Reil, son of Mrs. Rosella Reil, 217 West Main street, who has been missing in action in Korea for more than one year, is now listed as dead, the army announced in Washington Tuesday.

Cpl. Reil's name was one of several on a list of army personnel who have been missing in action in Korea and in whose cases a presumptive finding of death now has been made, the Associated Press reported.

Chief Talks to Man Held in Theft

Fourth Suspect

$1.42-an-hour checker in the heavily guarded plant which makes the government's currency. The 6-foot-1 Landis was held in $50,000 bail on a currency theft charge.

Landis' pretty, 26-year-old wife, Mamie, whom he married when she was 14, was held in $10,000 bail in spite of her firm denial of any knowledge about the theft.

William Giles, 27, the flagpole painter, who freely admitted driving with the Landises to the Fauquier county, Va., tenant cabin of Irving Grant in an effort to hide $95,000 of the "hot" currency.

All three were charged with violating a law which prohibits taking money from the federal government.

Admits Theft

Officials said Landis admitted stealing 8,000 new $20 bills from their paper coverings and stuffing plain paper in their place. The dummy packages weren't discovered until the New Year weekend was over.

"I did it for the future of my family," said Giles, whose arraignment was scheduled today (time uncertain). "I can't give them all the things I want to give them."

Virginia state police said Mrs. Landis' father agreed—when one of his visitors produced a gun—to hide the money after his daughter and her companions dropped in on him Sunday night.

Then, till dawn, he wrestled with his conscience and fear of the law. He told his wife what had happened. She had a heart attack. Finally Grant went to a telephone. He had, he told the police, "a big pile of treasury money"—and was "scared to death."

The hunt was on. Landis — who'd been one of five major suspects all along, the Secret Service said—was picked up at work. And resignedly led agents to a dark corner of the building where another $32,000 was found.

$1,300 in Apartment

His wife was arrested in their apartment where agents said $1,300 was recovered.

Finally the diminutive Giles, who paints water colors as a hobby, dropped in at a tavern he favors. Agents were waiting.

What became of the still missing $31,700?

Chief U. E. Baughman of the Secret Service said he didn't think it all had been spent—though the Landises lived high between New Year's Eve and the time of their arrest five days later, buying among other things a 1953 Oldsmobile.

"It is possible," Baughman told reporters, "that a fourth person took part in the theft and received a good share of the remaining money."

Police and secret service men hunted two new suspects last night in nearby Maryland after getting a tip that two men had been seen flashing $20 bills there Monday night.

The Secret Service head expressed disbelief of Landis' story that he was only a pawn in the crime—that somebody who didn't work in the bureau planned it and actually removed most of the money past the armed guards who patrol every exit.

"We have other information," Baughman said, "that Landis owns a suit coat which has special pockets built inside the tails."

With the money packed neatly in these pockets, the Secret Service man said, Landis might have strolled past the guards without causing suspicion.

Heiress Is Firm On Marriage Plans

Edinburgh, Scotland, Jan. 6 (AP)—Maria Isabella Patino, runaway heiress to a Bolivian tin fortune, appealed today against a court order temporarily banning her marriage to the handsome son of a London hotel man.

The appeal will be heard tomorrow by Edinburgh's Court of Sessions. If it goes through there will be nothing to stop the young couple from marrying immediately.

Lawyers for the 18-year-old beauty and the man of her heart, James Goldsmith, 20, entered the appeal against an "interim injunction" which the Scottish Court of Sessions granted yesterday to her father, tin magnate Antenor Patino.

The raven-haired Isabelle and Goldsmith, 20, already have fulfilled Scottish residential requirements for marriage so all that would remain for them to do would be to pick up the marriage license withheld by the injunction.

The South American multi-millionaire claims his daughter is too young to marry. He has spent three weeks trying to find her and talk her out of the marriage.

To Call Upon McCarthy

Washington, Jan. 6 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said today he will invite Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to tell the Senate whether he uses "rehashed' plagiarized" information in his claimed exposure of Communists in government. McCarthy, without specifically mentioning Ellender's announced plan to urge that the Senate cut McCarthy's investigating funds "down to size," said that if Democrats win in such a move "it will be the most pyrrhic victory they ever won. . . . A victory in which you destroy yourself."

Rabbit Maranville, LLA's Scheduled Speaker, Dies Suddenly

Ex-Major League Star Is Victim Of Heart Attack

Was Slated Here On Monday Night

The Little League Association of Kingston is looking for another speaker for its third annual banquet on Monday, Jan. 11, at the Barn.

Walter "Rabbit" Maranville, the scheduled speaker, died suddenly last night of a heart attack at his home in Long Island.

Rated as one of the greatest fielding shortstops in baseball history and a member of the 1914 "miracle" Boston Braves, the colorful Rabbit was 61.

Death came to the little man, who started his major league career with the Boston Braves in 1912 and wound up with the same club in 1935, at his home in the Woodside section of New York.

Burial will be at Springfield, Mass. He is survived by his widow, Helene, and a daughter, Mrs. Peter McGunis of Rochester, N. Y.

Had Checkered Career

In between the times he played with the Braves, he was a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals. He managed the club briefly during the 1953 season and piloted the Braves, also for a short period, in 1929.

After breaking a leg in a 1934 spring exhibition game with the New York Yankees, the Rabbit wound up his major league career the following year. But before bowing out of baseball altogether he took a fling at managing Elmira and Montreal in the International League.

In late years, Maranville had been active in baseball as director of the New York Journal-American's sandlot program. It was through Max Kase, J-A sports editor, that arrangements were completed for Rabbit's scheduled appearance on Monday.

At His Peak

RABBIT MARANVILLE

Because of his size Maranville never was a long distance hitter but he batted .316 in 1918 in 11 games before enlisting in the armed services. His two greatest years at the plate were with the Pirates in 1921 and 1922 when he batted .294.

Hall of Fame Candidate

In recent years, Maranville's name drew substantial support in the balloting for the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown and he was believed to stand a good chance of election this year. Balloting will take place in the next few days.

Maranville's sudden death hobbles plans of the Little League Association for the second straight year. Last year, Harry Grayson, NEA sports editor, was slated to speak but was stranded on the Taconic Parkway in a sudden blizzard.

William R. Scully, LLA president, said today that efforts are being made to have Grayson appear in Kingston Monday.

Dunham Leads Y Foul Shooting

Ward Dunham, a top foul shooter in the YMCA's annual holiday tournament, won this year's event with a brilliant 88 per cent performance.

The veteran basketeer made 66 out of 75 tries for first place in the Senior division.

Trailing Dunham were Harry La Forge with 62, Jerry Kaplan 59, Bill Fitzgerald 56, Fred Orr 50 and Rod Whitaker 49.

Bobby Roos averaged 68 per cent (34 for 50) to cop the Boys Division. John Woods trailed by one shot, Mel Williams hit 31, Connie Kidney 30 and Bob Vertetis 29.

First and second place trophies will be awarded at a later date.

Siena to Battle Canisius Saturday

Joe Gunderman. 6 foot 3 junior from Hempstead, L. I., is averaging 10.4 points and is called "the most improved player in the squad" by Coach Dan Cunha. Frank Koenig of Kingston has scored 14 points.

Siena hopes to end a five-game losing streak at Buffalo. Canisius holds a 5-4 series edge with the clubs splitting a pair last year.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

With Eddie Scherer, the brilliant southpaw pitcher of another era, fighting a valiant battle for his life, it is apropos to recall a significant statement by Bud Culloton at the recent Old Timers Baseball Association banquet.

"He was born 40 years too soon," said Culloton of the Wilbur pitcher who cut a wide and colorful swath in area independent circles three decades ago.

Scherer was drenched with that intangible quality known as "color". Like good looks, you either have it or you don't. And there is no in between.

"There is every reason to believe Eddie Scherer could have made the major leagues at the peak of his career," Culloton added.

"He had sufficient natural ability to have advanced in grade in organized ball and eventually land in the big top. Eddie was fast, had a sweeping curve and uncanny control for a left hander. Besides that he had heart and courage."

"But Eddie Scherer lived in an era when major league scouting wasn't as advanced as today," the former Kingston Colonial flinger went on. "In those days a player could be removed only 25 miles from a playing center and excel in comparative obscurity. The major league scouts weren't beating the bushes like they do today. News didn't travel like it does today."

Culloton recalled that Schere had passed his peak even when Bud was pitching for the Colonials and that goes back to the late 1920s.

As early as 1910 Scherer was a familiar figure with such fabled outfits as the Zu-Zus, Red Monograms and others. He was a familiar sight stomping up the flats to McVey's Field (now Hasbrouck Park) with a gang of kids trailing him.

"Nobody could keep up with Eddie Scherer in those days," Culloton observed, "not even the kids."

Throughout his career, Scherer used the tricky quick-delivery, although the freak pitch had been banned by the majors along with the spitball, shine and emery ball. It precipitated many a rhubarb along the way.

One particularly heated incident developed in the old pre-war City League which Culloton headed as president. A protest stemmed from a close game in which Scherer's quickie was the direct cause of ad ispute.

Culloton heard the testimony with august dignity in the city court chambers at city hall. And after long wrangling by counsel for both sides, he made the somewhat obtuse observation that since there was nothing in the City League rules prohibiting use of the quick delivery, Scherer was within his rights.

The counsel for the plaintiffs happened to be the same guy at this keyboard. Of course he pointed out that the City League operated under the rules of organized baseball where the quickie was verboten. But Culloton was adamant and Eddie went back to harrasing City League batters with the freak delivery.

In those days when home plate faced Cornell street and the evening sun bisected the straight line between the pitcher's box and the batter's face, batting against Eddie Scherer was a hazardous occupation. But, strangely enough, Eddie never injured an oponent. Just kept him loose and ready as every batsman should be.

Maybe that's why Culloton refused to rule against the quick delivery. Or could it have been just the love of one old pitcher for another?

The old timers of the area baseball world are rooting for Eddie Scherer. They remember this colorful character of the diamond ...his short mincing steps from the bench to the mound... his elaborate windup and the way he planted himself on the slab with a "gimme that ball" look. He made the prosaic warmup pattern a real production.

Good luck to this grand old baseball warrior of the past.

Coaches Seek to Liberalize Sub Rule Under One Platoon

Cincinnati, Jan. 6 (AP)—America's college football coaches, saddled with the one platoon system for at least another season, want substitution rules relaxed to protect their players.

But the usually militant mentors appear slightly subdued, after their 8-to-1 poll in favor of two platoons was ignored a year ago when the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Rules Committee surprised everyone by instituting the current "both way" style of play.

The Rules Committee of the American Football Coaches Association, which annually recommends several changes for the NCAA to consider, offered only two yesterday.

The other would penalize on the ensuing kickoff any defensive team guilty of an infraction during an unsuccessful try for extra point.

Lou Little of Columbia, chairman of the coaches rule group, in chatting about the proposed change, reiterated:

"Two platoon football is the better football."

Then he outlined how 319 coaches in his current poll voted to retain the one-platoon system, 189 favored the 1952 rules, and 257 wanted the present regulations liberalized to some extent.

"It just shows how our thinking has changed," Lou said. "A year ago the coaches were 8 to 1 in favor of two platoons. Now only 189 want that style, and 576 want the single platoon plan or some liberalization of it."

Some coaches said they voted as they did because they felt there was no chance for return of the two platoon setup, and they wanted to salvage what they could by getting more liberal substitutions.

But Little said he didn't believe that was true in the majority of cases. "I think the coaches were sincere in their voting," he said.

Injuries No Factor

Little disclosed his poll also showed 108 colleges reported an increase in injuries, 69 a decrease, and 95 no change under the single platoon system.

On the proposed substitution rule, to be considered Jan. 11 in Sarasota, Fla., by the NCAA committee, Little said:

"We feel a boy should be allowed to re-enter the game once in each period. Under the current rule coaches are hesitant about removing a star player because of a minor injury, but they'd act quickly if they knew they could get the boy back into the game after checking his condition.

"The rule would help smaller squads, for they could rest individual players. We realize you can't equalize squads by legislation. Laws won't make the weak stronger, or the strong weaker. But more liberal substitution would help all along the line."

Trabert and Seixas Lose to Australians

Adelaide, Australia, Jan. 6 (AP)—America's winning Davis Cup doubles team of Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas was beaten today by Australian's 19-year-old youngsters, Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad, in the semi-final of the South Australian championships, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

The match created great interest because in the Davis Cup challenge round last week Rosewall was benched in favor of Rex Hartwig. Seixas and Trabert won in straight sets over Hartwig and Hoad to take a 2-1 lead in cup competition.

The American team of Ham Richardson, Baton Rouge, La., and Bob Perry, Los Angeles, also were beaten in the other semi-final. They lost to Hartwig and Mervyn Rose, Australia, 10-8, 1-6, 8-6, 6-3.

Johnston Cracks NBA Scoring Mark With 15 for 19

(By The Associated Press)

If Neil Johnston of the Philadelphia Warriors had four mates who could shoot with his accuracy the Quaker City team would be fighting for the lead in the Eastern section of the National Basketball Association today.

Instead, the Warriors are resting in fourth place. But Johnston, last year's league-leading scorer, continues to roll along. Last night, he set an individual record for shooting accuracy as the Warriors defeated the Milwaukee Hawks, 99-88.

Johnston dropped 15 of 19 shots for a mark of .789, bettering the former standard of .696 which he held jointly with George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers. Neil scored 33 points in leading his team to victory.

Johnston also moved back to the top of the individual scoring heap. He now has 708 points, 13 more than Ed Macauley of Boston who has played in 13 more games.

In the other game of the night, the Syracuse Nationals defeated the Fort Wayne Pistons, 72-60, despite the fact that three of their operatives were injured. Bill Gabor, Jim Neal and Paul Seymour all were on the sidelines.

Wally Osterkorn paced the victors with 17 points. Larry Foust was high man for Fort Wayne—which erased a 37-30 halftime lead—with 16 points.

Rabbit Maranville, LLA's Scheduled Speaker, Dies Suddenly

Ex-Major League Star Is Victim Of Heart Attack

Was Slated Here On Monday Night

The Little League Association of Kingston is looking for another speaker for its third annual banquet on Monday, Jan. 11, at the Barn.

Walter "Rabbit" Maranville, the scheduled speaker, died suddenly last night of a heart attack at his home in Long Island.

Rated as one of the greatest fielding shortstops in baseball history and a member of the 1914 "miracle" Boston Braves, the colorful Rabbit was 61.

Death came to the little man, who started his major league career with the Boston Braves in 1912 and wound up with the same club in 1935, at his home in the Woodside section of New York.

Burial will be at Springfield, Mass. He is survived by his widow, Helene, and a daughter, Mrs. Peter McGunis of Rochester, N. Y.

Had Checkered Career

In between the times he played with the Braves, he was a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals. He managed the club briefly during the 1953 season and piloted the Braves, also for a short period, in 1929.

After breaking a leg in a 1934 spring exhibition game with the New York Yankees, the Rabbit wound up his major league career the following year. But before bowing out of baseball altogether he took a fling at managing Elmira and Montreal in the International League.

In late years, Maranville had been active in baseball as director of the New York Journal-American's sandlot program. It was through Max Kase, J-A sports editor, that arrangements were completed for Rabbit's scheduled appearance on Monday.

Because of his size Maranville never was a long distance hitter but he batted .316 in 1918 in 11 games before enlisting in the armed services. His two greatest years at the plate were with the Pirates in 1921 and 1922 when he batted .294.

Hall of Fame Candidate

In recent years, Maranville's name drew substantial support in the balloting for the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown and he was believed to stand a good chance of election this year. Balloting will take place in the next few days.

Maranville's sudden death hobbles plans of the Little League Association for the second straight year. Last year, Harry Grayson, NEA sports editor, was slated to speak but was stranded on the Taconic Parkway in a sudden blizzard.

William R. Scully, LLA president, said today that efforts are being made to have Grayson appear in Kingston Monday.

Dunham Leads Y Foul Shooting

Ward Dunham, a top foul shooter in the YMCA's annual holiday tournament, won this year's event with a brilliant 88 per cent performance.

The veteran basketeer made 66 out of 75 tries for first place in the Senior division.

Trailing Dunham were Harry La Forge with 62, Jerry Kaplan 59, Bill Fitzgerald 56, Fred Orr 50 and Rod Whitaker 49.

Bobby Roos averaged 68 per cent (34 for 50) to cop the Boys Division. John Woods trailed by one shot, Mel Williams hit 31, Connie Kidney 30 and Bob Vertetis 29.

First and second place trophies will be awarded at a later date.

Siena to Battle Canisius Saturday

Top Indian scorer is Tim Hill, 6 foot 3 sophomore from Yonkers, currently averaging 14.7. Hill, former New York state scholastic 220-yard sprint champion, has pumped in 132 points in nine games.

Joe Gunderman. 6 foot 3 junior from Hempstead, L. I., is averaging 10.4 points and is called "the most improved player in the squad" by Coach Dan Cunha. Frank Koenig of Kingston has scored 14 points.

Siena hopes to end a five-game losing streak at Buffalo. Canisius holds a 5-4 series edge with the clubs splitting a pair last year.

SPORTS

With Eddie Scherer, the brilliant southpaw pitcher of another era, fighting a valiant battle for his life, it is apropos to recall a significant statement by Bud Culloton at the recent Old Timers Baseball Association banquet.

"He was born 40 years too soon," said Culloton of the Wilbur pitcher who cut a wide and colorful swath in area independent circles three decades ago.

Scherer was drenched with that intangible quality known as "color". Like good looks, you either have it or you don't. And there is no in between.

"There is every reason to believe Eddie Scherer could have made the major leagues at the peak of his career," Culloton added.

"He had sufficient natural ability to have advanced in grade in organized ball and eventually land in the big top. Eddie was fast, had a sweeping curve and uncanny control for a left hander. Besides that he had heart and courage."

"But Eddie Scherer lived in an era when major league scouting wasn't as advanced as today." the former Kingston Colonial flinger went on. "In those days a player could be removed only 25 miles from a playing center and excel in comparative obscurity. The major league scouts weren't beating the bushes like they do today. News didn't travel like it does today."

Culloton recalled that Schere had passed his peak even when Bud was pitching for the Colonials and that goes back to the late 1920s.

As early as 1910 Scherer was a familiar figure with such fabled outfits as the Zu-Zus, Red Monograms and others. He was a familiar sight stomping up the flats to McVey's Field (now Hasbrouck Park) with a gang of kids trailing him.

"Nobody could keep up with Eddie Scherer in those days," Culloton observed, "not even the kids."

Throughout his career, Scherer used the tricky quick-delivery, although the freak pitch had been banned by the majors along with the spitball, shine and emery ball. It precipitated many a rhubarb along the way.

One particularly heated incident developed in the old pre-war City League which Culloton headed as president. A protest stemmed from a close game in which Scherer's quickie was the direct cause of ad ispute.

Culloton heard the testimony with august dignity in the city court chambers at city hall. And after long wrangling by counsel for both sides, he made the somewhat obtuse observation that since there was nothing in the City League rules prohibiting use of the quick delivery, Scherer was within his rights.

The counsel for the plaintiffs happened to be the same guy at this keyboard. Of course he pointed out that the City League operated under the rules of organized baseball where the quickie was verboten. But Culloton was adamant and Eddie went back to harrasing City League batters with the freak delivery.

In those days when home plate faced Cornell street and the evening sun bisected the straight line between the pitcher's box and the batter's face, batting against Eddie Scherer was a hazardous occupation. But, strangely enough, Eddie never injured an oponent. Just kept him loose and ready as every batsman should be.

Maybe that's why Culloton refused to rule against the quick delivery. Or could it have been just the love of one old pitcher for another?

The old timers of the area baseball world are rooting for Eddie Scherer. They remember this colorful character of the diamond ...his short mincing steps from the bench to the mound... his elaborate windup and the way he planted himself on the slab with a "gimme that ball" look. He made the prosaic warmup pattern a real production.

Good luck to this grand old baseball warrior of the past.

Coaches Seek to Liberalize Sub Rule Under One Platoon

Cincinnati, Jan. 6 (AP)—America's college football coaches, saddled with the one platoon system for at least another season, want substitution rules relaxed to protect their players.

But the usually militant mentors appear slightly subdued, after their 8-to-1 poll in favor of two platoons was ignored a year ago when the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Rules Committee surprised everyone by instituting the current "both way" style of play.

The Rules Committee of the American Football Coaches Association, which annually recommends several changes for the NCAA to consider, offered only two yesterday.

One would allow a player to reenter the game once each period, and eliminate the four-minute sessions at the end of the second and fourth periods.

The other would penalize on the ensuing kickoff any defensive team guilty of an infraction during an unsuccessful try for extra point.

Lou Little of Columbia, chairman of the coaches rule group, in chatting about the proposed change, reiterated:

"Two platoon football is the better football."

Then he outlined how 319 coaches in his current poll voted to retain the one-platoon system, 189 favored the 1952 rules, and 257 wanted the present regulations liberalized to some extent.

"It just shows how our thinking has changed," Lou said. "A year ago the coaches were 8 to 1 in favor of two platoons. Now only 189 want that style, and 576 want the single platoon plan or some liberalization of it."

Some coaches said they voted as they did because they felt there was no chance for return of the two platoon setup, and they wanted to salvage what they could by getting more liberal substitutions.

But Little said he didn't believe that was true in the majority of cases. "I think the coaches were sincere in their voting," he said.

Injuries No Factor

Little disclosed his poll also showed 108 colleges reported an increase in injuries, 69 a decrease, and 95 no change under the single platoon system.

On the proposed substitution rule, to be considered Jan. 11 in Sarasota, Fla., by the NCAA committee, Little said:

"We feel a boy should be allowed to re-enter the game once in each period. Under the current rule coaches are hesitant about removing a star player because of a minor injury, but they'd act quickly if they knew they could get the boy back into the game after checking his condition.

"The rule would help smaller squads, for they could rest individual players. We realize you can't equalize squads by legislation. Laws won't make the weak stronger, or the strong weaker. But more liberal substitution would help all along the line."

The Beer that Made Milwaukee Famous

Western Kentucky's Streak Reaches Thirteenth Straight

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Western Kentucky today held the longest winning streak among major college basketball teams—13 games without a defeat—and it appears that the Hilltoppers are going to make another serious bid for national honors.

Ed Diddle's outfit recorded an easy triumph over Middle Tennessee, 98-67, at Bowling Green, Ky., last night to move one-up over idle Duquesne, which has won 12 in a row.

Western Kentucky has only one more game this week, against Murray State on Saturday and that should not be too tough an assignment for the fifth-ranked team in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Oklahoma City, No. 9, was the only other team in the top 10 to get into action and it coasted to a 56-39 triumph over Oklahoma Baptist to run its record to 9-1.

George Washington and Niagara, tied for 12th spot, both won. The former kept its record unblemished by crushing Clemson, 95-55, for its seventh straight. Niagara defeated Buffalo, 84-45, in the feature of a Buffalo doubleheader.

Two 1000-Point Men

Larry Costello of Niagara and Jim Horne of Buffalo each hit the 1,000-point mark. Costello, who has been campaigning less than three years, now has an even 1,000 points, while Horne, who scored 23 markers for the losing cause has 1,009.

North Carolina State, one of the south's stronger teams and No. 20 in the poll, whipped Virginia Tech, 91-62

There were two upsets of minor proportions. Oregon was a surprisingly easy 81-63 victor over Idaho, one of the pre-season favorites for the northern division Pacific Coast Conference crown. In the other reversal, Michigan State never was headed after the opening seconds and drove to a 78-63 victory over Kansas State, a team that was rated one of the main threats for the Big Seven title.

Cornell Beats Columbia

Maryland halted Virginia, 70-64, in the Atlantic Coast conference; Cornell turned back Columbia 81-73, in the Ivy League and in opening Southwest Conference games, Baylor edged Texas A and M, 47-45, and Texas vanquished Texas Christian, 54-47.

Maryland's victory was its seventh straight—not all in league play—and tabs the Terps as the team to beat in the ACC.

Cornell, which has lost only one game now stands at 3-0 atop the Ivy League. The Ithacans are the favorites.

At Madison Square Garden Seton Hall beat Wake Forest 89-78 and St. John's breezed past West Virginia 87-74.

Bob Morris Scores Triple Sweep at Y

Sixteen-year-old Bob Morris scored a triple win in the YMCA's holiday sports festival, the busiest sports program in several years.

Morris captured first place in the table tennis, pocket billiards and bowling competition. He rolled 181 in tenpins.

Victor Albright rolled 81 to cop the younger boys bowling. Lucky Albright won at pocket billiards and Connie Kidney was first in ping pong.

Pencils, jackknives and small passing footballs were awarded the winners.

Marciano Pilot Balks at Title Bout in Miami

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Jim Norris will try again today to talk Manager Al Weill into a Feb. 24 heavyweight title defense by Rocky Marciano at Miami Stadium.

Although Weill says there is a "very slim chance" of the champ fighting in Miami, the president of the International Boxing Club still hopes to promote a title fight this winter.

After talking to Weill yesterday for two hours, Norris said he "got the impression that Al is not too anxious to box until June." Norris plans to remain in town for a week in an effort to make a match.

Marciano already is at Grossingers where he trains for his fights. At present he is "resting" but Allie Colombo, his cotrainer, is due Sunday. According to reports, Marciano expects to stay for at least a month. Sparring partners have been alterted.

Norris said four oponents were discussed with Weill—ex-champ Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati, Don Cockell of England, Valdes and Bucceroni. He preferred to hold out Charles for the summer.

Elks and KPBA Win Opening Shuffleboard Matches

Elks Club defeated the Knights of Columbus, 5-1, and Kingston Power Boat Association trounced St. Mary's Club, 4-2, in last night's opening competition of the Inter-Fraternal Shuffleboard League.

Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Moose Club, the other members of the league, were not scheduled.

Breman and Dwyer were the only K of C winners against the Elks, who rolled up a 147-64 point margin. The KPBA had a 154-120 edge over St. Mary's.

Hurley Cagers Edge Kingston Whips, 61-60

Al Nussbaum led the winners with 12 points. Godwin rimmed 18 for the Whips.

The score:

West Hurley (61) — Cannon f, Salvucci f 4, Nelson f 10, Saxe c 10, Rice c 10, Garrison g 4, Nussbaum g 12.

Kingston Whips (60) — Frank Fiore f 7, Don Smith f, Richie Nagele f 10, Simmons f 10, Whalen c 15, Rockwell g, Godwin g 18.

Scout Eddie Krajnik has signed a contract that runs through 1956 with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Bucceroni Fails to Impress In Triumph Over Hein Hoff

Milwaukee, Jan. 6 (AP)—Belting Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia whipped Germany's Hein Ten Hoff last night as figured, but was the triumph convincing enough to warrant a crack at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown?

Postively, says Bucceroni's handlers. But there is doubt in some minds.

The final answer will have to come from Marciano's camp and the International Boxing Club. Jim Norris, IBC president, said earlier yesterday that a convincing Bucceroni triumph over Ten Hoff would give him "more ammunition" to knock down a Marciano-Bucceroni title scrap before summer, possibly in Miami next month.

Don Battle, Bucceroni's manager, said after the fight he would go to New York to press for a championship match. He said he hoped to meet with Norris.

Bucceroni made a very substantial showing in licking Ten Hoff, Battle stated. The German is stronger and better than most people realize, he added, and, said Battle, Bucceroni is ready for Marciano.

Muffs Kayo Chance

Bucceroni, 28 pounds lighter and a good three inches shorter but six years younger than the 32-year-old Ten Hoff, pummeled the German's head and body at short range to take a unanimous 10-round decision at the Milwaukee Auditorium. Bucceroni, weighing 188, came close to a knockout in the final round but didn't have enough left to put Ten Hoff down. There were no knockdowns.

A 2 to 1 favorite at the start, Bucceroni won all 10 rounds on the cards of the two judges and nine on the referee's reckoning. The scoring for Bucceroni under the new "ten must" system, whereby the winner of a round must be given 10 points and the loser downward according to his performance, was 100-86, 100-82 and 99-84. The Associated Press scored it the same as the latter figure, the referee's, giving Ten Hoff only the sixth round in which he buckled Bucceroni's knees with a stiff right.

A capacity crowd of 7,298 provided a net gate of $23,085.

Western Kentucky's Streak Reaches Thirteenth Straight

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Western Kentucky today held the longest winning streak among major college basketball teams—13 games without a defeat—and it appears that the Hilltoppers are going to make another serious bid for national honors.

Ed Diddle's outfit recorded an easy triumph over Middle Tennessee, 98-67, at Bowling Green, Ky., last night to move one-up over idle Duquesne, which has won 12 in a row.

Western Kentucky has only one more game this week, against Murray State on Saturday and that should not be too tough an assignment for the fifth-ranked team in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Oklahoma City, No. 9, was the only other team in the top 10 to get into action and it coasted to a 56-39 triumph over Oklahoma Baptist to run its record to 9-1.

George Washington and Niagara, tied for 12th spot, both won. The former kept its record unblemished by crushing Clemson, 95-55, for its seventh straight. Niagara defeated Buffalo, 84-45, in the feature of a Buffalo doubleheader.

Two 1000-Point Men

Larry Costello of Niagara and Jim Horne of Buffalo each hit the 1,000-point mark. Costello, who has been campaigning less than three years, now has an even 1,000 points, while Horne, who scored 23 markers for the losing cause has 1,009.

North Carolina State, one of the south's stronger teams and No. 20 in the poll, whipped Virginia Tech, 91-62

There were two upsets of minor proportions. Oregon was a surprisingly easy 81-63 victor over Idaho, one of the pre-season favorites for the northern division Pacific Coast Conference crown. In the other reversal, Michigan State never was headed after the opening seconds and drove to a 78-63 victory over Kansas State, a team that was rated one of the main threats for the Big Seven title.

Cornell Beats Columbia

Maryland halted Virginia, 70-64, in the Atlantic Coast conference; Cornell turned back Columbia 81-73, in the Ivy League and in opening Southwest Conference games, Baylor edged Texas A and M, 47-45, and Texas vanquished Texas Christian, 54-47.

Maryland's victory was its seventh straight—not all in league play—and tabs the Terps as the team to beat in the ACC.

Cornell, which has lost only one game now stands at 3-0 atop the Ivy League. The Ithacans are the favorites.

At Madison Square Garden Seton Hall beat Wake Forest 89-78 and St. John's breezed past West Virginia 87-74.

Bob Morris Scores Triple Sweep at Y

Sixteen-year-old Bob Morris scored a triple win in the YMCA's holiday sports festival, the busiest sports program in several years.

Morris captured first place in the table tennis, pocket billiards and bowling competition. He rolled 181 in tenpins.

Victor Albright rolled 81 to cop the younger boys bowling. Lucky Albright won at pocket billiards and Connie Kidney was first in ping pong.

Pencils, jackknives and small passing footballs were awarded the winners.

Marciano Pilot Balks at Title Bout in Miami

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—Jim Norris will try again today to talk Manager Al Weill into a Feb. 24 heavyweight title defense by Rocky Marciano at Miami Stadium.

Although Weill says there is a "very slim chance" of the champ fighting in Miami, the president of the International Boxing Club still hopes to promote a title fight this winter.

After talking to Weill yesterday for two hours, Norris said he "got the impression that Al is not too anxious to box until June." Norris plans to remain in town for a week in an effort to make a match.

Marciano already is at Grossingers where he trains for his fights. At present he is "resting" but Allie Colombo, his co-trainer, is due Sunday. According to reports, Marciano expects to stay for at least a month. Sparring partners have been alterted.

Norris said four oponents were discussed with Weill—ex-champ Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati, Don Cockell of England, Valdes and Bucceroni. He preferred to hold out Charles for the summer.

Elks and KPBA Win Opening Shuffleboard Matches

Elks Club defeated the Knights of Columbus, 5-1, and Kingston Power Boat Association trounced St. Mary's Club, 4-2, in last night's opening competition of the Inter-Fraternal Shuffleboard League.

Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Moose Club, the other members of the league, were not scheduled.

Hurley Cagers Edge Kingston Whips, 61-60

West Hurley cagers put on a strong finish to edge the Kingston Whips, 61-60, Monday on the West Hurley court. The winners trailed 49-35 going into the stretch when they rolled up a 25-11 margin.

Al Nussbaum led the winners with 12 points. Godwin rimmed 18 for the Whips.

The score:

West Hurley (61) — Cannon f, Salvucci f 4, Nelson f 10, Saxe c 10, Rice c 10, Garrison g 4, Nussbaum g 12.

Kingston Whips (60) — Frank Fiore f 7, Don Smith f, Richie Nagele f 10, Simmons f 10, Whalen c 15, Rockwell g, Godwin g 18.

Scout Eddie Krajnik has signed a contract that runs through 1956 with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Bucceroni Fails to Impress In Triumph Over Hein Hoff

Milwaukee, Jan. 6 (AP)—Belting Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia whipped Germany's Hein Ten Hoff last night as figured, but was the triumph convincing enough to warrant a crack at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown?

Postively, says Bucceroni's handlers. But there is doubt in some minds.

The final answer will have to come from Marciano's camp and the International Boxing Club. Jim Norris, IBC president, said earlier yesterday that a convincing Bucceroni triumph over Ten Hoff would give him "more ammunition" to knock down a Marciano-Bucceroni title scrap before summer, possibly in Miami next month.

Don Battle, Bucceroni's manager, said after the fight he would go to New York to press for a championship match. He said he hoped to meet with Norris.

Bucceroni made a very substantial showing in licking Ten Hoff, Battle stated. The German is stronger and better than most people realize, he added, and, said Battle , Bucceroni is ready for Marciano.

Muffs Kayo Chance

Bucceroni, 28 pounds lighter and a good three inches shorter but six years younger than the 32-year-old Ten Hoff, pummeled the German's head and body at short range to take a unanimous 10-round decision at the Milwaukee Auditorium. Bucceroni, weighing 188, came close to a knockout in the final round but didn't have enough left to put Ten Hoff down. There were no knockdowns.

A 2 to 1 favorite at the start, Bucceroni won all 10 rounds on the cards of the two judges and nine on the referee's reckoning. The scoring for Bucceroni under the new "ten must" system, whereby the winner of a round must be given 10 points and the loser downward according to his performance, was 100-86, 100-82 and 99-84. The Associated Press scored it the same as the latter figure, the referee's, giving Ten Hoff only the sixth round in which he buckled Bucceroni's knees with a stiff right.

A capacity crowd of 7,298 provided a net gate of $23,085.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

BY JOE STETSON
(Dog Editor)

Jack had six pictures on his desk.

A quick glance established them as representing the six retriever breeds. Another quick glance at Jack established the fact that he was definitely in a dilemma and it was easy to guess he was trying to make a decision.

"Give me a run-down on those breeds," he said. "I've shot over individual dogs, but one never knows in buying a dog if he can duplicate one certain specimen."

He was so right. You have to take a certain amount of chance on the individual, but there are some things about the breeds that you can consider as generalities.

The Rundown

First, let's eliminate the smooth and curly coated retrievers. These breeds are very rare in this country and at present would be quite difficult to get. Then let's add the American water spaniel in case you want a dog about half the weight of a retriever but with otherwise similar qualities.

Now look over the others.

The Labrador retriever, commonly black or yellow or rarely chocolate, is a tough, hard-going dog, usually able to take strenuous training better than most. Long, but flat coated and able to resist cold.

The Chesapeake Bay retriever, sedge colored with a crinklier coat, is extremely game and a wonder in water, but often more independent and sometimes sullen when pushed too fast.

Irish By Himself

The golden retriever with its long flowing coat, is perhaps most aesthetically beautiful and oftentimes has a more setter-like desire to please. This can be good or bad, depending upon method and success in handling.

The Irish water spaniel stands out all by himself. With a waterproof coat, puce in color and silky in texture, and the smooth face of a poodle in kennel clip, terminating in a rat tail on which the hair grows flat with the tail as though plastered by continuous swimming, he is the engima of the dog world. He just won't play ball with anyone who tries to force loyalty and performance of duty upon him.

Crafty Admiral, winner of the 1952 and 1953 runnings of the $50,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap, is the only horse ever to repeat a stakes victory at this seaside track.

Want to Keep Him

Gordon Pirie, England's lanky distance star, won't be a British export item if a London tabloid can help it. The Daily Sketch launched a campaign to provide home-made attractions to keep the 22-year-old bank clerk in Britain following Pirie's disclosure that he "is seriously considering several scholarship offers to American colleges."

The lone "400" in the BYA League was a 423 compiled by Gen Whitmore, according to scores received too late for publication. She rolled games of 134, 146 and 144.

Bechtold Leads Major

Marie Bechtold's 469 series led the Women's Junior Major Monday night, according to scores received too late for publication. She rolled solos of 156, 122 and 191. Runnerup Arlene Raible posted 460 and Ann Mitchell hit 459.

The improving J&E Milk Bar quintet pulled a mild upset by defeating the Angel Juniors, 55-44, in last night's YMCA "B" action.

Milk Bar led the Juniors, 22-20, at halftime and stepped up its pace with a 33-point second half, including 20 in the stretch period.

Bob Faurote was the individual leader with 22 points and Harry Van Wagenen hit 12. Phil Tesoro furnished 10. Bill Fitzgerald with 14 was the only Angel in double figures.

Schatzel Hits 25

Pete Schatzel sparked the stubborn Accord stand against the 50 Club with 25 points to take individual honors. Harris Marcus rimmed 17.

The winners broke the game apart with a 24-point splurge in the third quarter after leading by only 24-22 at halftime.

Jack Peters scored 18 points and Joe Schneider hit 14 for the winners.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

Basketball

New York—Kentucky was voted the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll for the second straight week.

Baseball

New York—The New York Yankees were voted the nation's best team in 1953 in the Associated Press annual poll.

Frank Leahy, Notre Dame's football coach, has had six undefeated seasons at that school—1941, '46, '47, '48, '49 and '53.

Newkirk Aces Rout St. Joseph's 60-29 To Remain Undefeated

Newkirk Aces stayed undefeated in the Recreation Senior League with a 60-29 romp over St. Joseph's, while Sickler's Delivery overwhelmned the Globies, 61-25.

In both games the issue was decided early.

The Aces led St. Joseph's, 15-5, at the quarter and 31-11 at halftime. Sickler's moved ahead of the Globies, 19-6, at the quarter and 34-10 at the intermission.

Individual scoring leaders were Phil McCloskey of the Newkirk Aces and Hermie Sickler of Sickler's with 18 points.

Frank Secreto rimmed 15 points for St. Joseph's and Frank Tiano and Don Smith hit 10 and 14 respectively for the Aces. Don Ferraro and Fred Jackson scored 12 each for the Deliverymen.

Action resumed in both divisions at the MJM gym and George Washington School tonight.

BY JOE STETSON
(Dog Editor)

Jack had six pictures on his desk.

A quick glance established them as representing the six retriever breeds. Another quick glance at Jack established the fact that he was definitely in a dilemma and it was easy to guess he was trying to make a decision.

"Give me a run-down on those breeds," he said. "I've shot over individual dogs, but one never knows in buying a dog if he can duplicate one certain specimen."

He was so right. You have to take a certain amount of chance on the individual, but there are some things about the breeds that you can consider as generalities.

The Rundown

First, let's eliminate the smooth and curly coated retrievers. These breeds are very rare in this country and at present would be quite difficult to get. Then let's add the American water spaniel in case you want a dog about half the weight of a retriever but with otherwise similar qualities.

Now look over the others.

The Labrador retriever, commonly black or yellow or rarely chocolate, is a tough, hard-going dog, usually able to take strenuous training better than most. Long, but flat coated and able to resist cold.

The Chesapeake Bay retriever, sedge colored with a crinklier coat, is extremely game and a wonder in water, but often more independent and sometimes sullen when pushed too fast.

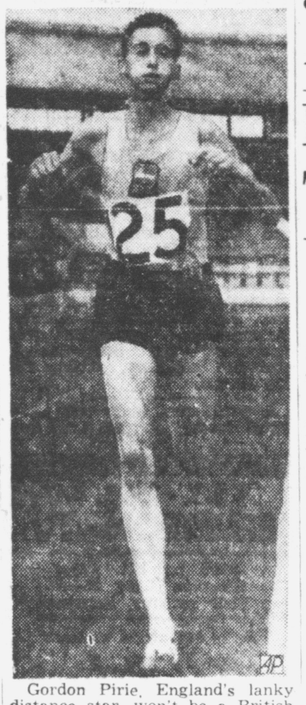
Irish By Himself

The golden retriever with its long flowing coat, is perhaps most aesthetically beautiful and oftentimes has a more setter-like desire to please. This can be good or bad, depending upon method and success in handling.

The Irish water spaniel stands out all by himself. With a waterproof coat, puce in color and silky in texture, and the smooth face of a poodle in kennel clip, terminating in a rat tail on which the hair grows flat with the tail as though plastered by continuous swimming, he is the engima of the dog world. He just won't play ball with anyone who tries to force loyalty and performance of duty upon him.

Crafty Admiral, winner of the 1952 and 1953 runnings of the $50,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap, is the only horse ever to repeat a stakes victory at this seaside track.

Want to Keep Him



Gordon Pirie, England's lanky distance star, won't be a British export item if a London tabloid can help it. The Daily Sketch launched a campaign to provide home-made attractions to keep the 22-year-old bank clerk in Britain following Pirie's disclosure that he "is seriously considering several scholarship offers to American colleges."

Bechtold Leads Major

Marie Bechtold's 469 series led the Women's Junior Major Monday night, according to scores received too late for publication. She rolled solos of 156, 122 and 191. Runnerup Arlene Raible posted 460 and Ann Mitchell hit 459.

The improving J&E Milk Bar quintet pulled a mild upset by defeating the Angel Juniors, 55-44, in last night's YMCA "B" action.

In the companion piece, the 50 Club led all the way to whip Accord, 65-55, in a surprisingly close battle.

Milk Bar led the Juniors, 22-20, at halftime and stepped up its pace with a 33-point second half, including 20 in the stretch period.

Bob Faurote was the individual leader with 22 points, and Harry Van Wagenen hit 12. Phil Tesoro furnished 10. Bill Fitzgerald with 14 was the only Angel in double figures.

Schatzel Hits 25

Pete Schatzel sparked the stubborn Accord stand against the 50 Club with 25 points to take individual honors. Harris Marcus rimmed 17.

The winners broke the game apart with a 24-point splurge in the third quarter after leading by only 24-22 at halftime.

Jack Peters scored 18 points and Joe Schneider hit 14 for the winners.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

Basketball

New York—Kentucky was voted the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll for the second straight week.

Baseball

New York—The New York Yankees were voted the nation's best team in 1953 in the Associated Press annual poll.

Frank Leahy, Notre Dame's football coach, has had six undefeated seasons at that school—1941, '46, '47, '48, '49 and '53.

Newkirk Aces Rout St. Joseph's 60-29 To Remain Undefeated

Newkirk Aces stayed undefeated in the Recreation Senior League with a 60-29 romp over St. Joseph's, while Sickler's Delivery overwhelmned the Globies, 61-25.

In both games the issue was decided early.

The Aces led St. Joseph's, 15-5, at the quarter and 31-11 at halftime. Sickler's moved ahead of the Globies, 19-6, at the quarter and 34-10 at the intermission.

Individual scoring leaders were Phil McCloskey of the Newkirk Aces and Hermie Sickler of Sickler's with 18 points.

Frank Secreto rimmed 15 points for St. Joseph's and Frank Tiano and Don Smith hit 10 and 14 respectively for the Aces. Don Ferraro and Fred Jackson scored 12 each for the Deliverymen.

Action resumed in both divisions at the MJM gym and George Washington School tonight.

how they want unrepatriated prisoners handled after Jan. 22.

The NNRC has asked both sides for guidance on what to do with more than 22,000 POWs after that date.

An Indian officer said he did not believe the Communist reply would be made public before Thursday.

On Jan. 4, the UN commander, Gen. John E. Hull, said his command refuses to accept anything less than the complete freedom of the prisoners beginning Jan. 23.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor warned South Korea bluntly Wednesday that his 8th Army would not permit any ROK attack against the custodian Indian forces in an effort to free the prisoners.

The allied command is in the midst of preparations to handle thousands of Chinese and North Korean POWs held in anti-Communist compounds in the demilitarized zone.

The Chinese are to be sent to Formosa and the North Koreans are to be accommodated in the southern half of this peninsula.

The Reds were expected to oppose release of the prisoners in their reply to the NNRC. It has been the Communist view that the prisoners should be held until the Korean peace conference meets.

Schick Becomes Assistant DA

John J. Schick of Port Ewen was sworn in as assistant district attorney by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick and assumed his new duties as of January 1, 1954. The oath was administered at the court house in the presence of District Attorney Howard C. St. John.

Born in Port Ewen, Assistant District Attorney Schick attended St. Peter's Parochial School in Kingston, Kingston High School from which he was graduated in 1938. He attended New York University but his education was interrupted when he enlisted in the United States Air Force and served four years in the armed forces during World War 2.

On his discharge from service he resumed his education, entered Siena College from which he was graduated in 1949. He entered Albany Law School and was graduated in 1952. During his attendance at Albany Law School he was one of the Moot Court prize winners.

On graduation from Albany Law School and being admitted to practice of the law he was associated with the law firm of Rusk & Rusk at Marlborough, later opening his own office in Port Ewen for private practice. (Sheriff's Dept. photo)

Case Against Hospital Announced Settled

No business was transacted in Supreme Court Tuesday afternoon and jurors were excused until today.

Tuesday afternoon a negligence action brought by Laura Musialkiewicz and another against the Kingston Hospital was announced settled after it had been moved for trial. Robert Ortale appeared for plaintiff and Stanley B. Johnson for defendant.

Fifteen extra jurors reported for duty Tuesday to supplement trial jurors summoned on the original panel.

law, legislatures could take senatorial seats away from rural areas and give them to metropolitan districts. He said that could be done by splittinng up urban areas into new counties and giving them more senators under the reapportionment formula.

For that reason, he said, the word "county" in the constitutional section on redistricting should be taken to mean only those counties that existed in 1894.

Brown contended that the court of appeals decision in 1943 had specified definitely what the constitutional section on reapportionment meant. He argued that the 1953 law adhered to that decision.

The weather bureau predicted the snowfall would taper off by late afternoon. Drifting was in store overnight as winds went to work on it. Temperatures were expected to range from 10 to 15 above overnight and climb into the 20s tomorrow.

Today's readings were mostly in the middle or high 20s.

Bobo Says Story

man since the latter moved to an Arkansas farm last year, said the agreement of last Oct. 1 was contingent upon Rockefeller's having the right to have his son with him during half the summer and on special holidays.

Shortly before Dunaway's announcement yesterday Mrs. Rockefeller notified the Manhattan county clerk's office she was changing lawyers, calling in Leo G. Fennelly to replace Louis Nizer, who reportedly negotiated the October settlement. The switch brough rumors she was dissatisfied with that agreement.

Fennelly declined to comment on any specific figures or sum sought by Mrs. Rockefeller. He said he had been involved in the case only for about a week or two.

A Supreme Court motion filed by Mrs. Rockefeller never has been made public. However, wording on the court calendar indicated a possible aim was to enjoin Rockefeller from getting an Arkansas divorce.

There has been such speculation since he moved to Arkansas, but no divorce action has been taken in the courts there. Mrs. Rockefeller has retained attorneys in Little Rock.

The Rockefellers were married in 1948 and separated the next year.

Dunaway said in his statement yesterday that Rockefeller has been permitted to see the boy only in the presence of Mrs. Rockefeller. The attorney added:

"On such occasions the boy has been subjected to an atmosphere of bitter and intense recrimination, which Mr. Rockefeller is determined to avoid in the future because of the detrimental effect on their son.

"Mrs. Rockefeller has persistently made false and irresponsible public statements about the financial support she has received during her separation."

Fire Board Names Burr President

Frank Burr was elected president of the Board of Fire Commissioners at its annual meeting last night. He replaces Harold S. VanBramer.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was appointed clerk of the board, and the following committees were named: Frank Burr, chairman and Commissioner VanBramer, materials and supplies committee; Van Bramer chairman, and Commissioner Charles Derrenbacher, apparatus and equipment, and Derrenbacher, chairman, and Burr, building and fire alarms.

Congress Convenes

dent's proposals to be "greeted with contentions by business organizations that he is trying to give every thing to labor and by complaints from union leaders that the amendments still would leave it 'a slave labor law.'"

The President was said to have sought at yesterday's White House conference to get Democratic leaders, as well as the Republicans, behind the general objectives of his "new look" military program — aimed at increasing combat striking power through new weapons while reducing manpower.

He apparently failed to convince some Democrats, including Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), that it would be wise to withdraw two divisions from Korea.

While Russell was publicly silent on the two division issue, he said a review of world conditions by the President and Secretary of State Dulles was "good because it was carried on with the utmost candor and frankness."

Dulles was described as having sounded an optimistic note on the chances for world peace.

The hope of GOP leaders to eliminate a prospective fight over a proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), to limit treaty-making powers, was dimmed by their failure to reach any compromise agreement with Bricker at a lengthy White House session yesterday.

Young Says . . .

how they want unrepatriated prisoners handled after Jan. 22.

The NNRC has asked both sides for guidance on what to do with more than 22,000 POWs after that date.

An Indian officer said he did not believe the Communist reply would be made public before Thursday.

On Jan. 4, the UN commander, Gen. John E. Hull, said his command refuses to accept anything less than the complete freedom of the prisoners beginning Jan. 23.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor warned South Korea bluntly Wednesday that his 8th Army would not permit any ROK attack against the custodian Indian forces in an effort to free the prisoners.

The allied command is in the midst of preparations to handle thousands of Chinese and North Korean POWs held in anti-Communist compounds in the demilitarized zone.

The Chinese are to be sent to Formosa and the North Koreans are to be accommodated in the southern half of this peninsula.

The Reds were expected to oppose release of the prisoners in their reply to the NNRC. It has been the Communist view that the prisoners should be held until the Korean peace conference meets.

Schick Becomes Assistant DA

John J. Schick of Port Ewen was sworn in as assistant district attorney by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick and assumed his new duties as of January 1, 1954. The oath was administered at the court house in the presence of District Attorney Howard C. St. John.

Born in Port Ewen, Assistant District Attorney Schick attended St. Peter's Parochial School in Kingston, Kingston High School from which he was graduated in 1938. He attended New York University but his education was interrupted when he enlisted in the United States Air Force and served four years in the armed forces during World War 2.

On his discharge from service he resumed his education, entered Siena College from which he was graduated in 1949. He entered Albany Law School and was graduated in 1952. During his attendance at Albany Law School he was one of the Moot Court prize winners.

On graduation from Albany Law School and being admitted to practice of the law he was associated with the law firm of Rusk & Rusk at Marlborough, later opening his own office in Port Ewen for private practice. (Sheriff's Dept. photo)

Case Against Hospital Announced Settled

No business was transacted in Supreme Court Tuesday afternoon and jurors were excused until today.

Tuesday afternoon a negligence action brought by Laura Musialkiewicz and another against the Kingston Hospital was announced settled after it had been moved for trial. Robert Ortale appeared for plaintiff and Stanley B. Johnson for defendant.

Fifteen extra jurors reported for duty Tuesday to supplement trial jurors summoned on the original panel.

Bookstein Rules

law, legislatures could take senatorial seats away from rural areas and give them to metropolitan districts. He said that could be done by splittinng up urban areas into new counties and giving them more senators under the reapportionment formula.

For that reason, he said, the word "county" in the constitutional section on redistricting should be taken to mean only those counties that existed in 1894.

Brown contended that the court of appeals decision in 1943 had specified definitely what the constitutional section on reapportionment meant. He argued that the 1953 law adhered to that decision.

Six-Inch Snow

in most counties to take some of the slipperiness off hills and sharp curves.

The weather bureau predicted the snowfall would taper off by late afternoon. Drifting was in store overnight as winds went to work on it. Temperatures were expected to range from 10 to 15 above overnight and climb into the 20s tomorrow.

Today's readings were mostly in the middle or high 20s.

Bobo Says Story

man since the latter moved to an Arkansas farm last year, said the agreement of last Oct. 1 was contingent upon Rockefeller's having the right to have his son with him during half the summer and on special holidays.

Shortly before Dunaway's announcement yesterday Mrs. Rockefeller notified the Manhattan county clerk's office she was changing lawyers, calling in Leo G. Fennelly to replace Louis Nizer, who reportedly negotiated the October settlement. The switch brough rumors she was dissatisfied with that agreement.

Fennelly declined to comment on any specific figures or sum sought by Mrs. Rockefeller. He said he had been involved in the case only for about a week or two.

A Supreme Court motion filed by Mrs. Rockefeller never has been made public. However, wording on the court calendar indicated a possible aim was to enjoin Rockefeller from getting an Arkansas divorce.

There has been such speculation since he moved to Arkansas, but no divorce action has been taken in the courts there. Mrs. Rockefeller has retained attorneys in Little Rock.

The Rockefellers were married in 1948 and separated the next year.

Dunaway said in his statement yesterday that Rockefeller has been permitted to see the boy only in the presence of Mrs. Rockefeller. The attorney added:

"On such occasions the boy has been subjected to an atmosphere of bitter and intense recrimination, which Mr. Rockefeller is determined to avoid in the future because of the detrimental effect on their son.

"Mrs. Rockefeller has persistently made false and irresponsible public statements about the financial support she has received during her separation."

Fire Board Names Burr President

Frank Burr was elected president of the Board of Fire Commissioners at its annual meeting last night. He replaces Harold S. VanBramer.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was appointed clerk of the board, and the following committees were named: Frank Burr, chairman and Commissioner VanBramer, materials and supplies committee; Van Bramer chairman, and Commissioner Charles Derrenbacher, apparatus and equipment, and Derrenbacher, chairman, and Burr, building and fire alarms.

Congress Convenes

dent's proposals to be "greeted with contentions by business organizations that he is trying to give every thing to labor and by complaints from union leaders that the amendments still would leave it 'a slave labor law.'"

The President was said to have sought at yesterday's White House conference to get Democratic leaders, as well as the Republicans, behind the general objectives of his "new look" military program — aimed at increasing combat striking power through new weapons while reducing manpower.

He apparently failed to convince some Democrats, including Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), that it would be wise to withdraw two divisions from Korea.

While Russell was publicly silent on the two division issue, he said a review of world conditions by the President and Secretary of State Dulles was "good because it was carried on with the utmost candor and frankness."

Dulles was described as having sounded an optimistic note on the chances for world peace.

The hope of GOP leaders to eliminate a prospective fight over a proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), to limit treaty-making powers, was dimmed by their failure to reach any compromise agreement with Bricker at a lengthy White House session yesterday.
